On Thursday evening last Mr. Arthur Noble exhibited his seven-reel motion pictures of The Two Sergeants together with a number of slides and other features. The Happy Hour Theatre was fairly well filled but was not a packed house. The entertainment was very good and the attendance would have been larger had there not been other attractions.

The Canadian Jubilee Singers gave a concert in the hall last Thursday evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church. The attendance was good notwithstanding counter attractions in town and vicinity that doubtless caused some reduction in the numbers. The gross proceeds amounted to $73 but after paying expenses the ladies' share will not be a big burden. The entertainment was good and the audience we think was well satisfied. The big basso was the star of the company and rendered a couple of fine solos, in addition to his valuable assistance in other selections. The manager gave a couple of pleasing honorary numbers and each of other members contributed

Mr. George Smith returned on Saturday after spending three or four months in the neighborhood of Disley, Sask., where he spent the season threshing. The crops in that neighborhood were below the average in yield, though much better than in other places. Money there is tight, owing to the war, and the shortage of crops. There were lots of men there to handle the harvest, and at present there are many out of employment. Wages were considerably lower than in former years. A big acreage of land has been prepared for next year's crop, the biggest in the history of the Disley neighborhood, or in fact the whole of the western provinces. Adam Little Gilbert Grierson, Con. Kreller, Jas. McDonald Wm. McNally, John Campbell Jas. Henderson, Wm. McCalmon John Pettigrew Wm. Pettigrew Quinton Pettigrew Mrs. Pettigrew Mrs. Gadd, Mrs. Cornish Mrs. McPherson nee Lydia Thompson John Ewen-Thos. Ewen and others from this locality are in and around Disley and Lumsden and are all well and doing well.

THE WAR

The great war has been in progress for about a hundred days and the cost to Britain is between $450,000,000 and $500,000,000. That means on an average the almost inconceivable amount of $4,500,000 a day taking the lowest total as a basis on which to estimate. Add to this the enormous expenditure of all the other countries involved and the mere conception of such an extravagant waste of resources is paralyzing to the human mind.

When we speak of a million we seldom think what a million means. It means a thousand thousand. We can grasp the idea of a thousand but when we multiply a thousand by itself our minds are lost in the great immensity of the product. To count a million at the rate of a hundred a minute working continuously and without interruption for ten hours a day will take sixteen days and six hours. Let us take another step in the calculation and again multiply our million by a thousand and we get a billion, a simple billion easy to talk about but oh how great a number for the human mind to grasp!

It isn't millions alone but billions of dollars that the British mind is now engaged in considering. Only a few days ago the British House of Commons voted unanimously another additional war credit of a billion and a quarter, $1,250,000,000! Think of it, and consider what it was for—merely to uphold the honor of the Empire and keep her word, though bound only by "a scrap of paper." Premier Asquith told the House that the largest portion of the first five hundred million had already been expended in the conduct of military operations loans to the Allies and disbursements for the securing of food supplies. The greater portion of the new credit would be for the Army and Navy. Money will play a very important part in the final decision of the war and the last hundred millions will do more than the first. Britain can get all the credit she wants for war purposes; and the recruiting of her forces is going on satisfactorily according to Premier Asquith and with a force now of 1,100,000, he saw no reason to be discouraged.

A Canadian citizen was arrested at Chippawa on Saturday on a charge of smuggling four German reservists out of the country his reward being $10 for each man. The man was suspected of having been in the business for some time and if the facts are as alleged he may have to face a charge of high treason.

Though it was not reported in the city papers, Mr. R. J. Ball contributed $100 towards the patriotic fund in the whirlwind campaign held a couple of weeks ago in Hanover. Mr. Ball feels that the omission has been detrimental to his business, and explanations are demanded from his travellers. The reports were sent out from Mr. H. H. Miller's office, and the clerk who took notes from Mr. Miller's dictation and made copies for the press, says he inadvertently made the omission and that Mr. Miller had no knowledge of it until the reports appeared in print.

HELP US TO HELP THE BELGIAN REFUGEES

We feel an interest in the Belgians, and would like to do something to help them in their distress. Our greatest barrier is the need of money, and our contributions towards the Belgian Fund will depend upon our success in getting the needed commodity. From now until the end of the month we have decided to set aside for the Belgian Relief Fund, ten per cent. of all money received on subscription accounts, and we hope our readers will help us to make the contribution worth while. We would like to give $10 next week but to do so, we must get $100 in on subscription, either on arrears or in advance for one year. Any person owing us will be doing a good thing for us and a good thing for the Belgians by paying up on or before the last day of this month. Subscriptions received by mail bearing sending office post mark up to November 30, will have ten per cent taken for the Fund. Remit now, and enable us, with your help, to assist those who have sacrificed their all for our benefit.

From Rotterdam an American organization will carry it to Belgium and a National Committee will distribute it in Belgium."
