Top Cliff.

Friday last was a remarkable day for it rained for the first time since July 1st. Crops are backward but late grain may yet revive. Roots will be greatly benefited, potatoes in many cases were turning black, pastures too will be refreshed as some fields were as red and bare as last April, and if a match were applied the whole field would be in a blaze in less than a giffy. Barley and fall wheat are generally harvested and both a good crop.

Picnics galore which probably helped the rain to come.

School will be commencing again this Monday morning. Our teacher, Miss McCosh, comes from her home in Owen Sound this morning and probably may lose an hour or so of her teaching time.

The funeral of the late John Stevenson, of Egramont, took place at Ebenezer cemetery on Saturday last and was largely attended. The old gentleman was full of years being 86 years old.

We regret to notice in some of last weeks papers the death of one of our school teachers, Mrs. Finley McRae, who died at the home of her daughter at Regina. Mrs. McRae, who was then Mrs. Black, taught two years at Top Cliff school in the early 70's and was a lady who always attended to her duty faithfully and her many friends in this part will with regret hear of her demise.

The Editor cautions us to avoid small talk. We detest it just as much as anyone and if we cannot get news without telling that Mrs. Teaughadda visited Mrs. Canladir across the street we'll quit.

A grand picnic was held in Hector McKechnie's bush (Hemstock's old place) on Friday afternoon the 16th inst. got up by the young people in the neighborhood for the purpose of having a social time, irrespective of denominational or any society in particular, but just to have a good afternoon's enjoyment which was fully realized by all present. Archie McCuaig made a first class chairman.

The program was a long one consisting of bagpipe selections by Messrs. Hector McDonald, Dr. Atkinson and Peter McArthur, and dancing by Jessie and Janet McDonald and a good step by Red Sandy McDonald, organ and piccolo selections by Miss James and Mr. Runciman, and last but not least a lot of good songs from Mr. Wm. Ramage, also platform selections later on in the evening.

The ladies furnished a superabundance of good eatables and the large gathering of people will bear us out when we say it was one of the grandest picnics of the season got up on such short notice, and the young people of the South Line deserve much credit and thanks for the interest they took in setting apart an afternoon for the purpose of having a pleasant time in a most pleasing and becoming manner.

The Priceville Sunday School picnic was held in Wm. Mather's bush on Wednesday the 14th inst and was fairly well attended but not as well as should be by the other people. Rev. Walter Nichol was there and enjoyed himself in playing with the youngsters and was just Walter) laying the Rev. aside for the time being) amongst his old playmates. Good things were provided by the ladies, which generally is the best part of the program for the little ones and the older ones too, for they all look for contents of the baskets. Thanks to Hector McKechnie and Willie Mather for putting up the swings. The evening was fine and all enjoyed themselves well till sundown and went home to enjoy a good sound sleep.

The Rev. Mr. Sinclair preached in the Presbyterian Church, Priceville, on Sunday, the 18th inst. The Pastor, Rev. Mr. Matheson, is expected to be in attendance next Sunday.

A grand garden party was held at the Methodist Parsonage a couple of weeks ago at Priceville. As usual whatever our Methodist brethren take in hand to do is sure to be a success. The evening proved fine and all enjoyed themselves well. A good program was held in the church later on in the evening which was an excellent one. Pastor Berry was in the chair and did his duty well. Speeches were delivered by Rev. Dr. Caldwell, Flesherton, Rev. Mr. Woods, of Corbetton, and others. Music by the Durham choir which was well appreciated by the audience. Recitations and readings by some whose names we cannot produce.

Accident at New Post Office.

A very painful accident befel Mr. Wm. Jackson, a stone mason, residing on Boyd street, about five o'clock yesterday evening. He was engaged in cutting stone for the post office in the building opposite the Comely House and was in the act of lowering a heavy stone with a derrick when the accident occurred. Whether the weight of the stone was too heavy for him or his hand slipped from the iron handle with which the derrick is operated is not exactly known, but at any rate something caused the handle to revolve very rapidly and before Mr. Jackson could get out of the way he received a terrific blow across the face below the eyes, which broke his nose, cut open the skin and all but put him out of business. The injured man was taken home and a physician summoned who dressed his wounds, and though suffering a good deal of pain, no serious results are anticipated.—O. S. Times.

A HEAVY LOSS.

As stated in last week's Advocate, the Shoe and Legging factory in Drayton was totally destroyed by fire last Wednesday night, 31st of July. The origin of the fire is as great a mystery as ever; it was first noticed at the farthest corner from the engine house, where a fire would be the very least expected to start. Mr. Peel had been away for a week buying and selecting stock, some of which was delivered a couple of days before and perished in the flames. He had returned only that day consequently was not working in the factory the day the fire started. The books were all that was saved. Until they get through the books and invoices they can not give the exact value of the machinery and stock destroyed, but it is quite within the mark to put the value of the machinery at between six and seven thousand dollars and the stock between five and six. It was all new and of the best that was on the market. Quite a loss is also sustained through the burning of the patterns, not one of which was saved and some of them were worth one hundred dollars each, consequently it is not possible to get an accurate estimate of the loss. Dr. Lucy owned the building on which there was an insurance of $600 in the Waterloo Mutual. On the stock there was, in all, $6,500 in the following companies: Merchants, Toronto, $2,000, Economical, Berlin, $3,000, Standard, Toronto, $1,500 so that the Company sustain a heavy loss. Not only the Company but the village, as it will be the means of several families leaving the village. Out of only three manufacturing industries we can ill afford to lose one. All that was further required to keep fifty hands constantly employed, was more factory room, which would have been considered within the next few months. It is a severe blow to Drayton. The Company was composed of Messrs: J. Peel, O. B. Henry, J. M. Robertson, W. Sturtridge, H. Schieck and J. G. Coram. No public statement has yet been made.

J. J. DALY ONCE MORE.

He Was Convicted as a Vagrant in Toronto on Friday.

Toronto, Aug. 10.—John J. Daly was convicted of vagrancy by Magistrate Denison in the Police Court this morning. He is also charged with obtaining $36 from Samuel Eagan, a farmer. On the latter charge he was remanded until Monday, as Eagan did not seem quite willing to tell his story to Crown Attorney Corley.

Mr. Harry Martin appeared for Daly, and wanted to make a statement on behalf of his client.

"Then please go into the box and do it under oath," said Mr. Corley, but Mr. Martin declined.

Daly instituted a company called the J. J. Daly Company, with offices in Guelph, in 1901. His proposition was to go to a farmer in any of the surrounding counties and offer to sell his farm for him. The price was put considerably above the value of the farm. Daly got out a booklet with a full and accurate description of the farm, illustrated by photographs. The description was so accurate that Daly was enabled to have it filed in the Registrar's office, thereby casting a cloud over the clearness of the title. On these contracts Daly is alleged to have borrowed money, and the persons who advanced it went to law to recover their loans. In consequence the Counties of Grey, Waterloo, Wellington, Norfolk, and many others were flooded with suits, farmer against farmer, Daly both as defendant and complainant. Burns and McCullough issued the writs.

A short time ago a motion for security for costs of the actions was heard before Judge Winchester and pending a settlement, the cases are at a standstill.

To Magistrate Denison Daly said that he had been in jail for three weeks, and previous to that he had no money for six weeks.

"Then on your own showing you are a vagrant," said his Worship, "and I'll make a conviction in that case."

Toronto, Aug. 12.—(Special)—J. J. Daly the man who for several years has been inducing farmers all over the province to enter into contracts with him for the sale of their farms, and who on the strength of such contracts had borrowed no small amount of money appeared before Magistrate Denison this morning charged with vagrancy, and was sentenced to six months' hard labor. Commenting on the case Magistrate Denison said that the system was nothing but a clever scheme to defraud the public.

A farmer named Egan also charged Daly with defrauding him out of $37, but his Worship said that only a fool would have signed Daly's contract, and dismissed the case—Guelph Mercury.

CASE WAS DISMISSED.

A case which attracted a good deal of interest around town was heard before Magistrate Telford on Friday last when John Bell was arraigned for practising medicine without authority. The information was laid by Mr. Rose, special detective for the Medical Association. The witnesses examined were Mr. Aug. Lahn of Bentinck, Mr. Iitz of Karlsruhe, and Rev. John Garner of Hanover, and as there was clearly no evidence upon which to convict, the magistrate dismissed the case. It was very evident that the sympathy of a considerable number of people present was against the detective, and many remarked that they considered it a case of petty persecution.—Post.
