LOSS OF APPETITE AND ENERGY.
Singly they are a worry—combined they become a burden telling that waste has been immensely greater than the body's power to rebuild.
The first need is to reconstruct the blood, make good the deficiency of red cells. Ferrozone improves in digestion, makes blood, the kind that nourishes and rebuilds. Quickly the nervous system responds to the new power supplied by Nerviline.
Strength returns, ambition revives, energy and endurance give the system just what it needs to maintain the balance of health. No tonic better than Ferrozone, 50c per box at

"There's Something in the English After all."

I've been meditating lately, that when everything is told, There's something in the English
after all;
They may be too bent on conquest and too eager after gold, But there's something in the English after all.

Though their sins and faults are many and I won't exhaust my breath By endeavoring to tell you of them all.

Yet they have a sense of duty and they'll face it to the death, So there's something in the English
after all.

If you're wounded by a savage foe and bugles sound "Retire," There's something in the English
after all;
You may bet your life they'll carry you beyond the zone of fire; For there's something in the English after all,

Yes, although their guns be empty and their blood be ebbing fast And to stay by wounded comrades be to fall,

Yet they'll set their teeth like bulldogs and protect you to the last, Or they'll die like English soldiers,
after all.

When a British ship is lost at sea, oh, then I know you're glad That there's something in the English after all;

There's no panic, rush for safety, where the weak are left behind,
For there's something in the English after all.

But the women and the children are the first to leave the wreck, With the men in time as steady as a wall;

And the captain is the last to stand upon the resting deck,
after all.

Though the half of Europe hates them and would joy in their decline, Yet there's something in the English after all;

They may scorn the scanty numbers of the thin red British line, Yet they fear its lean battalions
after all

For they know that from the colonel to the drummer in the band, There is not a single soldier in them all.

But would go to blind destruction, were their country to demand, And call it simply duty—after all.
—Shadwell, in Boston Transcript.

DO YOUR EARS RING?

When they buzz and seem slightly deaf, beware of catarrhal inflammation. This grows steadily worse, but can be cured by Catarrhazone. J. A.
Hamill of Greenmount, P. E. I., proved the merit of Catarrhazone and writes: "No one could have worse catarrh than I had for years. It caused partial deafness, bad taste, upset my stomach, made me sick all over. Catarrhazone cleared my nostrils, stopped the cough and gave me a clear feeling in my breathing organs. I am absolutely cured." Doctors say nothing is better than Catarrhazone. Try it and you'll say so too. Two sizes, 25c and $1.00 at all dealers.

LEARN DRESSMAKING
BY MAIL

In Your Spare Time at Home, Or Take a Personal Course at School.
To enable all to learn, we teach on cash or instalment plan. We also teach a personal class at school once a month—class commencing last Tuesday of each month. These lessons teach how to cut, fit and put together any garment from the plainest shirt waist suit to the most elaborate dress. The whole family can learn from one course. We have taught over 7,000 dress-makers and guarantee to give $500 to anyone who cannot learn between the ages of 14 and 40. You cannot learn dressmaking as thoroughly as this course teaches it if you work in shops for years. Beware of imitations, as we employ no one outside the school. This is the only experienced Dress Cutting School in Canada, and excelled by none in any other country. Write at once for particulars, as we have cut our rate one-third for a short time. Address

THE
DURHAM CHRONICLE
IRWIN, Editor and Proprietor.
DURHAM, OCTOBER 24, 1907

WHO ARE THE THIEVES?

Punctuality was a point on which Inspector Ritchie laid much stress in his address at the Convention last week, and there was not a teacher who dared to oppose him in his remarks on that point. He regarded tardiness as a species of stealing. The teacher who has the habit of being late or idles away time is simply steal-that much time from his or her employers for whom it is agreed to do faithful and diligent work. When a man let him be a teacher, a mechanic, or a navy, loses or wastes his time in idleness or neglect of duty, he is stealing just as surely as if he opened the till of his employer and stole an equal value in cold cash. Few look upon the matter in this way but a very little reflection can lead to no other conclusion. The tendency, Mr. Ritchie pointed out, was to get as much pay for your work as possible and on the other hand to give as little in return as possible. Few indeed would like to be classed as thieves but if this idea be true, and who can doubt the soundness of it, are there not men and women to-day who are not dealing honestly with their employers, and perhaps don't think it. It is quite time that the man who uses his full energies for the benefit of the man who pays him, may not be paid enough for his labor, but he will soon get to his right level in the way of wages. Honest industrious men are sought for in every avenue of life. It will not be long till such a man is found out and the man who underpays will soon have to be more generous or lose a deserving employee.
Men to-day are taking the best positions they can get and those who seek help have long since learned that the laborer is worthy of his hire. The tardy indolent teacher will soon be found out and it will not be long till he is hunting for another job, while one with reputation for honesty is picked up by those who need help.

NEWSPAPER KICKERS.

The Warton Canadian puts up a vigorous kick against advertising free the Winter Show at Guelph and tells Mr. Whitney that if the Agricultural Department can't pay its way it should be shut off. History is repeating itself. The Winter Show at Guelph never did pay anything for its advertising to local papers so far as we are aware. The Big Industrial Show in Toronto ran along the same line for many years, but recently they have opened their purse strings a little and the country weeklies get two or three dollars a year for giving it publicity.
The newspapers and everybody takes advantage of their weakness.

The Durham papers are never killed with kindness even by local institutions for which they are always working. Notice after notice is given to advertise concerts, shows, picnics, garden parties and everything else for which they never get anything like a proper remuneration but they usually have to pay their way the same as those who didn't do anything. The Chronicle is not asking for favors, and is not begging for "complimentary" tickets.
If we get pay for what we generally do at five cents a line we can pay our own way to all the entertainments we care to attend and still have a little balance on hand. Making a ticket "complimentary" always seemed a mean thing to do, and placed the user of it under an acknowledged "compliment" to the institution that break their heartstrings in such generosity. Representatives of the press in most civilized places are never expected to pay at concerts or entertainments. As a matter of business they should be there and give a report of the event,—not of one event alone but of every event,—if they are to give the whole news. Now publishers can't afford to go to everything, and many a time they would stay at home, were it not that its part of their business to be on hand.

On one occasion the writer was invited to take part in an entertainment away from home and was given a complimentary ticket. Imagine his joy on passing inside to hear the leather headed door-keeper remark he was a "dead head." After hiring a livery to go to a place we didn't care to go to, and then driving several miles on a cold night we might feel and act like a "dead head," but we did not feel under much of a compliment for our share in the bill of fare furnished.

Few Good Works of Fiction.
Since the world began there have been written perhaps 100 supremely good works of fiction. Assume that the first of these was the Iliad, now about 3,000 years old. One hundred good stories in 3,000 years is a story every generation. Since the battle of Waterloo, then, there have been rather less than three of them. Probably we are overrating the number rather than the contrary. When you consider the matter, three supremely good stories in a hundred years is a very high average.

All Ready.
The gambler armed him for the fray With a look of deep abstraction He deftly stole four aces away.
"Now, let's begin," I heard him say, "I've cleared the deck for action."

Owing to the flue construction of most ranges it is a rather difficult feat to cook and bake successfully at the same time.
But the arrangement of the Pandora flues differs considerably from others. They are so constructed that the draft for baking is also the best for cooking, the heat circulating around the oven twice and under every pot hole before passing up the chimney.
The Pandora bakes and cooks perfectly at the same time.
Do you know of another range that does?
If your local dealer does not sell the Pandora write direct to us for Free Booklet.
