FLESHERTON

Saturday's Globe contained the following despatch from Windsor, Ont. "Sergt. Dutton McMaster, son of M. P. McMaster, Principal of Assumption School in this city, died in a military hospital at London to-day," according to a cablegram received by his parents. He was "gassed" in April, during the fighting around Ypres. Sergt. McMaster was 35 years old, and had been a soldier from the time he left school. Mr. McMaster has cabled the British authorities for permission to have his son's body brought to Windsor for burial. The deceased lived in this village during the years his father was principal of the public school. Mr. and Mrs. McMaster have the sympathy of their old friends in their bereavement.

The engagement is announced of Lulu Maud Philp, B.A., youngest daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Philp of Inkerman, Ont., to Morton Yarwood Williams, Ph. D., of the Geological Survey, Ottawa. The wedding will take place quietly at the home of the bride's parents in the middle of December. The bride-to-be was formerly on the High School Staff here, and a popular young lady in the village.

Mrs. David Jamieson, whose husband died on October 21, passed away on Wednesday last week at the home of her daughter, at Eureka, from where the funeral took place on Friday to Salem cemetery. The deceased, who was 64 years of age, was raised near this village. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Magee, and was highly respected. Five sons and one daughter survive.

Our village council and a number of citizens attended the formal opening of the hydro power at Eugenia on Thursday afternoon last. In the evening, Flesherton was illuminated without a hitch, and the forty or more brilliant street lamps gave the place a cheerful appearance. Many of the business places and residences in which wiring had been completed were also illuminated, but considerable wiring is yet to be done, at which the electricians are busy.

A fall of about a foot of snow on Sunday night made it unpleasant for pedestrians on the streets on Monday morning. Later in the day the snow plow was out for the first trip this season.

Miss Gladys Kindree returned home to Blenheim on Saturday after an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. H. S. White.

Dr. Murray and daughter, Miss Shilow, were in the city on Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Charlie Buchanan is on a holiday this week in Toronto.

LETTERS FROM THE SOLDIERS

theirs down and rolled in seven minutes.

We left camp about ten minutes past one, and that evening reached our destination. Nothing unusual occurred on our first day, and although we had only marched twelve miles we were all ready for a good night's rest.

Next morning, before starting off, we were each handed some blank ammunition, and that gave us the first notion that we may have an attack that day. At Jordan our scouts brought back word that the enemy had been sighted. Immediately the bands dropped back, we were opened up to two columns and proceeded on our way. The road led through a long narrow gully which afforded splendid protection for an enemy attack. We closed up to our first formation at Vineland, and stopped there for dinner. The first duty was to put out outposts so made. But in spite of all precautionary measures we were surprised, for after dinner the ladies of Vineland provided us with all the pie we could eat. Naturally we pronounced them as the best ladies on the way, but we were soon to find that there were others just as good.

We left Vineland after about two hours rest, and proceeded to Grimsby beach for the night. At Beamsville we again opened out to two columns but no attack was made.

After having supper we settled down for a night's rest, but about ten minutes to ten the enemy made an attack on our camp. However as a truce is declared from 10 p.m., Monday, the attack was a failure, and a good many of us knew nothing of it until next morning.

On Sunday we were not allowed out of the park, but civilians came in and brought plenty of good things to eat with them. For dinner we had chicken, pie and apples and for supper, cake. In the evening, we, in turn, gave the people a concert.

Monday morning we started at 8.30 on our twenty mile trip to Hamilton, and by 12.30 had reached Stoney Creek, having covered 13 miles. Here we stopped for dinner, and once again the ladies supplied us with the good things that only women know how to make. Here we also saw the monument erected on the battleground of Stoney Creek.

We left there at 1.30, and proceeded the seven miles to Hamilton a stop, reaching the Armouries at ten minutes past three.

From the time we reached the outskirts of the city until we reached the streets thronged with school children, cadets, boy-scouts, and many older people as well. On James St., all traffic was stopped, scarcely enough room being left for us to march.

In the Armouries one of our first duties was to have our feet dressed, and we were much surprised to find Chas. Ramage as one of the attendants in the dressing room. He told us that our feet were in much better condition than most of the battalions.

We were given all the next day to spend in Hamilton, and in the afternoon were billeted out in the Y.M.C.A. and basements of the different churches in order to make room for the 8th battalion. In the forenoon we Durham boys hunted up the drug-store with the old familiar sign, "James R. Gunn," and had a good chat with Mr. Gunn. We also looked up Mr. and Mrs. John Whelan, and spent an enjoyable time there.

We left Hamilton on Wednesday morning by special train about about 8 o'clock. On reaching Georgetown, the home town of our Lieut. Colonel, the train stopped, and, although we were not allowed to get off, we got plenty of goodies. We were given all kinds of pie and cake, and then barrels of snow apples. While the train was stopped the band played several of their best selections in the street.

At Cookstown we were allowed off, and once again we were well supplied with apples. Quite a few of the boys of C. Company are from Cookstown.

Finally we reached Allandale, and marched to Barrie Armouries—just two days behind time. However the ladies of the town were there with pie, and what we couldn't eat at dinner we finished at supper. However we have at last got settled and such things as pie are only a memory with us now.

All along the way we found the greatest enthusiasm, but Hamilton undoubtedly climaxed them all. What invariably raised the most enthusiasm among the boys on the march was the sight of old men wearing war medals, and of little tots waving flags.

These are perhaps the most interesting things which happened along our way, and I hope it may interest your readers.

Yours Sincerely,
 Pte. E. J. McGirr, Nov. 13.
