Ignorance of the Bible.

One thing is undeniable—knowledge of the Bible is far less general now than it was in the days of my childhood. That amazing familiarity with the sacred book with which John Richard Green credits the people of England in the days of the commonwealth had persisted until my boyhood among the sons of the Puritans and the Scotch Irish in New England and in New York state. It was not universal, but it was general. The kind of tests by which college students and students in secondary schools are frequently in these days made to display an ignorance of the Bible which is astounding could have been passed with credit by the majority of country boys and girls sixty or seventy years ago. But this thorough acquaintance of earlier generations with the Bible was not due to any considerable extent to the public school. All that we learned about the Bible in school would have added very little to our store of religious knowledge. It was in our churches and our Sunday schools, but chiefly in our homes, that most of us learned what we knew about the Bible.—Washington Gladden in Atlantic.

"Literary Style."

A high school student writes this office inquiring what constitutes a "literary style." Without trying to answer this interesting and difficult question, two remarks may be cited that throw light on it.

When Charles James Fox was told that his speech read well he retorted, "Then it was a bad speech." "When one of my congregation would tell me at the end of a service that the sermon was fine," Dr. Lyman Abbott has said, "I knew I had made a failure."

In general the style is good when it fits the thought so well that the style itself does not attract attention. As soon as you begin to be conscious of the style—unless of course you are reading with that end in view—you may be pretty sure it's bad style. Style is something like clothes or furniture. The well dressed man is the man whose clothes do not attract attention. The well furnished room is the one you go out of satisfied, but unable to describe the furniture.—Kansas City Star.

Mrs. McCormick, of Brooklyn, Ont., is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Leitch, this week.

Mr. James of Toronto addressed the electors and others in the hall Monday evening on the Hydro-Electric question. He traced the history of the system, showing that it was steadily on the increase. He considered that the village would require at least a 50 h.p., current at an estimated cost of $45 per h.p. This amount could be raised by debentures extending over 30 years and that there would be no direct taxation except for street lighting, as all funds to pay debentures would be received from the users. We understand the township council has agreed to guarantee the bonds hence now a by-law will be required and the people will be permitted to say whether or not they wish the power in the village. The Presbyterian Sunday school picnic was held in the park last Saturday, a most enjoyable time being spent.

Our halls of learning closed on Tuesday. Mr. Gilmour has resigned the principalship, and hence will not return. Miss Atkinson goes to her home in London for vacation.

Mr. Falkingham of Orchard occupied the pulpit in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, as the pastor was attending the bush meeting at Conn.
