THE WESTERN FAIR, LONDON.

September 10th to 18th. The Western Fair of London, Ontario, will maintain its reputation this year as being one of the best Live Stock Exhibitions in the Dominion of Canada. Live Stock exhibitors are always loud in their praises of the treatment they receive at London and the amount of business they do there. Buyers are always plentiful, surrounded as London is by the best agricultural district of Canada. Although large cash additions have been made to the prize list for the past three years, this year will surpass them all, when $3,000 will be added to the Live Stock and Poultry departments. This has been possible through the generous assistance given by the Dominion Government. The amount has been distributed throughout the different classes and some new classes and sections added, which will be of special interest to the farmers and live stock breeders. The prize lists will soon be ready for distribution. Send to the Secretary, A. M. Hunt, London, Ont., for prize list or any information regarding the Exhibition.

PRICEVILLE.

The showery weather still continues; lots of haying to do yet in this locality. The harvest will take a couple of weeks in general, with the exception of early barley, which will be ready to cut this week.

The late wind and rain did considerable damage to the grain crop, and many fields will have to be cut one way, and in some instances it will be a hard matter to cut them one way itself.

Roots and such like are doing well on account of so much wet. Dr. Hugh McNeil, wife and son, of Chicago, are at present visiting old friends and acquaintances at Priceville. Dr. McNeil was a Priceville boy long ago and many are glad to see him again. He motored from Chicago, taking three days for the trip.

We were pleased to meet with Mrs. Drowly (Emma McLean), of Toronto, who is visiting at the old homestead at her brother's, Colin McLean's.

Mrs. McPherson of Toronto is visiting with friends at Top Cliff and elsewhere.

A number of young lads were brought before a justice of the peace for disturbing the peace of a resident of this town, a blind man. The arrest was made by Constable Cook of Ceylon, and they may be assured that they will get a good cooking as the result of their smart pranks on a civil citizen. The smallest and youngest of the smarties should know better than to humble themselves in such low and mean acts on a fellow citizen.

Rev. Mr. Jones of Eugenia preached in the Presbyterian church here last Sunday to a large congregation. Mr. Jones is a young man and a fine speaker. His text in the morning was in the 23rd Psalm, he preaching an eloquent sermon therefrom. In the evening he took for his text, "What will it profit a man though he gain the whole world and lose his own soul," showing the foolishness of the deal—the whole world gained and the soul lost.

Rev. Walter Nichol of Dundas visited his mother and brother, one mile west of this town. Mr. Nichol preached in the Presbyterian church here on the evening of Sunday before last. Mr. Nichol is a brother of Reeve Nichol, Glenelg. Miss Jennie Cameron of Toronto, who was visiting friends in this part for the last couple of weeks, returned a few days ago, accompanied by her niece, Miss McInnes, daughter of Mr. John McInnes of near Calgary, Alta.

The death of Mrs. John Williamson, old Durham Road, Artemesia, occurred on Tuesday of last week. She took a stroke and only lived one day. She was in her 80th year, a daughter of the late John Hall, south line, Glenelg, and a long resident of the Old Durham Road. Mrs. Williamson was one of the old pioneers of Glenelg, coming there about 64 years ago and moving to Artemesia about 50 years ago. Her husband predeceased her some 20 years ago. The funeral took place on Thursday, the 12th inst., to the cemetery in this town, and the remains laid beside those of her husband.

We are sorry to hear of the illness of Mr. Alex. McMillan, south line, Artemesia. Mr. McMillan was in Toronto consulting a specialist, who gave him the encouragement that in the course of time he would be all right. We hope to see him able to attend to his affairs before long.

Miss Jean Walker of Toronto is spending a time with her aunts, Mrs. McKinnon of this place, and Mrs. Muir of Ceylon.

We congratulate the Misses Aldcorn on their success at the recent examination. Miss M. McLean, who always heads the list in the county, and others as well.

Mrs. Wright of Buffalo is spending a while with her sister, Mrs. McArthur of this place.

A number of nearby residents attended the picnic at Glenelg Centre one evening last week. It must have been kept very quiet, as we did not hear of it till it was over. Of course, it could not help being a success, with such able orators as H. H. Miller and others in attendance. Arch. McCuaig was chairman.

A lot of good old citizens are yet around Glenelg Centre, but the aged pioneers are getting very few and far between, now.

The good old horse is beginning to get jealous of the new style of conveyance, and sometimes takes to the fence corners to get out of the way. But the time is not so far distant when the faithful old animal will be laughing, when the snow is two or three feet deep, and when his service will be required again.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND.

When anyone has accomplished something great, especially in the saving of life, he at once becomes a hero, an object of attraction and comment, and justly so. Yesterday I could not resist going to see the dog who discovered Ex-Mayor Graham, of London, after the auto accident back of Lynhurst on Friday evening. The owner, William Arnold, told me that the dog made three trips between the place of the accident and his house before the faithful animal was able to persuade Mr. Arnold to go back.

When one realizes what every moment meant to a man who had been lying in such a condition for six hours during such a night, surely it will be admitted that the discovery was an important one. Yet, so far, I have heard not one word about the dog.

Two men have become famous and made money by saying that they discovered the North Pole. In the first place I could never understand of what use the Pole could be, and in the second place I have not seen anyone who had been down in his heart really believes that it has been found and to me the discovery of this dog, which certainly saved a great deal of mental and physical suffering, and which might well have meant a valuable human life, was the more important of the two.

If it is right to call the dog a lower animal and ourselves a higher one, I can't understand why, but perhaps he can, as he is able to learn our language but we are not able to learn his. Also for this reason he is often misunderstood and abused. I could never understand such phrases as "The dirty cur," "You low lived dog," "He is worse than a yellow dog," because since the dogs licked the sores of Lazarus when he was forsaken by every human being, up to the time of "Grey Friar's Bobby," the dog who for eleven years lay on his master's grave, and to whose memory a monument was erected in Edinburgh cemetery by the late Queen Victoria, the dog has been man's most loyal friend and companion. I think that if this dog could make us understand what he would like as a reward for his discovery, that it would be for us to try and understand his species better, to be at least kind and give to it a fair deal.—Dr. T. L. Gray in The St. Thomas Times.

MILITARY CAMP AT THE EXHIBITION

Every branch of war activity to be vividly portrayed at Toronto Fair

Every branch of war activity to be seen in Europe today will be vividly portrayed at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. Aeroplanes will land at the Military Camp after taking observations in mid-air; miniature battleships will be blown up in the lake; there will be bridge and sheltered trench building, armored cars, hospital autos, field ambulances with stretcher bearer sections, field dressing stations, field bakeries and cookeries, ammunition corps, observation masts, etc. The camp will be occupied by several hundred officers and men now training for overseas service at Niagara and other camps for the infantry, cavalry and artillery units.

FRUIT NEWS

Plums will be at their best the last two weeks in August. The first to get to market are the Gages and Burbanks. The Burbank is the best Japanese plum. Everybody knows the preserving qualities of the Gages. The quality this season is unusually fine and it will be well to put down an extra supply. Early River and Alexandra peaches are also ready. They are both supremely delicious sliced with cream. The Triumph is the first yellow fleshed peach, and excellent for canning. Better quality will be obtained both in peaches and plums if orders are placed early.

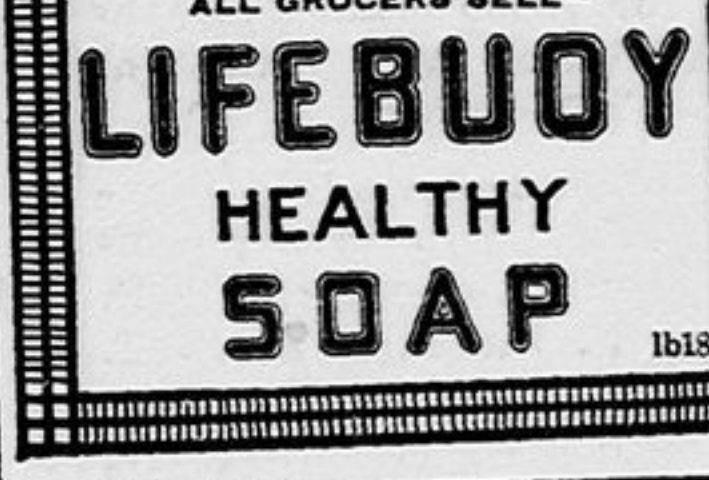

WHAT SHALL WE EAT?

Owing to the regrettable diffusion of knowledge, the food problem grows more complicated every year. Time was when primitive man ate what he could get. He did not pause to consider whether one root was more digestible than another, or whether one uncouth animal or reptile tasted better than another. The splendid simplicity of prehistoric housekeeping must have given to all dinners a uniform flavor, and the only matter for concern was the quantity required. With the advance of civilization came the discovery of the palate and the mighty possibilities of cooking.

A Health-preserving delight

The use of Lifebuoy Soap makes the bath a supremely soothing pleasure as well as a health-insuring delight. The cream of pure oils gives a velvety lather that is cleansing and healing. The very mild carbolic solution means a perfectly healthy skin. The odor vanishes in a few seconds after use.

Man then ate what he liked, and no other consideration affected his choice of food. Now and then, as history tersely records, he "died of a surfeit"; but as well of a surfeit as of the plague. Eating was no longer a mere necessity; it was a pastime, and the one popular pastime in every rank of life.

In these years of grace we eat what is good for us; and to find out what is good for us is very difficult, because of the number of our counsellors. The newspapers and magazines give us a great deal of valuable information. They analyse all the viands in the market; and when we have read their carefully prepared lists we are more than ever in doubt what part of us is going to be built up by our timidly chosen dinner.

Then there are the enthusiasts who pin their faith to a diet of grapes, or a diet of nuts, or a diet of apples, or a diet of stale crusts and buttermilk. They voluntarily surrender all the pleasures of the table on the chance—and a very slim chance, of living a year or two longer than their neighbors; and they ardently preach the grape, or nut, or apple, or buttermilk crusade to a dyspeptic and agitated world.

The most recent of all food fads is the date. Why buy mutton, or beef, or chicken; why buy butter, or eggs, or milk; why buy peas, or corn, or peaches, when fifteen cents' worth of dates will nourish us better than those costly and appetizing viands? One pound of meat will give us (so perhaps we are told, and so we submissively believe) only 440 food calories, whereas one pound of dates will give us 2,610 calories. That is an impressive thought. It means, or it should mean, that when we have eaten a pound of dates, we have six times the energy of our friend who has eaten three mutton chops or a beefsteak.

The Arab lives on dates. At least in the story books of our childhood he always lived on dates, although perhaps by now he has learned to vary his diet. Yet the Arab is not an energetic person. Considering the incalculable number of calories he must have stowed away in his system, he remains in a state of soothing inactivity. He is not always scouring the desert on a fleet charger. He mostly sits still, or moves about with the unhurried gait of one who has never counted time. And his mental processes are the mental processes of his great-great-grandfather. What is the Arab doing with his dates?—Youth's Companion.

JOHNNIE'S DEMAND. A young hopeful of four was at table with mother on Sunday morning, the father being from home for the week end. "Now, Johnnie," said his mother, "you'll sit in father's chair this morning and say grace." "Well, mother, if I'm to be father, I must have two eggs," returned Johnnie, imperiously.
