THE TRAFALGAR DAY FUND

Mount Forest contributed $1,400 to the Trafalgar Day fund, Melancthon township gave $3,500. Walkerton gave $2,100 and raised Cain with one of the aldermen because he didn't give the assistance it was thought he was able to give. Shelburne made no canvass, but $215 was handed in for the fund. Brant township council granted $1,000 at a special meeting, though recommended at a meeting of ratepayers to give $1,500. They didn't do as well as Durham council, who gave the full minimum asked for in the petition We naven't heard of Bentinck doing anything

Wiarton gave $500. It's a bigger place than Durham but the people are not quite so big-hearted. Now they want a training camp and the council, business men and manufacturers are pushing for orders for shell boxes.

Durham contributed $500, and $19 in extra private contributions, and as a matter of justice, we should get government sop before Wiarton.

We find no fault with the poor people who, we believe, are doing what they can, and in some cases making sacrifices to do their bit Those who can afford it without feeling the pinch should respond more readily than they do. The poor people here are the largest contributors in proportion to their means. It should not be so.

NO DOES THIS MEAN YOU?

We have a number of delinquents on our subscription lists and we would like the accounts converted into cash.

Many, we know, neglect to to pay through mere oversight. They intend to do it some time, but the longer they neglect, the larger the debt becomes. The arrearages, in many cases, are small, individually, but in the aggregate they run up into hundreds of dollars. An effort on the part of delinquents to pay promptly, and the placing of the money in our hands, where it properly belongs, would make very little difference to the individuals themselves, but would assist us very materially.

We have borne patiently with some; many are owing us for years. Some have gone so far as to promise, but the promise has not yet materialized into cash Some have taken the paper for years, and then allowed the postmaster to send us a card saying it was "refused" A person who does so doesn't deserve much consideration He should take the matter home to himself and 1magine how he would feel under

The letter from Mr. Marshall, which shows how absolutely without foundation any such reports are, is, in part as follows:

"Replying to your letter of the 18th inst., some secret services have been circulating sorts of rumors through Canada for the past few months to the effect that the Canadian Red Cross Society were selling socks to the soldiers. On the 16th September last I cabled Commissioner Hodgetts as follows: 'It is being currently reported that the Red Cross Society is selling socks and other goods to soldiers. Marshall said: "When you consider that the organization has been running for nearly 15 months, an i that there has never been a word of criticism of its work from the press, while there are always plenty of people ready to criticize if they get an opportunity, you will realize how the work is being done. Besides this, at every meeting where returned soldiers have spoken they have had nothing but the warmest praise for the Red Cross, and they would be the ones to tell if the work were not being carried on properly."

Mr. Marshall also pointed out that any suggestion that officers of the society receive any remuneration for their services is equally raise, and he declared that no salaries whatever are paid to any at onner, out merely to the necesplies that are being received daily. ### GOOD PERFORMANCE GIVEN BY ORPHEUS CHORUS

The Orpheus Chorus, of Owen Sound, a musical organization consisting of sixteen business men, appeared in the town hall on Thursday night of last week and gave a fine musical concert. The choruses, solos and duets were mostly of a patriotic nature and every number was a delight to the most attentive and appreciative audience. The choruses showed the voices in perfect harmony. The duets by Messrs. Newton Large and G. D. Fleming were a delight to every lover of good music, and nothing could be finer than the solos of Messrs. Large, Fleming and Yule.
