Lesson XI.—Fourth Quarter, For Dec. 13, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.
Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxviii, 16-20; Luke xxiv, 44-49—Memory Verses. 19, 20—Golden Text, Matt. xxviii, 20. Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The correct sequence of events between His resurrection and final visible ascension from Olivet is not more easy than the sequence of some of the events in His sojourn in His mortal body, but the heart lessons are not difficult. The summary in Acts i, 3, is clear and full. "He shewed Himself alive after His passion by many infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days and speaking of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God." He always shewed Himself (John xxi, 1, 14), and this is our need—to see no man any more save Jesus only (Mark ix, 8). He showed Himself alive, and we must live as if we really believed that our great High Priest is alive forevermore and has all power in heaven and on earth.

He always spake of the Kingdom, both in His earthly life and until His ascension, and there is nothing so important as the coming of His Kingdom, which if we seek first He has assured us of all other things that we need. (Matt. vi, 33). This appearance of our lesson in Matthew may have been the eleven only, or it may have been the same as when He was seen by over 500 at once (1 Cor. xv, 16). From the fact that some doubted it would seem to have included the latter, for surely the eleven had ceased doubting ere this. There was another most interesting appearance in Galilee to seven of the disciples after their night of fruitless toil on the lake, when He provided breakfast for them, apart from their labors, and also filled their net with 153 great fishes. It was then that He asked Peter the thrice repeated question, "Lovest thou me?" specially commissioned him and foretold his martyrdom (John xxi, 1-24).

Before His crucifixion His instructions to the disciples were to go neither to gentiles nor Samaritans, but rather to Israel, but now that Israel had decidedly rejected Him and in cutting Him off had also cut themselves off from all privileges as a nation till He shall come again the instructions are different. The messengers are to go to all nations and gather to Him disciples. They are to go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature; they are to preach repentance and remission of sins in His name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem, but they were to wait at Jerusalem (these first messengers) until they should receive the necessary power to do this in the form of a special endowment of power by the Holy Spirit, for He would be sent to bear witness to a crucified, risen, rejected, ascended Christ, to gather unto Him a people for His name, who by a special training in this age would be fitted to reign with Him in the next age, when He shall come again to set up His kingdom of righteousness and peace (verse 19; Mark xvi, 15; Luke xxiv, 46-49; Acts xv, 13-18; Isa. xxxii, 1, 17).

There is nothing whatever in their commission about subduing the world or winning the world to Christ or reforming or uplifting the race, but simply to do as Paul tells us he did—determine not to know anything but Jesus Christ and Him crucified; to preach the gospel that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, that He was buried and that He rose again the third day according to the Scriptures; to so preach as by all means to save some; to be ready to preach the gospel anywhere as debtor to all and never ashamed of it; to preach the kingdom of God and teach those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, knowing that some will believe and some believe not; to turn people from idols to God, to serve the living and true God and to wait for His son from Heaven; to speak always not as pleasing men, but God, who trieth our hearts (1 Cor. ii, 2; ix, 22; xv, 3, 4; Rom. i, 14-16; Acts xxviii, 23, 24, 31; 1 Thess. i, 9, 10; ii, 4; 11 Tim. ii, 15). Our responsibility is to be faithful witnesses, believing all things written in the law of Moses and in the prophets and the Psalms concerning Him, quite sure that His Word will not return to Him void, but always accomplish all His pleasure (verse 44; Isa. lv, 11).

Whether we see much or little or not any present results of our sowing, we can leave that all to Him with whom we are fellow workers unto His kingdom, knowing that He shall not fail nor be discouraged (Isa. xlii, 4; 1 Cor. xv, 58). The devil sowed his tares and went his way quite sure that they would grow, and we must indeed be people of little faith if we cannot have as much confidence concerning the incorruptible seed of the Word of God as the devil had concerning his tares. When we have delivered the Word of God lovingly in the power of the Holy Spirit we can safely say, Thank God, that will work.

If some one should ask, What will it work? we can with confidence reply that it will work all His good pleasure. A restless ambition to see great results does not indicate a mind in harmony with God or a Spirit filled messenger. The blessed assurance, "Lo, I am with you all the days until the end of the age" (Matt. xxviii, 20, R. V. margin), should be to us an unspeakable comfort and inspiration.

SIMCOE FARMERS ARE NOT PATRIOTIC.

Evidently the farmers of Simcoe county are not as generous in their donations of grain to the mother country as the farmers of Grey, and the Barrie Advance thus criticizes them:

"The disheartening response, or rather lack of response in many cases, of a large portion of the farmers of Simcoe County to the call for products of the farm to assist the motherland in this time of danger, has been the subject of much adverse criticism by newspapers and the public. The fact that Simcoe, one of the largest and most prosperous of the counties of Ontario, failed to respond to the patriotic call shows either a lamentable lack of organization, or a selfishness that is beyond comprehension."

A correspondent writing to the Advance regarding this matter, says: "The towns and cities are sending men and money. What of the rural parts? Can they not afford a solitary bag of oats? The farmers of this district were appealed to by their reeves to give this bag of grain to Britain Surely that bag of oats could have been granted in return for the protection Britain has given us which could never be compensated, not even by millions of bags of oats. That progressive plan of our reeve has doubtlessly fallen through, due to that small sense of patriotic duty shown by the farmers. It is grievous to think this. I ask every fair-minded farmer to think whether it is right for the people of the towns and cities to supply the men and the money, to keep their families, to fight for the Empire, and the farmer nothing at all. It would be an indelible blot on the farmers if they allowed that odium to remain. It is exasperating to think that a farmer, who is undoubtedly not affected as the men and women of the cities are, and who instead, is reaping the benefit of good prices, should fail to do his duty."

DARKIES' CORNERS.

Glad to report Mrs. R. Ector of Edge Hill is feeling some better Mrs. J. Vessie of town visited at Mr. Jas. Wilson's Tuesday last. The most successful Institute meeting ever held here was at Mrs. Joe Brown's, lower town, Durham, where over 90 ladies gathered to partake of the Scotch lunch. Mrs. Wylie gave a most interesting paper on Scotland, Mrs. Thos. McGirr also gave a Scotch reading, Miss Alice Ramage and Miss Kate McFayden each sang suitable solos, while Misses L. Weir and B. McGirr sang a pleasing duet. The Institute intend holding an Irish meeting in the near future.
Mr. and Mrs. T. McComb and Miss Leah McComb, Mr. Murray Ritchie, Mrs. C. Ritchie, and Edna May, spent Friday evening at Mrs. Chas. Kennedy's, Bunesan.
Mr. Robt. Lindsay returned after two years' sojourn in the west. We welcome Rob back, as he is always a favorite among the young folks.
Mrs. W. H. Bean and daughter Elizabeth, spent Sunday last at Mr. Neil McCannel's, Lambton St.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jaques spent a day the beginning of the week at Mr. Thos. Harrison's, Egremont.
Mr. Robt. Lindsay spent a few days last week visiting his sister, Mrs. A. W. Hunt, Allan Park.

NEURITIS FOLLOWS CRIPPLED NERVES.

Painful Effects of Chronic Rheumatism Quickly Routed by Rheuma.

If your nerves are all crippled from attacks of Rheumatism, Neuritis can easily get a strong hold on the nerves. This most painful disease is one of the hardest known to expel, but RHEUMA can reach it if given a chance. This testimony is positive proof:
"Last March I was so crippled with Neuritis in left limb I could walk scarcely at all. Tried all remedies I heard of and had two physicians. Nothing did me any good until I used RHEUMA; $2.00 worth of your remedies surely cured me."—Mrs. C. E. Hayes, Russell, Kentucky.

HORSE THIEF ESCAPED.

A despatch from Tara last week to the London Free Press refers to a horse-thief who operated in that locality, and was finally reported seen near Durham. A horse thief made a daring escape near Tara on Monday noon, when John Langton escaped from County Constable Mills en route to Walkerton gaol. Langton on Wednesday of last week, along with his wife stole a team of horses, sleigh and fur overcoat from his employer, who resides two miles from here. They left Trelford's with the booty late on Wednesday night, travelled all night and the next day and finally landed at a farmer's place near Durham. County Constable Mills started to work on the case on Thursday and succeeded in locating this couple, but Langton managed to get away and the constable had to be satisfied to come back with his wife. On Sunday evening last Langton came back to Tara and gave himself up. He was brought before Magistrate McDonald here this morning and pleaded guilty to the charge and was committed to Walkerton gaol to come before the judge for sentence. This afternoon Constable Mills boarded the train to take the prisoner to Walkerton. When about five miles from Tara he made an excuse to go to the end of the train and jumped out of a window while the train was running about 30 miles an hour. Parties were at once sent out to scour the countryside, but up to noon to-day no trace has been found of him.

GAVE ALL THEY HAD.

In the donations to the Belgians there is probably not one so noteworthy as that of two little boys aged about eight and nine years and named McIntyre. These little fellows whose parents are not opulent, in fact are in straitened circumstances, owing to the hard times, have been doing odd jobs in their hours out of school, carrying in wood for neighbors, sweeping offices down town, and the dozen and one things little fellows will do to earn a few cents. Their scanty earnings they were pooling for the purpose of purchasing a sleigh when the amount had grown large enough. They had almost enough, a dollar, when the call came to aid the Belgians. Now, no one had particularly impressed these two lads with the necessity of giving to the Belgians or of giving to anyone because it was little they ever had that they did not need badly themselves. But they talked it over and came to the conclusion that their dollar would do more good to the little starving Belgian children than if it were invested in a new red sleigh such as would delight the heart of any boy when there are hills down which one might blizzard. These little chaps did not give so much per month, nor did they see fit to give a decimal of one per cent of their savings, but they gave their all. Somewhere in holy writ there is a passage concerning the donation of the widow's mite. This was not a widow's mite but it was everything two manly little boys had, and they gave it cheerfully. One thinks the world is a brighter and better place after all when one learns of the self-abnegation of these boys, who made a sacrifice the extent of which can only be imagined by those who remember their boyhood days, and remember how much a new red sleigh appeals to a boy.—Owen Sound Times.

UNFAIR CRITICISM.

The Editor of the Meaford paper is incurring criticism because he has advised the farmers of that part of the country to buy in Meaford instead of sending away to the departmental stores at Toronto. He argues very justly that every dollar sent by the neighboring farmers to Toronto impoverishes Meaford and renders it a poorer market, and that the farmers themselves are the sufferers. Meaford will be largely what the farmers make it. If they determine to live in the vicinity of the town and make Toronto their purchasing centre, they may as well accept the fact that the smaller and less prosperous Meaford is the poorer will be its market, the less produce it will require, the less purchasing power it will have and the less they will receive for their produce. It goes without saying that as Meaford suffers for the lack of trade, so the farmers suffer for the want of a market. The proximity of a large town or city increases the value of land because it furnishes a demand for every class of produce at the highest price. Where farm produce has to be shipped to Toronto or Montreal, for instance, the farmer cannot for most things realize so much as he does at home because of freight and commission charges and other expenses of getting his foodstuffs to the customer. In every way he looks at it, the farmer is just as much interested in building up the town he markets in as the town itself. Its growth is his gain.—Collingwood News.

THE DEVIL AND KAISER BILL

(With apologies to the Devil)
It was mooted one morning in Hades
That his devilship, Kaiser Bill
Was doing his best with his army
To bring the place under his will.

When the Devil got wind of the riot,
And learned what it all was about
He said, "If there's justice in limbo
The rest of us all should get out."

Our sins beside his are but trifles,
So small we should surely escape.
He is guilty of uncounted thousands
Of robberies, murders and rape.

In short there is no use denying
That almost from the day of his birth
He's been scheming and plotting and lying
To bring about Hell upon earth."

Said Judas and Herod and Nero,
"We offer no serious complaints
By Jingo, the moment he gets here
The rest of us all will be saints."

Ananias, Munchasen and others
In unison all shouted—"Well,
He surely is justly entitled
To the hottest damned corner in Hell!"

—J. M. Kilbourn in O. S. Sun

DON'T GROW BALD

Use Parisian Sage.

If your hair is getting thin, losing its natural color, or has that matted lifeless, and scraggy appearance, the reason is evident—dandruff and failure to keep the hair roots properly nourished.
