Flesherton

The Chatham Daily Planet of July 25th contained the following: "The congregation of the Bothwell Presbyterian church are about to lose their pastor Rev. G. C. Little who has accepted a call to the Flesherton Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Little has been very popular in Bothwell, and on the eve of his departure the members of the congregation met and presented him with an address to show their appreciation of his work among them, and to wish him continued success in his future labors. The address was as follows:—Rev. Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Little, Bothwell, Ont.—Dear Friends,—We deeply regret that the time has come when we must sever our relations as pastor and congregation. The four and a half years you have labored among us have been filled with deeds of kindness and you have ever been ready to extend a helping hand to all. Faithful in your duties, not working for the praise of men but for the glory of God. As you are about to depart from our midst we wish to assure you that our memories of you as our pastor shall always be pleasant ones. We are indeed sorry to lose you, but hope that in your new field of labor your influence for good may ever increase. We beg you, dear friends, to accept these gifts a slight token of our love and goodwill, and may they ever remind you of your friends in Bothwell. The address was accompanied by a purse of gold and a handsome suit case. Presents were also given to the pastor's wife, mother and two boys. After spending a very happy evening the many friends bade him farewell and wished Rev. Mr. Little and his esteemed family all happiness and prosperity in their new home in Flesherton."

Mr. Little's opening sermon of his pastorate here preached in Chalmer's church on Sunday was based on King Agrippa's reply to Paul "Almost thou persuadest me to be a christian" and was a thoughtful soundly evangelical discourse listened to with close attention by the large congregation. Mr. Little possesses a good voice, is a fluent pleasing speaker and taking the sermon on Sunday as an earnest of those to come the congregation is to be congratulated on choice of pastor. Mr. Little's induction takes place in Chalmer's church to day (Tuesday) the ministers to take part being Rev. Mr. Edmison of Cheltenham to preside. Rev. H. Ross of Corbetton to preach; Rev. Mr. Ballantyne of Maxwell, to deliver the charge to the minister and Rev. Mr. Phalen of Hornings Mills to address the congregation.

Mr. J. C. Wright of Proton Station, had a very neat monument erected in the cemetery here last week. On Friday last a horse belonging to Mr. Nichol near Priceville, took fright and broke loose from a tie post at J. & W. Boyd's store and in its dash up the street collided with and overturned a buggy belonging to Mr. Wm. Wyatt whose little son and daughter were thrown with considerable force to the ground, but escaped much injury. At the town hall Mr. Nichol's horse broke loose from the buggy the shafts of which were broken, and the harness was also considerably damaged before the animal was captured. The shafts of Mr. Wyatt's buggy were also broken.

On Saturday last when half a mile from the village on his way with others to Wilson and McTavish's farm, Howard, the twelve year old son of Mr. A. McAuley, of this place, was about to alight from the wagon rack when the horses started suddenly throwing him forcibly head foremost to the hard roadbed, the impact stunning him almost to the point of death. In an unconscious condition he was brought to Dr. Bibby's office where restoratives were applied, but it was some time before consciousness was restored. He was then conveyed to his home and fortunately having escaped injury to the skull is recovering from the shock.

Spring Bank.

Mr. Editor, in reply to your request asking for crop reports of the different districts, we will put forth our best efforts in trying to report for this humble burg, although others may differ in their opinions and think that our estimate is not quite right. Taking hay for a beginner, we might say that it is about all housed and was a fair crop, running from 90 to 100 per cent., fall wheat 100 to 110 per cent., spring wheat 90 per cent., peas 90 to 100 per cent., barley 80 to 90 per cent. The oats this year differ materially, those on low lying land being far superior to those on high rolling land, and will run from 40 to 80 per cent. As for the root crop it is at present difficult to give a definite account as the crop is not yet far enough advanced, but potatoes, turnips and mangels have a fine healthy appearance and good results are looked for. The growth of corn is at present slow owing to the dry, cool weather, and we think will not give a high percentage this year. Fruit was at one time expected to yield about 125 per cent but the continued dry weather throughout the month of July has caused a large amount to drop off, reducing it at least 50 per cent. In concluding our short sketch on crop reporting, we might add that the harvest of 1907 will not come up to the mark of excellence, but the recent showers are having telling effect, and the late crops may yet exceed the figures which we have here quoted.
