BLYTH'S CORNERS.

The continued cool weather the past few days, with heavy frosts at night, has put a damper on the early rapid growth. Low-lying fields of oats have suffered severely from the frosts, being frozen as far as the ground in places. The congregation of Knox church are to be canvassed soon for another donation, to provide cots for our brave, dashing, wounded soldiers. We are not much posted on conditions in France regarding suitable comforts for the wounded, doubtless all such are extremely dear, but $50 for "a cot", to us seems altogether too extravagant. To the moneyed man with a fat salary $50 is a trifling sum, but to the poor man, with usually enough burdens of his own to bear, it is an entirely different thing, and while we believe our people are quite anxious to lend a helping hand in relieving the suffering soldiers, the prevailing feeling seems to be too much unnecessary extravagance.

Inspector Campbell visited our school one day the past week and found everything in prime condition. He praised our popular teacher, Miss Backus for the general proficiency of the scholars, tapped the trustees gently on the fingers for negligence in not having procured books on the war, but was of a too sensible turn of mind to give us any abuse in not complying more quickly to such compulsory, useless aid.

Mr. John Marshall lost a good working horse a few days ago. Dr. Fortune was called in, but could render no assistance.

Mr. Thos. McNiece was offered and shook his head at eight cents a pound for his fat cattle.

Bro. John Sharp is at present inclined to trail one of his legs these days, the result of an unintentional kick from Mr. Ed. Hoy's fine Belgian horse.

Mr. David Leith is mourning the removal by death of his aged father, whose death took place in Egremont the latter end of last week. We extend sympathy.
