Lesson XIII.—Fourth Quarter, For Dec. 27, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Cor. v, 14-21. Quarterly Review—Golden Text, Gal. vi, 14—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

LESSON I.—Christ Anointed For Burial. Mark xiv, 1-11. Golden Text, Mark xiv, 8. "She hath done what she could." This is not the anointing of Luke vii by an unnamed woman, but that by Mary of Bethany shortly before the Passover. It was the heartfelt devotion of a humble, believing heart, and He accepted it and approved of it and reproved those who found fault.

LESSON II.—The Last Supper. Mark xiv, 12-25. Golden Text, I Cor. xi, 26. "As often as ye eat this bread and drink this cup ye do show the Lord's death till He come." Note the Passover greatly desired and its future fulfillment in the kingdom. The thought of that glory should keep us very humble now and deliver us from all strife and ambition as we think of what it cost Him to obtain it for us. The bread and wine should always say to us, "Till He come."

LESSON III.—In the Garden of Gethsemane. Mark xiv, 32-42. Golden Text, Matt. xxvi, 41. "Watch and pray that ye enter not into temptation." Our utter inability to appreciate either His sufferings or His glory is seen in the sleeping of these three men in the garden and on the Mount of Transfiguration. His longing for some human sympathy may be seen in His "Couldst thou not watch one hour?"

LESSON IV.—Jesus and Judas. Matt. xxvi, 47-50; xxvii, 3-10. Golden Text, Matt. xxvi, 24. "Woe unto that man through whom the Son of Man is betrayed." The last lesson seemed to be Christ and the devil face to face, as in the wilderness. This is Christ, and the devil is a professed believer, who dares to profess friendship by a kiss, and Jesus tolerates it. The betrayer's testimony to the innocence of Christ is very strong.

LESSON V.—The Arrest and Trial of Jesus. Matt. xxvi, 57-68. Golden Text, Isa. liii, 7. "He is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers, is dumb, so He openeth not His mouth." This lesson is an awful illustration of the enmity of the human heart to God, who is only Love. Their ill treatment of Him as they bound Him to death is almost unbelievable. He submits to all without a murmur or reply.

LESSON VI.—Sowing and Reaping. Gal. vi, 1-10. Golden Text, Gal. vi, 7. "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." We are seeing the meekness of Jesus as He suffered in our stead, and nothing is more becoming in us than lowliness and meekness and long suffering (Eph. iv, 2). If we are crucified with Christ we must ever reckon ourselves dead unto self and sin and alive unto God.

LESSON VII.—Jesus and Peter. Mark xiv, 53, 54, 66-72. Golden Text, I Cor. x, 12. "Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall." When a true disciple allows the devil to work in him and speak through him it is a great victory for the adversary and dishonor to Christ, but the unfailing and unchanging love of such a Saviour, who loves His own to the end in spite of all their failures, is an exceeding great comfort.

LESSON VIII.—Jesus and Pilate. Matt. xxvii, 11-26. Golden Text, Matt. xxvii, 22. "Pilate saith unto them, What shall I do, then, with Jesus, who is called Christ?" Betrayed by one who professed to be His, denied by one who was really and truly His, condemned to death by the religious rulers, who thought that they were God's chosen ones, and now handed over for execution by the state which testified to His innocence.

LESSON IX.—Christ Crucified. Mark xv, 22-37. Golden Text, Isa. liii, 4. "Surely He hath borne our griefs and carried our sorrows. Yet we did esteem Him stricken, smitten of God and afflicted." Numbered with transgressors, put to death as the vilest criminal, jeered and mocked as He hung upon the cross, forsaken by His Father, the agony of it all we cannot begin to imagine, but we can hold fast the words "His own self bare my sins."

LESSON X.—Christ Risen From the Dead. Mark xvi, 1-8; Matt. xxviii, 11-15. Golden Text, Luke xxiv, 5, 6: "Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen." Alive forevermore and having all power, seated at the right hand of God, our Great High Priest, waiting for the time to restore all things of which the prophets have spoken.

LESSON XI.—The Great Commission. Matt. xxviii, 16-20; Luke xxiv, 44-49. Golden Text, Matt. xxviii, 20. "Lo, I am with you always even unto the end of the world." As Adam was not complete without Eve, so the last Adam waits for His Eve, the church, now being gathered from all nations by the preaching of the gospel in the power of the Holy Spirit, which was never intended to win the world to Christ in this age, but, like Eliezar, obtain a bride for the only Son.

LESSON XII.—The Ascension. Luke xxiv, 50-53; Acts i, 1-11. Golden Text, Acts i, 9. "He was taken up, and a cloud received Him out of their sight." He will come again, this same Jesus, and His body, the church, will ascend to meet Him in the air and be forever with Him (I Thess. iv, 16-18).

Christmas Eve.

Dream, little child! The shadows fall,
Over the land the mystic veil
That hides the morrow from our eyes
Is swaying in the starlight pale.
Dream, little child! 'Tis Christmas eve,
Dream while the magic hours glide by,
Each wind that blows the snowflakes wild
Is laden with sweet mystery.

Dream, little child! The glowing coals
Are painting pictures on the wall.
Out from the quivering shadows there
You almost hear the thrilling call
Of "Merry Christmas, little maid!
I hope I've brought your heart's desire,"
And Santa's shadow just above
Grows lifelike by the leaping fire.

Dream, little child! The Christmas air
Is glowing with your visions bright,
And all the joys tomorrow holds
Are shining on the page of night.
Dream, little child! And may the years
To you their richest treasures leave,
And may all happy dreams prove real
That come to you this Christmas eve!
