Conditions among the farmers of this district are not so discouraging. Although there was a shortage in crops the extra price for cereals will make up for the deficiency in quantity. The greatest handicap will be in the shortage of fodder, but farmers can get rid of such cattle as would only "eat their heads off" this winter and can economize in the feeding of the rest. Several years ago, when there was a similar shortage farmers reported in the spring that their cattle had wintered well although they had put them on half rations. Cattle are not unlike men in this respect. Most of us would thrive just as well if we ate half the quantity we do now masticated it thoroughly and gave it a chance to digest easily.—Kincairdine Review.

- SHAKE IN A BOTTLE. Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice of an old eminent authority, who says that Rheumatism and kidney trouble weather is here, and also tells what to do in case of an attack. Get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. Just try this simple home-made mixture at the first sign of Rheumatism, or if your back aches or you feel that the kidneys or not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid kidney regulator, and almost certain remedy for all forms of Rheumatism, which is formed by uric acid in the blood, which the kidneys fail to filter out. Any one can easily prepare this at home and at small cost. Druggists in this town and vicinity when shown the prescription, stated that they can either supply these ingredients, or if our readers prefer they will compound the mixture for them.

Exchange Clippings.

Listowel has a prize youth in the way of a traveller. The boy, who is only thirteen years old, must pretty nearly hold the record as a rover for a boy of his years. "Apples," as he is called has just returned from a trip, this time as far as China, and with a shipwreck thrown in. He left Listowel in March last—just walked off. Working his way over the C. P. R. to the coast, he drifted down to Seattle, where he took a job as dishwasher on one of Jim Hill's big steamships, in which he went to China, after returning, went down the coast as far as San Diego. Leaving the sunny south, he got back to San Francisco and engaged as dishwasher on the ill-fated Columbia, and was on board on the night in July last when she was run into by a freighter in a dense fog and went down with sixty or more of her passengers and crew. "Apples" says he flung to get aboard a raft, and with three others, a boy and two women, was washed ashore, after being buffeted about in the fog for ten or twelve hours. They landed some miles from Eureka, California, which they managed to reach, and where the youthful wanderer spent some time in the hospital, having been pretty well used up by cold and exposure. After such an eventful experience, it is no wonder he concluded to make for home as soon as he was able to leave the hospital, and procuring a shoe-shine outfit in "Frisco," he worked his passage eastward by way of Denver and Chicago, landing in Listowel on Saturday. He should certainly be content to remain at his comfortable home after this and no doubt will be until the wandering instinct again gets the better of him.—Post.

Extravagance is the curse of the age. Men are buying automobiles for themselves and sealskin suits for their wives when they can afford neither. Wealthy people are giving entertainments, lavish even to vulgarity. Women are demanding and receiving more and more money from their husbands for the purchase of clothes they do not require and furniture they could and should do without. It is a time of large thinking and large doing. It is the age of the superlative. In all this mad haste to exchange good money for tinsel and gilding, one example of frugality and carefulness is particularly welcome. The perfume of a rose is most appreciated in December. Let the reckless spenders, the social butterflies who live only for a day, learn a lesson from an acquaintance of Colonel Denison's, a young man who in two years gave his wife only forty cents.—Toronto News.

Mr. Thomas Beamish, an elderly gentleman of Hanover received a telegram on Monday stating that his mother had died at Hamiota, Manitoba. Deceased was over 100 years of age.—Post.

There is a man (so-called) in the Southward who so terribly and so frequently illuses his wife that the authorities will have to intervene. Last Sunday the brute assaulted the defenceless woman and injured her so badly that the doctor had to be called and the chief police sent for. The P. M. has been looking into the matter and the Crown attorney promises that the beast will be chained up if the offence is repeated. In the meantime murder may be committed. The offender is well-known to everyone and nothing is gained by holding off. Set the dogs on him.—Orangeville Post.

"Pound prints are often fourteen ounce prints" is what a gentleman, who buys butter on the market telephoned to the Times recently, adding the contention that with the high price of living these days, full weight should go in every purchase of any commodity. Last week the chief of police of Guelph seized sixty-one pounds of butter for being short weight. There can scarcely be an excuse when buying on the market for not getting full weight, as scales are available for the weighing of all that are marketed, from a ton of hay to a pound of butter.—O. S. Times.

Robert Manley, a bachelor farmer, quiet and retired in his habits, hung himself in the barn Tuesday morning and it is almost impossible to account for his rash act. Some three or four weeks ago he was disappointed in a sale of his farm, but on Saturday sold it and bought the Miller property in East Garafraxa, which he wanted. That day he seemed in best of humor, and thoroughly satisfied with the deals. About two o'clock Monday morning he arrived at his mother's house, Garafraxa, and his brothers noticed he did not appear himself. Accordingly, one of them came up to assist him in his work and was topping turnips Tuesday morning when he saw Robert wheel down the road and put the wheel in the barn. As he did not come out again in a short time he went to the barn and found him hanging over the manger. Hurrying over to get Robert Atkinson they found the body still warm but quite dead. The young man was well fixed financially, and a possible explanation may lie in a reaction from the strain he had been enduring the month previous.—Grand Valley Star.

A Toronto lawyer is suing a client for $2500 for "ingratitude." What a lot of damages newspaper editors would be able to collect from the politicians if "ingratitude" were a recognized claim. Chapped hands are quickly cured by applying Chamberlain's Salve. Price, 25 cents. For sale at Parker's Drug Store.

HAD A PEG LEG.

A colored undertaker was requested to embalm the body of a colored man. The wife of the deceased asked what the cost would be. He named his usual charge, to which she quickly replied: "I think that's too much." "But it is the regular fee," protested the undertaker. "That may be," assented the widow, "but this ain't a regular corpse. My husband had a wooden leg."

WORTH TAKING One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion; One ounce Compound Salate; Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla; Mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, is pronounced by a prominent physician to be the best mixture for the cure of the kidney, bladder, and all urinary troubles. This says the doctor, is the most simple though remarkable prescription ever written to cleanse the system of impurities and waste matter. It acts as a powerful tonic to the kidneys, forcing them to filter out the acids and poisons, overcoming rheumatism, lame back, sciatica and other afflictions arising from sour, impure blood. The ingredients can be procured at any good drug store, and being purely vegetable and entirely harmless, can easily be mixed at home. If you have a suffering friend show this to him, as he will undoubtedly be pleased to learn of so simple and highly recommended a remedy.
