

THE DURHAM CHRONICLE

IRWIN E. IRWIN, Proprietor.

DURHAM, FEBRUARY 5, 1914.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

In reporting a hockey match between Walkerton and Durham on January 15. The Chronicle of January 22 said:

"The hockey match here last Thursday night between the Walkerton and local teams resulted in a decisive win for the locals 9 to 2. The game at times was fairly fast, though neither team was in a condition to provide spectacular hockey over the whole period. The Walkerton team were a bunch of pretty good fellows, though, and played a pretty decent game, with the exception of one, who seemed to know more about tripping than he did about hockey. The crowd roasted him a-plenty, however, and when he stepped off the ice, he must have felt about the same as a man on his first trip out after Christmas wearing his wife's annual necktie gift. Jimmy McLachlan was referee and gave good satisfaction."

Last week's Durham Review contained the following quarter-column of misery:

"We noticed an article in the Chronicle of last week's issue, where the reporter criticises the Walkerton-Durham game, played in Durham Thursday night Jan. 15 which was an easy victory for the Durham team who were found by the Walkerton team to be good sports. No doubt there were openings for more brilliant plays by us, but being sadly out of condition, we no doubt showed our lack of practice. We give any reporter credit for upholding his own team in any matter but the newsy who knocks and an outside team at that, shows himself up as a sore head, or a mighty poor sport of the cheapest kind."

Jim McLachlan did give good satisfaction we know. Well, tripping is an offence and subjects the offender to the penalty bench. Funny only a few Walkerton players were off and no one more than once. Does the newsy's story hold out well? We should think not. According to his view of the game, one wouldn't be surprised to see his office filled with money boxes for Sick Children's Hospitals rather than business utensils. People, with the high cost of living to-day, can a man expect anything more than a necktie from his wife at Christmas? If so, who should worry? Judge from the Chronicle write-up, because we are all single and well do we know how hard it is to keep an injured gasket from blowing off."

The above literary "gem" was signed "Walkerton Hockey Club." If the article was really written, or sanctioned after it was written, by that organization as a whole, our advice would be for them to go back to school and learn to read and write, instead of perambulating around the country giving exhibitions of "hockey as she is not." Personally, the article in the Review causes us little alarm or perturbation. We don't know what the writer is trying to get out of his system, the Review staff is in just as bad a fix, and the local hockey club can make neither head nor tail of it. We have our doubts if the writer knows what is the matter with him, but we would suggest that worms, or acute paralysis of the brain cells is what he suffers from. If the Chronicle write-up, which is given above, causes such an outburst of literary eloquence, what would a real "roast" produce?

We have heard calves bawling when being led to the slaughter—and we didn't blame them—but when a calf stands in a corner of the field, and with nothing apparently the matter with him makes the air hideous with discordant notes, it's time for somebody to go on a chase for his mother, or if he is weaned, produce the milk-bucket and let him fill up on what he likes most. A calf with a stomach full of milk, like a baby with a bottle, makes no noise.

If there really are seven men, or boys in Bruce's county capital who would sit down and write such a conglomeration of nothing to any newspaper, we never knew it before. We don't know it yet, and are still of the opinion that the boys of that town are just what we said on January 22, "a bunch of pretty good fellows, who played a pretty decent game." The unwarranted bawling of some irresponsible member of the team, or some outside sorehead who has shown himself "a mighty poor sport of the cheapest kind" hasn't changed our attitude a whit. We don't believe the Walkerton hockey club had anything to do with it as a club, and if they had a careful perusal of the Chronicle write-up fails to show any semblance of a "roast," but is just a truthful statement of events as they occurred, and the writer of the article in The Review knows it.

A GENUINE SURPRISE

On Monday night last Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gun felt surprised on receiving a mysterious box, the contents of which they had no idea of. On making an investigation however, they found it to contain a silver tea service, accompanied by an address from the congregation of the Presbyterian church. It was a genuine surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Gun, who will ever have reason to bear a kindly remembrance of the congregation's last act before their departure for Hamilton.

The following is the address which accompanied the gift:
Durham, Feb. 2, 1914
To Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gun.

Dear Friends,—It is with deep and sincere regret that the members of Durham Presbyterian church come to realize that the pleasant and cordial relations which for so many years has subsisted between yourselves and us, has closed, and that the parting of the ways is before us:—
During the years in which it was our happiness to be associated with you, we have ever found you ready and willing to bear cheerfully your share of the burden and willing at all times to accept whatever responsibility might be committed to your charge:—
In wishing you God-speed we do so with the sincere desire that your ways may be "ways of pleasantness and all your paths be peace."

We ask you to accept the accompanying tea service, as a mark of our esteem and appreciation of your services to our church, and trust that you may both be long spared to use and enjoy it.
Signed on behalf of the congregation.

J. S. McILRAITH,
Chairman Board of Managers.

VARNEY.

Miss Hazel Barber is attending the Mt. Forest Business College.

On account of the bad weather last Thursday night there was not so large a crowd as there might have been to hear organizer Morrison of the Grange.

Mrs. Leeson, Sr., arrived here from Mt. Forest last week to visit her son George, and her grandchildren. She is looking well at her advanced age.

Our Bible class in the Methodist church on Wednesday's at 8 p.m. is fast becoming a popular institution. Though the roads have been worse on Wednesday evenings than most others, the attendance has been excellent. Bible study is the best recipe for bent backs, wrinkled foreheads, grey hairs, bad temper, kleptomania and various other physical and psychological ills. If any of our friends have any of the above complaints, come to Varney on Wednesday evenings, and give the Great Physician a chance to heal you free of charge.

The business of Mr. Gadd has prospered so much that he requires the assistance of Herbert Geisel as assistant.
