LAKELET BREEZES

We are very sorry that Mr. Wm. McFadden, sr., of the Lake, who has been in ill health of late, is not improving. He has become bedfast, but we sincerely hope his health will take a turn for the better soon. Mr. Will Hunter has engaged an English immigrant for the year. We hope he will prove a good useful man, as Will is unable to take the lead in the work, since he underwent an operation for appendicitis last New Year's. On Sunday, April 25, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Daley. On April 19 a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wilson. For a few days Mrs. Wilson was in a very critical condition, and there was very little hope for her recovery, but under the attendance of Dr. Sneath, and the good nursing of a trained nurse and Mrs. Wilson's mother, nee Mrs. E. Wells, we are pleased to say she is well on the way to recovery. Mr. Edgar Henry, who has been spending a few days with his parents in this locality, has returned to Toronto. He is attending college, learning the barbering trade. Quite a number of splashing, fine new buggies have arrived in this vicinity this spring. They appear to please the young ladies immensely, as we notice them wearing a very winning and pleasant smile while out driving, while the young gentlemen seem to be very well satisfied with the effect their purchase produces. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wells have returned to Durham, after spending the winter in these parts. Mr. Wells has been working in the bush and swamp all winter. Mr. Arthur Backus pays an occasional visit to these parts. A couple of employees of the Bell Telephone Co., have been through this locality lately, doing what repairing the line was needing and putting in new batteries.

PERSONAL

Miss Bessie Telford leaves Friday to spend a month in Ottawa. Mr. H. Aljoe of Toronto Dental College, is home. Mr. H. H. Miller and J. H. Adams of Hanover, were present at the funeral of the late Mr. Carson. Mr. Arthur Smith of Muskoka is spending a couple of weeks at his home here. Mrs. C. Douglas and little daughter Dorothy are spending a week with her parents here. Mr. L. Laidlaw of Toronto, is spending a couple of weeks with his parents here. Mr. Fred Kelly of the Bank of Hamilton, Toronto, was home over Sunday. Mrs. W. Calder and Mrs. Finley Graham are spending a few days in Toronto. Mrs. W. J. Pollard of Detroit, Mich., was called home by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. T. C. Ritchie, here. Mr. Colin McLeish, who spent the winter at his home near Strathroy, returned last week and resumed work with the Cement Co. Miss Rhoda Niven, of Toronto, formerly a teacher on the staff of the public school here, is visiting at the rectory. Mr. Jas. Burt left Tuesday for the west, where he intends to spend the next three or four months. He will likely be back again in the early fall. Miss Clara Aljoe came home Saturday night. We are glad to know she is getting along nicely after her recent operation for appendicitis, in Wellesley hospital. Mr. John Collinson, who was confined in the hospital here for some time, left last week for Hamilton, where he will live with his son. Mrs. Cameron, and Mr. Thomas Carson, of Saskatoon, came east with the body, and were present at the funeral of their father, Mr. James Carson, on Wednesday. Mr. W. J. Smith of Hamilton addressed a meeting in the Methodist church Monday night on temperance and moral reform. It was a splendid meeting, but a poor attendance. Miss Marion Petty returned from Toronto, after a delightful visit with her friend, Miss Gladys Sanford. On Saturday they were guests at the Horse Show of Mrs. Hugh S. Wilson, exhibitor, of Oakville.

HAD TO STOP WORK FROM THE PAIN

Suffered Ten Years Until "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him

ST. THOMAS, ONT., May 22nd, 1913. "I was troubled for ten years with the most distressing Constipation and Indigestion of the worst form. No one could have been worse with these troubles than I was for this long time. The pain from Indigestion was so severe that many times, I have had to stop work and lie down until the acute spasms passed away. I took a lot of medicine—in fact, I guess I took about everything that was advertised—and gave them all a fair test—but got no relief. About a year ago, however, I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives". I am mighty glad I did so for they seem to be made exactly for me. They gave results in a very short time and I am now free from these diseases and enjoying perfect health. My wife also used "Fruit-a-tives" and we both think they are the best medicine ever made." Z. J. EDGEWORTH. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

FROM RUDOLF ST. CLAIR TO JOSHUA MUDGE

By R. W. KENAN

I had recently been graduated at a college of physicians. During the last year of my course the lady with whom I boarded, a Mrs. Stanford, told me one day that she was very much troubled about her daughter, Effie. Effie was of a very romantic temperament. She said nothing about what was occupying her mind to her mother, who gained all her information from the girl's friends. Certain school-mates of Effie's told Mrs. Stanford that Effie was talking about a lover. He was tall and slender, with fine, large brown eyes and black, curly hair. His age was about nineteen. His name was Rudolf St. Clair. The informant did not believe that Effie had any such lover, but that he was a creature of her imagination. Effie said that she was used to meeting this lover after school an afternoon in a certain open square used for a public park. Of late the girl had become very moody, giving indications of having some trouble on her mind. She gave hints to her most intimate friend, a girl of her own age, that she feared Rudolf had become acquainted with another girl who was leading him away from her. I suggested to Mrs. Stanford that she have Effie watched after school afternoons, with a view to discover if she met any man. This was done, and one afternoon Effie was followed to the park in question. Walking to a certain seat she sat down, and presently her lips were seen to move as though talking to some one, though not a person was near her. When this fact was reported to me I made up my mind that Effie's brain was unbalanced. She had doubtless seen a moving picture play which she was enacting in imagination. Being just about to graduate, I was well up in the latest scientific discoveries and theories and had paid much attention to autosuggestion or that something which impels persons to create disease or impressions that have no real existence. Naturally I became much interested in the case. I met one of Effie's schoolmates and asked her what play her friend had most seen and talked about. I was told that it was one in which a young girl had met a young man, with the result of a love affair. The young man jilted the girl, and she shot him. I feared that Effie, following this play, would shoot some man, believing that he was her recreant lover. I advised her mother to keep Effie's room well inspected for something she should not possess. This was done and a little pistol was found under a loose board in the closet, with a dozen cartridges. Mrs. Stanford gave the cartridges to me, and after replacing the powder with charcoal I told the lady to put both pistol and cartridges back in their hiding place. It was not long after this that one evening on the street Effie stepped up to a young man and, saying to him, "I cannot, I will not give you up to another," pointed a pistol at him and began pulling the trigger. The young man seized her hand and took the pistol away from her, then turned her over to a policeman. Effie was taken to a station, whence, when she gave her name and address, her mother was telephoned for. A great deal of difficulty was encountered in explaining the matter, but since the young man she intended to shoot would not prosecute the case Effie was returned to her mother's care. Mrs. Stanford was at a loss what to do with the girl. She proposed to send her to a retreat where she would be kept from doing any harm and would receive medical attention. But I suggested an application of the theory, "Like cures like"—in other words, that Effie be given a real love affair for the purpose of eradicating an imaginary one. But this, for the want of a lover, was easier suggested than carried out. While we were deliberating Mrs. Stanford said: "If you will make love to Effie I will relieve you of all responsibility for what may follow. If you can restore her mental balance you may separate yourself from her, and she will gradually get over it." "But, my dear Mrs. Stanford," I said, "Effie may not fancy me, and if she should and I jilted her she might shoot me." "No girl of Effie's age can resist the attentions of a young man of yours. And as for shooting you, I hope she will by that time have recovered her equilibrium, and you will be in no danger."

Curious to note the effect of the treatment, I began at once to show Effie little attentions. I bought her candy and took her to healthy places of amusement. Gradually I began to give her loverlike glances and an occasional pressure of the hand. This treatment extended over a period of a year, when I went to another city to begin the practice of my profession. I think that by this time Effie had recovered physically, which also means mentally, and she parted with me as any girl of her age might be expected to part with a young man she likes. Indeed, I was slightly disappointed that she did not show more feeling. I think that my attentions served to bridge over a period between childish bodily imperfection and sound womanhood. I never saw her again, and a few years later heard that she had married an ordinary man whose name was not as high sounding as that of her imaginary lover, for it was Joshua Mudge.
