WILLIE ELLISON'S DEATH.

(Clarksburg Reflector) Sad indeed was the pathetic story told by the Rev. Mr. Goff over the mortal remains of Willie Ellison on Thursday last. The deceased was well known to everybody in Clarksburg as an inoffensive, industrious young man, with no vicious habits; respectful and polite to all, cheerful disposition but intellectually weak.

During the past summer he worked for Mr. Shields on his farm near Duncan, and had the care of a valuable team of horses. One animal contracted a sore shoulder and was hard to manage. One day it became ill and died; Paris green was found in its stomach, but as Mr. Shields had no enemies the circumstance became a mystery.

A few days later Ellison went to Mr. Shields, and told him that he had given the fatal dose. The horse had crushed him against the side of the stall and hurt him badly; there was a package of Paris green in the stable and he thought he would make the horse sick but had no intention of killing him. He promised to pay for it, and later walked all the way to Duncan and paid $31.00 on account either to Mr. Shields or to some one who claimed to be acting for him.

He was told to get the balance within a short time, returned home, tried to borrow the sum among his friends and had letters written to relatives at a distance. In the meantime a letter was received, apparently not from Mr. Shields but a party whose name was not mentioned, stating the balance of the money must be paid in seven days. The agony suffered by the unfortunate young man was known to his friends, every strange face he met he believed to be a policeman to take him to prison. Six days passed and no word from relatives. He then bought 10 grains of strychnine at a drug store, waited until the time limit was up and apparently took the fatal dose, then started off with a hammer in hand to repair a fence. While on a back street on Tuesday morning a scream was heard and neighbors ran to the spot in time to see the poor fellow fall in convulsions. Between the spasms he asked his friends to pray for him. Dr. Moore was soon on the spot but the poison had done its work and had taken its victim to a higher tribunal, where a righteous judge will know how far he was morally responsible for his self-confessed act.

YOU MAY BE SICK TO-NIGHT. Without a moments warning pain springs upon us. At the outset it is instantly cured by Nerviline. Surprising what fifteen drops of this marvelous medicine will do. Its external action is no less certain than its wonderful effect when taken internally. Of course Nerviline is powerful or it couldn't be so potent as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. By their direct action on the stomach, liver and kidneys they cause an immediate change. Mild, free from gripe, strengthening and cleansing the whole system, no medicine is so valuable in old age as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Try these Pills. 25c per box at all dealers.

THE TREMBLE OF OLD AGE. With the advance of years the vital functions of the body slow down. In consequence the organs of secretion suffer, the action of the bowels are lessened and there is no longer healthy circulation. The brain is congested with blood, giddiness, trembling and cold extremities are common. No assistance is so potent as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. By their direct action on the stomach, liver and kidneys they cause an immediate change. Mild, free from gripe, strengthening and cleansing the whole system, no medicine is so valuable in old age as Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. BIGAMIST IN ST. THOMAS. St. Thomas Times: Thomas A. Richardson, the Owen Sound man who is wanted in that town for bigamy, was in St. Thomas a week with his second wife, leaving here on Tuesday last for Owen Sound. During his stay here Richardson worked at the Thomas Bros.' factory, and at the end of the week decided to quit work and asked for his pay, which he did not receive. He had evidently heard the police were after him, as he left in a hurry without waiting for his money, and has not been heard of since. Following the receipt of a telegram from Owen Sound police, who also want Richardson on a charge of stealing an overcoat, the local police ascertained the above facts and notified the Owen Sound authorities. The couple while in the city boarded at the home of R. Diner, 10 Wilson ave. While there the young woman learned that the man she had recently been married to was not her husband, and she showed unmistakable signs of grief. Mr. Diner, on discovering that they were not really husband and wife, insisted on their leaving the house, and they did so, going away together. [The man Richardson referred to above is the man who recently married a Miss Weir, of Owen Sound, not a Miss Weir of this locality, as some have been led to believe. -Ed. Chronicle]

Recurring Headaches. Do They Bother You? You find life a miserable affair because you have headaches, but you have neither nausea nor are you weak - You know if you could only prevent headaches you would enjoy perfect health. Such headaches indicate a general lowered condition, because they arise from a general decay of the nervous system. This depressed condition of the nervous system has its origin in the reduction of the quality and quantity of the blood. The blood is thin - its red coloring is reduced - it contains no nourishment. The digestive organs are not supplying it with sufficient nutritive matter. The result - nerve weakness, nerve debility, ill-health. If you had used Ferrozone you would know how powerfully all the digestive and assimilative functions of the body are stimulated. Ferrozone does more - it supplies all the elements that are essential to the rebuilding of the body - supplies the reconstructive forces that contribute to the formation of rich, red blood. You see, Ferrozone doesn't treat a symptom - it remedies a cause - and that's why a month's treatment will absolutely remove every vestige of recurring nervous headaches. Nothing like Ferrozone to build you up, to give the reserve of force, that happy health that contributes so much to happiness and contentment. Ferrozone will make you feel like new, try it - sold by all druggists in 50c. boxes.

THE INFIDEL AND HIS DAUGHTER. When Ethan Allen's daughter lay dying, she called her father to her bedside and said, "Dear father I am about to cross the cold, dark river. Shall I trust to your opinions, or to the teachings of dear mother?" "Trust to your mother!" said the champion of infidelity; and covering his face with his hands, he wept like a child.

The damps of death are coming fast, My father, o'er my brow; The past with all its scenes has fled, And I must turn me now To that dim future which in vain My eyes seek to descry; Tell me, my father, in this hour, In whose belief to die.

In thine? I've watched that scornful smile, And heard thy withering tone, Whene'er the Christian's humble hope Was placed above thine own; I've heard thee speak of coming death Without a shade of gloom, And laugh at all the childish fears That cluster round the tomb.

Or is it in my mother's faith? How fondly do I trace Through many a weary year long past That calm and saintly face! How often do I call to mind, Now she's beneath the sod, The place, the hour, in which she drew My early thoughts to God!

'Twas then she took the sacred book, And from its burning page Read how its truths support the soul In youth and failing age; And bade me in its precepts live, And by its precepts die, That I might share a home of love In worlds beyond the sky.

My father, shall I look above, Amid this gathering gloom, To Him whose promises of love Extend beyond the tomb? Or, curse the Being who has blessed This checkered path of mine? Must I embrace my mother's faith, Or die, my sire, in thine?

The frown upon that warrior brow Passed like a cloud away, And tears coursed down the rugged cheek That flowed not till that day, Not, not in mine! with choking voice, The skeptic made reply - But in thy mother's holy faith, My daughter, may'st thou die!

"MARK TWAIN" A POOR TYPO.

No matter what else Mark Twain succeeded in achieving, he could not get type, says Anthony Kennedy, a 71 year old St. Louis Post Dispatch "newsboy." Kennedy cherishes as the proudest memory of his life the fact that the celebrated humorist and himself were compositors together on the old St. Louis Democrat for several months in the spring of 1853.

"We were sticking type then at 30 cents a thousand ems," said Kennedy, "and while the rest of us were drawing our $12 a week, it was all Sam Clemens could do to make 38 or 39. He always had so many errors marked in his proofs that it took most of his time correcting them. He could not have set up an advertisement in acceptable form to save his life. Naturally, he did not stay in the printing business very long, because he would have starved at it. One day he washed his hands of printer's ink and went down to the river, where he got a job as roaster about. He must have found his element there, for two years later, when I met him for the last time on Chestnut street, he told me he had climbed up to pilot in that short time."

He had to own that Sam Clemens, as he knew him, was a very commonplace young man not even known among his fellow printers as a youth of more than average intelligence.

"The most remarkable thing I remember about Clemens," said Kennedy, "is the fact that he was not 'one of the boys.' Then, more than now, it was the proud prerogative of printers to be able to drink more red whisky than men of any other trade. But Clemens, so far as I can remember, never took a drink.

"He was a silent chap, who attended to his own business and didn't mingle with the wild fellows who worked with him. He spoke with a delightful drawl, and sometimes unbecomingly to tell a funny story, which he did well enough.

"He was a tall gawky chap, just from the wilds of Hannibal, Mo. His clothes were several sizes too small for him and gave him the appearance of a scarecrow.

MORE BUFFALOS FOR CANADA.

Train Load Arrived at Strathcona From Montana.

Edmonton, Oct. 10 - (Special) - The second shipment of buffalos from the wilds of Montana will arrive in Strathcona to night, where they will be immediately transferred from the C. P. R. to the C. N. R. over the E. Y. & P. and sent on to Lamont.

There will be in all thirteen cars of the shaggy monsters, the number being 110. They are mostly cows and calves.

It has required nearly two months in rounding up the bunch at the Flat Head reserve in Montana. They had the run of an enormous extent of territory, and the numerous deep ravines made it a most difficult undertaking. The remainder of the bunch will come later.

Quinsy, Sprains and Swellings Cured.

In November, 1901, I caught cold and had the quinsy. My throat was swollen so I could hardly breathe. I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me relief in a short time. In two days I was all right," says Mrs. L. Cousins, Otterburn, Mich. Cham Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment and is especially valuable for sprains and swellings. For sale at Parker's Drug Store.

They found a dead man on the pavement in front of a newspaper office in a Western town with a poem on spring clenched in his stiff cold fingers, and the coroner didn't even hold an inquest on him. He simply looked up at the editorial rooms on the top floor, and measuring the distance to the ground with his eye, remarked: "It would kill any man to be thrown out of the window. Take the remains to the undertaker." Spring poets are scarcer now.
