THE WESTERN FAIR, LONDON The Western Fair, London's popular agricultural exhibition, will be held this year from September 10th to 18th. It is considered by the management that this year, above all others, should be the one when extra efforts must be put forth to make the exhibition a great success: therefore with assistance given by the Government the board of directors have decided to make a cash addition to the prize list of $3,000.

Good as it was before, this will certainly make London's prize list very attractive. The list is now in the hands of the printer and will soon be ready for distribution. Thousands of advertising maps and hangers have been sent throughout the country during the past couple of weeks announcing the dates, and arrangements are being made as quickly as possible to ensure exhibitors and visitors alike that this year's exhibition will be the best ever held in London. Any information regarding the exhibition will be gladly given on application to the secretary, A. M. Hunt, London, Ontario.

The Red Cross Column

Amongst the many hospitals where our sick and wounded soldiers are being brought back to health, there is perhaps no institution which will appeal to Canadians more than the Duchess of Connaught hospital at Cliveden, a beautiful country house along the upper reaches of the Thames, which was given to the British War Office by Waldorf Astor.

The covered tennis court, probably the finest in the country, with its appendages, out by the golf links and close to the football grounds, within the screen of the woods, has been turned into a hospital building capable of holding over 100 patients. This accommodation has since been increased to 500 beds.

The following interesting description is taken from a London paper:

"What between the donors of the building and the Canadian Red Cross Society, this hospital is a model. The great height of the building and its glass roof insure the wards being flooded with light and air. The operating room is one of which any hospital might be proud. The X-ray room though small, has received high praise. The laboratory, the medical stores, the disinfectant and other features of the equipment are all of the best that can be got.

"The whole atmosphere is cheerful. There are beds in the wards by which one does not linger—beds where the signs of pain or of exhaustion are woefully patent. For the most part smiling faces greet one, and the men are laughing and talking in contentment as they sit knitting or smoking. Just outside on the terrace is a row of beds. Every man fit to come out spends so many hours of the day out here where he may watch his stronger fellows playing bowls or football. No wonder that the wounds heal quickly, and the prostrate dream and sleep themselves smoothly back to strength.

"The staff consists of 20 officers, 38 nurses and 120 non-commissioned officers and men; it receives Canadian wounded, and is supported and kept up by Canadian money. It only remains for the Canadian people as a whole to give their whole hearted financial support to this Canadian hospital where our fellow countrymen will be brought back to health and strength. While the public is generously answering the appeal for tobacco for the Canadian soldiers at the front, a very large amount is still needed and will be needed continually as the war progresses. Tobacco in tins is specially welcome, as are cigarettes of all kinds. Tobacco in packages, a large number of which have reached the head office of the Canadian Red Cross Society in Toronto, is not very welcome, as it soon becomes dried up and almost unfit for use by the time it arrives at the front.

There can be no doubt of the importance of tobacco in the present crisis. Even those who oppose its use as a matter of principle will admit this. Tobacco has played its part in every war, from Waterloo to the Balkans. It is playing a tremendous part in this, the greatest war in history. Tobacco is a solace and has won and lost battles. It is stated that smokers are far more immune than non-smokers to "Occipital Cramps" and other neurasthenic ailments caused by the terrible ordeal of shell fire. Strange as it may seem, there is a greater consumption of tobacco by those who have nothing to do with fighting in war. The war throughout the world has stimulated men who, roused from the humdrum of their regular lives consume more tobacco when such an excitement as a great war is on. The consumption is greater now because this war touches more men than any war since history began.

Nothing is better than tobacco to relieve the necessary odium of convalescence, when the soldier, too weak as yet for any active physical employment finds the time hang heavily on his hands. Further, no greater act of charity could be performed than the sending of tobacco to prisoners whose life at the best can scarcely be considered one of pleasure. In short, those who know anything about men under nervous tension know that tobacco is even more of a necessity than food. It is to be hoped that the public will think generously of this matter.

CANADIAN MILLS INCREASE

In this time of war it is gratifying to know of industries which keep up and even increase their rate of production. This latter is the case with the pulpwood and wood-pulp industry of Canada. The consumption of pulpwood in Canada increased nearly ten and a half per cent. in 1914 as compared with 1913. Since 1910 the increase has been 104 per cent. The 66 active pulp mills in Canada in 1914 consumed 1,224,376 cords of pulpwood valued at $8,089,860 while in addition to this, 972,508 cords valued at $6,680,480 were exported in an unmanufactured state. Canadians will be gratified to know that the proportion of pulpwood made into pulp in Canada to that exported in the raw state is increasing, thus giving more employment in Canadian mills. In 1914, 55.7 per cent. of all pulpwood produced in Canada was made into pulp in Canada and 44.3 per cent. was exported, chiefly to the United States, in raw or cordwood state. A few years ago only one-third of the pulpwood produced in Canada was made into pulp here.

The proportion of pulp made by the chemical processes is increasing as compared with pulp produced by the ground-wood process. This is gratifying because the pulp thus produced is worth about two and one-half times as much as the ground-wood pulp. The chemical processes also permit a wider range in the selection of timber for pulping purposes, an important factor in bringing into use as many as possible of our native Canadian trees.

The above and all other facts now known about pulpwood and wood-pulp production in Canada are contained in the bulletin "Forest Products of Canada, 1914: Pulpwood" which has been compiled by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior and which has been sent to the printer for issue as soon as possible. Copies of the bulletin may be had free upon its completion and those interested in the pulp and paper industry who desire, in the meantime, information upon any particular point will receive the same by writing to the Director of Forestry, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

THE MOON AND PLANTING

How many ever think of the moon when they sow grain, plant cucumbers, kill pigs, boil soap or the thousand and one things we come in contact with every day? Some wouldn't plant their potatoes only when the moon is just the right size, and getting either larger or smaller, according to the fancies and whims of the person governed by such notions. We never consider the state of the moon, but we know some do. We believe the moon has certain influences. It is believed that by its gravity it affects the ocean and has to do with the tides, giving us the big ones and the little ones, according to its relative position in relation to the sun and other bodies. Scientific men have written on this phenomenon, but we have yet to see a scientific work which teaches that a pig killed at one time in the moon will be all pork when it's cooked and at another time it will all turn to gravy.

It was believed at one time that mental conditions of persons of unsound mind were influenced to some extent by the moon, and the word "luna-tic" is a historical relic of the belief in that exploded theory. It does happen that persons mentally deranged are worse at some times than others, but we have never been assured on good authority that these bad spells occur periodically in any one of the moon's phases.

As to the proper time to plant certain seeds, the seedsmen, so far as we have noticed, never mention the moon in their instructions about how and when to plant them, and in all the agricultural bulletins sent out by the Government model and experimental farm, all reference to the moon has either been ignored or forgotten. We don't wish to destroy people's fixed beliefs, but we don't think the moon has anything to do with the boiling of soap or the planting of cucumbers.
