Edward Kress, Durham

so he tramped away to another tent, got assistance and found the unfortunate man drowned in ten feet of water. Those who have had any experience in canoes know how easily they are to upset, and the reaching out for a pail of water would do it. The late Mr. Evans was 33 years of age, and was well known and highly esteemed in this part where he was brought up. He was married to a daughter of the Rev. Mr. Glazier, who with three small children survive him. The remains were brought home last Friday and interment took place at the Oxenden cemetery. The Orangemen attended the funeral as well as the members of the I. O. F. and read their services at the grave. The funeral was about the largest ever seen in these parts.—Wiarion Echo.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me to-day for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by MacFarlane & Co.

Higher Education of Indians.

Of the 35,000 scholars in Ontario, who wrote last week on their Entrance Examinations, Wiarion contributed 55 to that number, that is this number wrote at this point. There were 26 from the Wiarion Public School, 7 from Shallow Lake, 4 from Cape Croker, and others from different points. Covering, as usual, sent up quite a large number. The Cape Croker Indians appear to be going in for higher education, and as the government allows $120 per year for each Indian student, who will go to the High School, the way is made easy enough for them. The Indians who wrote have all royal blood in their veins, and are either the grandsons of ex chief Jones or ex chief McGregor.—Wiarion Echo.

The School for the Blind at Brantford.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR,—I ask your assistance to enable me to get into communication with the parents or guardians of all the blind children in Ontario, under the age of twenty years. The Institution for the Education and Instruction of the Blind, maintained by the Ontario Legislature, admits as pupils "all blind youths, of both sexes, between the ages of seven and twenty-one, not being deficient in intellect, and free from disease or physical infirmity, being residents of the Province of Ontario." It is not necessary that the applicant shall be totally blind; the test is inability to "read ordinary type and attend a school for the seeing without serious injury to the sight." The initial difficulty is to locate the children who are eligible for admission, and it will be helpful in the future if your readers will send me the names and addresses of blind children under seven as well as of those between seven and twenty-one.

Should you favor me by the publication of this letter, I would ask your readers not to depend upon the parents of the children with defective sight to attend to this matter. If all could witness the gain in health, happiness, knowledge and self-reliance that comes to those who, deprived by their affliction of access to the public schools, take advantage of the educational facilities afforded by this Institution, none would grudge the time and trouble required to widen the scope of the school's influence. Send me the names and addresses, and I will by correspondence or visitation do the rest.

H. F. GARDINER, Principal O. I. B. Brantford, July 13, 1907.

A WORD FOR THE AMATEUR.

In the following words the Collingwood News sizes up a state of affairs that is far too prevalent, and that demands reform:

"Sympathy must often be felt for the amateur singer, reciter, violinist, pianist, speaker or other entertainer. Whenever the public are to be exploited for any charitable or other purpose through an entertainment manned by local talent, a scurry is made to induce the amateur singers, reciters, musicians and others to take part in it and fill one or more of the numbers. This is well and is matter for congratulation that so many are always willing to lend their assistance for the promotion of benevolent and charitable schemes. It is well, too, that they are willing to do so without compensation. But is it just, is it fair to accept their service season after season without remuneration? We will not question it where the possessors of these talents are wealthy or in easy circumstances, but confess that it appears to us a heartless proceeding in the case of the majority of local entertainers in every town or village. These persons have frequently spent much time and more money than they could afford in developing the talents which a grasping public seizes upon and turns to its own advantage without reward or remuneration. If an outsider is brought in to entertain, he is amply, generously paid though his performance may not excel or even equal that rendered by the home entertainer. If these singers, reciters, musicians and speakers had manifested special ability in other lines, how readily their services would have been rewarded with substantial emoluments, but as they have only been able to assist in securing money for some charitable, or religious undertaking, their services are accepted with a cold and formal "Thank you." Surely this is not just. The boy or girl, the young man or young woman, who has special ability and who has so cultivated his talent as to be able to entertain at a concert gotten up for the purpose of making money, is in all fairness entitled to a share of the receipts. The public ought to be ashamed to take advantage of those who cannot afford to devote all their gifts to the support of institutions however deserving and to practically compel them to entertain year after year without fair compensation."

The Doctor Away from Home when Most Needed.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like cramp colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life. For sale at Parker's Drug Store.

Saved By Manure Heap.

Fred Richards, one of Matt. Mains' carpenters, had a very narrow escape on Tuesday afternoon from meeting with serious if not fatal accident. He was working on Levi Wiltse's barn on the London Road and was very near the pinnacle of the roof when he lost his footing, slid down the iron roof head first and in that position shot to mother earth, a distance of about thirty feet. The speed at which he descended threw him out some distance from the building so that he escaped the timber lying around and lit on a manure heap, which softened his fall and, no doubt, saved his life. He was stunned for a time and was considerably bruised and shaken up, and had a cut or two which the Dr. had to stitch, but it is expected that he will be around again in a few days as well as ever.—Clinton News-Record.

STEEL KNIFE IN THE FLESH.

That's the sensation experienced by Robert Price of Hecton, Ont. He knew it was sciatia and of course used "Nerviline." As usual it cured and he says, "No liniment can excel Polson's Nerviline. Severe pains made my side lame. It was like a steel knife running through the flesh. I rubbed in lots of Nerviline and was completely cured." A regular snap for Nerviline to ease Sciatia and rheumatism. It sinks into the core of the pain, cures in short order. Large 25c bottles at all dealers.

DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Death is always sad, but the death of Samuel E. Evans, in Elk Lake, Temiscaming district, last week, was doubly so. The deceased, who was a son of William Evans, one of the most highly esteemed farmers in Keppel, went to Latchford more than a year ago, and started a general store in that town. In April this year when the fire swept that village he lost his holdings, his store being destroyed. It was his intention to rebuild, but having shares in some lots which he wished to prospect, in company with a partner he went up the Montreal River for this work. It appears that Elk Lake is on this river, and they put in there for the night and put up their tent. Quite early in the morning he went down to the lake for a pail of water, when his partner was asleep, and as it was not clear around the shore he apparently went out in the canoe to get it. The partner heard a cry, it aroused him, he rushed out and thought he saw a hand, but was not sure. Like Mr. Evans, he could not swim, and
