Two overgrown children, a boy named Farr a farm hand aged 18 and a girl named Fasken a high school student aged 16, have created somewhat of a sensation in the usually peaceful and humdrum precincts of Elora. The "kids," for they are simply such, were courting and taking walks and spooning generally and finally they got married clandestinely, and when the Faskins (who think they are somebody's) got wise to the fact there was trouble. The law was invoked and somewhere in the vaults of Osgoode Hall, Toronto, an absolute law, which has never before been invoked in Ontario was found and the marriage was annulled. The wife's people have nothing to say against Parr's character, but he does not move in the same social circle as the Faskins, who number preachers, lawyers, schoolmasters and that kind of folk under the family tree and the plebeian Parr notwithstanding his good personal reputation was not acceptable. Meanwhile the status of Miss Fasken or Mrs Parr is a question for the sociologists, being somewhat equivocal, is the lady a maiden, a wife or a widow.—Harriston Review.

The Cause of Hay Fever.

It's a microbe that floats in the air, gets into the throat and lungs, develops rapidly, excites inflammation, etc. The cause is as simple as a thistle in the finger. Extract the thistle, away goes the pain. Destroy the Hay Fever germ—you get well. That's why Catarrhose acts so marvellously in Hay Fever. Its fragrant vapor to you brings cure, but to the microbe death. Catarrhose is as quick to act on these microscopic organisms as lightning. Prevents as well as cures, and is always successful. DEATH STRIKES MANY IMMIGRANTS.

Daily perusal of the list of casualties chronicled by the press seems to justify a conclusion that young men recently arrived from the Old country have been pretty well to the fore when fate has had her hardest blows to administer.

Hardly a day passes in which despatches do not contain an account of some tragedy or serious accident with the descriptive words, "A young Englishman," used in connection with the name of the victim.

Sudden deaths, mysterious disappearances, suicides, and fatalities resulting from accidents, appear to be liberally distributed among the possessors of the proverbial "bone and sinew," who are arriving by every steamer from the British Isles.

Considerations of the varied causes of these tragedies fails to give satisfaction as to contributing elements. They appear to form a series of examples of "hard luck," as the Englishman himself might put it.

Death has demanded an appalling toll from accidents during the past couple of months. Press records which cannot be claimed to be complete, give the number lost by drowning alone to be in the neighborhood of 130 in the last eight weeks, in different parts of Canada. This number must form but a small portion of a total which would include the deaths caused by other accidents.

And throughout it all the "young Englishman," the "young Irishman," the "young Scotchman," occupies a prominent place.

In Toronto one of the first fatalities within the period referred to was that which occurred on Bay street crossing on Victoria day. William Frazer, of the steamer Corunna was killed instantly, a companion died a few days afterwards, and a shipmate named McKay, later attempted to commit suicide. They were young Scotchmen. On June 6th, James Mountford, an Englishman on his first trip to Canada, died suddenly in the city.

Early in July, Wilfred Pollard, an Englishman, was drowned at the foot of John street.

David Bell, of 112, Peter street who had only been in Canada for a brief period, died suddenly.

Harry Pember, a lad 8 years old, who was drowned in the Don, on July 30th, had only been two months in Canada.

Fred Stephenson, of 44, Huron St., who had not been long in this country, was found dead, having apparently taken carbolic acid.

Within the past couple of months there have been two cases in Police Court in which Englishmen have been accused of attempting to commit suicide.

At Mount Forest, on August 16, a young Scotchman was found dead with a carbolic acid bottle beside him.

On July 18th, W. J. O'Hara, who had only been a few weeks out from Ireland, was drowned at Sunnyside.

On the same day, John Macroe, a Scotchman, went down to a watery grave at Port William.

NOON IN DURHAM.

And there are many similar cases, almost every one having its pathetic story of bright hopes ruthlessly culminated by the hand of death.

CONFRONTED WITH NEW CONDITIONS As a stranger in a strange land, the young man from the Old Country has perhaps, been brought into contact with dangers and conditions which never confronted him at home or which perhaps, he never found it necessary to become acquainted with.

Then again, there has been many a pathetic tale of despondency, woven into final scenes, where young men seeing nothing for them in life's prospective, having launched themselves into eternity.

Many have been the beast—sending messages cabled "home" transforming anxiety into grief, with the intelligence that their father, husband, brother or son had crossed the "great divide," with probably none near him whom he could call his friend.

The story is as old as the world, and is as touching in this day as it was when the first farewell was uttered. The far country, the green field, the ambition of youth—the picture requires no further description.—Toronto News.

AFTER THE CEMENT MILLS.

Claiming that at least three cement mills in Ontario are operating on Sunday, contrary to the provisions of the recent Lord's Day Act, Rev. T. Albert Moore, official of the Lord's Day Alliance called upon Hon. Mr. Foy, Attorney General, at the Parliament buildings yesterday.

The three mills in question are at Durham, Shallow Lake and Lakefield. At present the only workings of a cement mill which can be legally operated on Sunday are the rotary furnaces, which would burn out if left idle for a day. All other work, however, must cease according to the new act.

Their action is only typical of most of the other cement mills of the Province, notable exceptions being the Sun, the Grey and Bruce and the Imperial all of Owen Sound," said Rev. Mr. Shearer at the conference. "Action against mills in other parts of the country will also be taken"—Hanover Post.

Remedy for Diarrhoea Never Known to Fail.

"I want to say a few words for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have used this prescription in my family for the past five years and have recommended it to a number of people in York county and have never known it to fail to effect a cure in any instance. I feel that I can not say too much for the best remedy of the kind in the world."—S. JEMISON, Spring Grove, York County, Pa. This remedy is for sale at Parker's Drug Store.

A PATHETIC INCIDENT.

Those who boarded the G. T. R. train going west on Tuesday morning encountered an incident at once pathetic and calling forth sincerest sympathy of all. Miss Beatrice Nehrgang, of Palmerston, who has been visiting in the North-west the past five months, determined to arrive home without announcement and give the family a happy surprise. She reached Toronto on Monday and coming up in the train Tuesday morning a lady sitting beside her was reading the account of the funeral of the nine Toronto Junction young men who were drowned Thursday. As the train approached Acton she read aloud the names of the young man and Miss Nehrgang then learned that one of them, Dawson Nehrgang, was her brother. The hysterical woe of the sister was heart-rending, and all the more so that she had come home to meet a happy family, who are now in deep mourning. The remains of her brother were conveyed to Palmerston on Monday. The passengers did all they could to comfort the grief-stricken young lady, and a message was sent from Guelph to Palmerston for her, to defer the funeral if possible until her arrival.—Hanover Post.

What Is Going on in Town When the Clock Strikes 12.

Noon, the dinner hour, the hour of comfort, of pleasure and relaxation—the one hour in twenty-four which comes to men and women of every station with greater similarity than the hour of any other function in life.

Promptly as the clock strikes 12 in Durham the shadows on anxious faces turn to lines of goodwill, and if villainous hot bread, pies, spices and other indigestibles were excluded there would be no such words as dyspepsia or indigestion in the dictionary.

But the contrary is true, and medical science has to step in and aid the man or woman who has been too busy to pay proper attention to health.

The greatest step forward in medical discovery is Mi-o-na, which cures all stomach and digestive troubles.

In hundreds of the best homes in Durham and adjoining towns the handy little tablets, so pleasant to take, yet effective, have given quick and lasting relief in indigestion and that disagreeable full feeling after eating.

Mi-o-na acts very gently. Much of its wonderful power over indigestion comes from its uniform but sustaining action. The required stimulating and strengthening is given to the important organs of digestion without producing the slightest weakness or reaction.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by all druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price 50 cents. Booth's Miona Company, Buffalo, N. Y.
