What a Revival Is.
The word "revival" is often given a meaning which primarily does not belong to it. Many emphasize the conversion of sinners as the essential element in revival work, but that is the secondary meaning of the word. Essentially "revival" means the quickening of God's people. You cannot revive a dead man. The unregenerate sinner is spiritually dead. He must be born again. Now, you may revive a partially drowned body or a partially frozen body. The regenerate soul's life often weakens and wanes until the flame almost flickers out. But if there be the least spark of life left it can be fanned into a flame, and, like the apparently dead cinder in the smithy's forge, that spark will touch others and kindle a flame that will enthrone a church, a city or even a nation. A revival of religion, then, must logically begin with the church. Such is the divine order.—Christian Herald.

Freaks of Language.
A peculiar kind of blundering known as "folk etymology" is responsible for some of the queerest freaks of language. An easy example will make this clear. Our American word "carrail" for a kind of vehicle is not a compound of "carry" and "all," but a slight distortion of the French "carriole," a diminutive car. The change was made in obedience to the universal tendency to assimilate the unknown to the known, to make words mean something by associating them with others which they resemble in sound. Often there is no etymological relation between the words associated, as when sparrowgrass is made out of asparagus. This particular corruption was once in such good colloquial use that Walker, the lexicographer, wrote, "Sparrowgrass is so general that asparagus has an air of stiffness and pedantry."

Movies Taken For Ghosts.
According to a missionary, the first display of moving pictures in the province of Szechuan, China, 2,000 miles up the Yangtze, caused a mob disturbance of alarming proportions.
When the bodiless, yet vigorous shadows began to move silently across the screen in the visible but immaterial simulation of life murmurs arose, soon increasing to shouts and uproar, that foreign devils had possessed the locality and were in league with the spirits of the dead. Actual destruction and perhaps bloodshed was prevented only by the clubbed guns of the native soldiery. Later, when the pictures were explained, the natives became ardent fans. The first feature films shown in Szechuan caused the outburst of superstitious rage.—Photoplay Magazine.

Devil Ships and Fire Ships.
Two warlike contrivances of ancient days were devil ships and fire ships. A devil ship is a ship that has been filled with explosives, which discharge either by means of a fuse, or clockwork, or when the ship hits another ship or obstacle. They were employed as long ago as 1585 by the Dutch, when the Prince of Parma besieged Antwerp. In those days they were sent down the river to explode against a wooden bridge built by the defenders of Belgium's most important city. The fire ships were usually filled with dry wood smothered in pitch, oil and other inflammable material, and when fired were sent drifting against any defense work or ships of the enemy.—London Opinion.

Old English Fairs.
Fairs and feasts were formerly held in churchyards in honor of the saint to whom the church was dedicated. In consequence of these popular gatherings being much abused they had to be suppressed in the thirteenth year of the reign of King Edward III., as appears by the following extract, quoted by Spelman: "And the Kyng commandeth and forbiddeth that from henceforth neither fairs and markets shall be kept in churchyards for the honour of the Church. Given at Westminster, the VIII of Octobre, the XIII year of Kyng Edward's reign."—London Mail.

Lightning.
Lightning appears in three forms—zigzag and sharply defined at the edges, in sheets of light, illuminating a whole cloud, which seems to open and reveal the light within it, and in the form of fire balls. The duration of the first two kinds scarcely continues the thousandth part of a second, but the globular lightning moves much more slowly, remaining visible for several seconds.

The Boob.
"Yes," said the young lady, "I spent the entire evening telling him that he had a terrible reputation for kissing girls against their will."
"And what did he do?"
"He sat there like a boob and denied it."—Kansas City Journal.

Bad Situation.
"I think I'll have to get rid of Fido," pouted the great emotional actress.
"Why, the ki-yi is getting all kinds of mention in the papers."
"That's it. I am not receiving as many press notices as my dog."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Trouble.
Trouble doesn't make people patient. It merely weighs them down and crushes them so they cannot complain, which is a semblance of patience.—Deseret News.

Poor Pay.
Boss—Has that fellow Everbroke paid you anything on account yet?
Collector—Only a compliment on my persistence, sir.—Boston Transcript.

MAN AND WIFE BEAT UP A BRAMPTON MAN
On Saturday night on Queen Street, West, close by his home, Harry Barrett had an encounter with James Bailey and his Amazonian wife, as a consequence of which Harry is in bed with his right leg broken in two places between the knee and ankle. Bailey was in the police court on Monday and was let go on his own bail and that of T. W. Duggan, manager of Dales, for $1000. Baily is a rose grower and with his wife arrived here about seven years ago supposedly from the States.
The account of the affair that we hear from Harry's friends is that when near his home on Saturday night he was met by Bailey on the sidewalk. The latter accused Harry of calling his (Bailey's) two boys berry thieves. A quarrel ensued and the two men got into a fight and Bailey, who must have been getting the worst of it, for his wife, who until this moment had not been visible, came from behind a hawthorn tree and joined her husband. This Mrs. Bailey is said to be quite the biggest woman in town in height, weight and muscular development. What they did to him is not very clear to Harry, but when Dave, his brother and Councilor Worth, and perhaps others had persuaded the Baileys to let up, Harry was found with a broken leg, a badly cut forehead and many bruises.—Brampton Banner.

MILITARY CAMP AT THE EXHIBITION
Every branch of war activity to be vividly portrayed at Toronto Fair
Every branch of war activity to be seen in Europe today will be vividly portrayed at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. Aeroplanes will land at the Military Camp after taking observations in mid-air; miniature battleships will be blown up in the lake; there will be bridge and sheltered trench building, armored cars, hospital autos, field ambulances with stretcher bearer sections, field dressing stations, field bakeries and cookeries, ammunition corps, observation masts, etc. The camp will be occupied by several hundred officers and men now training for overseas service at Niagara and other camps for the infantry, cavalry and artillery units.
