BALANCE WHEEL OF A WATCH TRAVELS SOME

The balance wheel of a large watch has a diameter of about 0.75 inch and a circumference of 2.36 inches, says The Scientific American, summarizing an article in Prometheus. As the wheel makes five single oscillations in a second and the amplitude of each oscillation is 15 complete revolutions the rim travels about 16 inches in a second, one mile in an hour and 2 1/2 miles in a day. In three years of uninterrupted running, which is not unusual, the travel of the rim of the balance wheel equals or exceeds the circumference of the earth, a distance that a locomotive, running 10 hours daily at a speed of 30 miles an hour, would take nearly three months to accomplish.

THE FALL OF GORIZIA IS NOW IMMINENT

Austrian Fortress Being Gradually Forced into Submission—Week of Sicily Pressure on all Fronts

Italian aviators flying over the beleaguered city last week rained showers of proclamations upon Goritz, announcing that the Italian army would enter the town within a few days. Reports were again current that Goritz had fallen, the Italians entering from the north. Rome's statement says: "Despite the extremely low temperature in the mountain zone of operations the activity of our troops continues. There were artillery actions along the entire front. In the Biadizza Valley our offensive is developing regularly. On Nov. 26 we captured a machine gun in an attack on Mrzli. On the heights northwest of Goritz our attacks proceeded successfully. We captured some strong entrenchments on Hill 178, and 115 prisoners, including three officers. In the vicinity of Oslavia after an intense struggle we captured the ridge north of the town, destroying the defences and taking four officers and 261 men."

Germany Finished in Serbia
The Serbians who occupied Brod and Krashovo, north of Monastir, Friday, entered Movak the following day, according to a Havas despatch. The attacks of two divisions of Bulgarians (24,000) against 10,000 Serbs in this district have become more vigorous. Action of the Bulgarians against Monastir is believed to have been delayed pending the arrival of reinforcements. Wounded Serbians have been transferred to Albania from the military hospitals at Monastir. With the occupation of Rudnik, the capture of 2,700 prisoners and the flight of the "scanty remains" of the Serbian army into the Albanian mountains, Germany's operations against Serbia have been brought to a close, says the official statement at the Headquarters of the German General Staff in Berlin.

French Air Successes
A squadron of ten aeroplanes bombed the hangars at Habschro, east of Mulhouse. Eight bombs were dropped on the hangars, which caught fire. A German aeroplane on the ground nearby was damaged by our projectiles. The enemy tried in vain to pursue our squadron. An aviator struck by bullets, was forced to land. Another fell near Lutterbach. In the region of Nancy a German machine was attacked by one of our defending aeroplanes. The French machine, getting within close range of its adversary, succeeded in bringing it down. Another German machine, which came to assist in the combat, was forced to turn tail and flee.

Turk Capital Full of Wounded
The following official statement regarding the Dardanelles operations was issued from Paris: "November 24 and 25 were characterized by activity on the part of our artillery, which succeeded in taking under its fire several Turkish guns of large calibre. An appreciable weakening of the fire of the enemy artillery resulted. Wounded Turks in very large numbers have arrived recently at Constantinople."

Russia's Huge Army Ready
Despatches from Russia declare preparations are being made for a new and tremendous offensive. All depots are filled with recruits who are being trained. In the spring Russia will be able to put in the field an army of 7,000,000 men, including 1,000,000 cavalry. She also will have 10,000 pieces of artillery. Japan, the United States and England are daily furnishing the greatest quantity of rifles.

Canadians and Peace
Colonials Break Up Anti-Conscriptionist Meeting in Motherland

Canadian and Australian soldiers, with a sprinkling of British Territorials, took charge of Memorial Hall, London, Eng., where the "Union of Democratic Control," an organization which is opposed to conscription and favors peace, was advertised to hold a meeting, and unceremoniously threw the speakers from the platform and turned the gathering into a recruiting meeting. Bombs containing "asphyxiating gases" were launched, and then the soldiers took the platform by storm. Several of the speakers, including E. D. Morel, the leader of the union, sought refuge in an ante-room, as did the women who were distributing leaflets. The promoters of the meeting were thrown from the platform with the furniture, to which they clung. Finally they formed a column and marched through the streets singing patriotic songs. "Do we want peace?" they shouted, and answered their own question with a stentorian "No!"

War Loan Closes

Canadian Loan Subscribed For Twice Over—Everybody Helped

Hon. W. T. White has issued the following statement at Ottawa: "The war loan subscription lists have closed. While it is impossible to make an accurate statement until the returns are complete, the Minister of Finance is able to announce that the total subscriptions will considerably exceed $100,000,000, that is to say, the loan has been subscribed more than twice over. The number of individual applications will reach at least 25,000 and probably more. All sections of Canada have participated, and the issue has been popular in the truest and widest sense of the term. A noteworthy feature has been the remarkable number of small subscriptions. As soon as full returns have been received and particulars tabulated, the Government will be in a position to consider the question of allotment."

Well Known Banker Dead
Alexander Laird, aged 62, General Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce from 1907 until his retirement from illness in September of this year, died in Toronto Saturday.

Lord Northcliffe, described as the most powerful man in England was warned recently to be careful what he published in his papers.

NORTHERN AFRICA.

Where Once the Ancient Romans Ruled in Wealth and Splendor

It is not generally realized that during the early centuries of our era the Roman proconsular province of Africa rivaled Italy itself in wealth and brilliancy and that in what are now Tunisia and Algeria there exist Roman ruins that vie in number, splendor, and state of preservation with those to be found anywhere else.

The fall of Carthage in 146 B. C. led the Romans to establish themselves in North Africa, at first in a modest settlement, the purpose of which was to see that the Phoenician city was not rebuilt. Ere long they themselves, however, reoccupied the site and built on it a city that became the third in the empire.

The gradual extension of their rule was forced on the somewhat unwilling Romans. To protect their settlement against the predatory Phoenicians, Libyans, and Berbers they found it necessary to push their conquests along the littoral to the west and the south, into the high plateaus between the Tell Atlas and the Sahara Atlas, and even well into the desert itself, till a good part of what are now Tripoli, Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco was ruled by them.

The country was much more extensively cultivated and thickly populated than at present, and for centuries was the principal granary of Rome. After lasting for nearly six centuries Roman rule in North Africa was brought to an end by the invasion of the Vandals from Spain and their capture of Carthage in 439 A. D.—Argonaut.

DEEP BREATHING.

It Freshens Up the Whole System and Kills That Tired Feeling. Deep breathing does more than benefit the lungs. Physiologists tell us that the great advantage is that it gives the liver a healthy squeeze. All organs in the abdominal cavity as well as the liver are apt to get overcharged with blood from careless habits of sitting. A relaxed sitting position causes the abdominal muscles to relax so that blood runs into this part of the body like water and it accumulates like a stagnant pool.

The blood needed in the brain is down in the liver. The condition produced led the ancients to refer to a man with the blues as a hypochondriac, which means, literally, down under the ribs. Today we speak of the condition as being down in the mouth because the lines of the face are pulled down. Melancholy is due to a congested condition of the liver and other organs depriving the brain of blood necessary to keep up the normal balance of activity. When one is tired or feels the dejected feeling coming on, relief can be obtained by lying on the floor with a pillow under the middle of the back and taking a few long, deep breaths.

If the arms are thrown over the head and a dozen deep breaths are taken, a new spirit will come into the brain. Sometimes this is done automatically, as when we throw up the arms and straighten up after a crouched position at a desk.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Made a Difference.

Little Willie became slightly indisposed, and when the family doctor was called he prescribed some medicine in powder form.

"Come, Willie," said the fond mother, preparing one of the powders as soon as the medicine arrived from the drug store, "you must take this right away so that you will be well."

"No, I don't want to take it," whined Willie, backing away from the dose. "I don't need no medicine."

"Why, Willie," pleaded mother, gently drawing the boy toward her, "you never heard me complain about a little powder, did you?"

"No, an' neither would I," was the startling rejoinder of Willie, "if I could just put it on my face, like you do, but I have to swallow it."

Curious Effects of Tea and Coffee.

A condition resembling true color blindness sometimes follows the excessive use of coffee. It is probable that tea also will produce this condition, since both contain the same active principle, although cases of tea color blindness are comparatively rare. It has been observed, however, that both tea and coffee may affect the eyesight and even cause actual blindness. Such blindness is not usually complete, or permanent, and if the use of the harmful beverage is discontinued, normal sight will gradually return.—Exchange.

Between Girls.

"How can you be engaged to a man who is sixty years old? He has, however, given you some magnificent presents."

"That's the point. A first love is romantic, but a last love is very lavish."

A Good Curriculum.

"So your daughter Jane has returned from college. Has the school a good curriculum?"

"Oh, yes; Jane had a special suit made for it an' exercised there every day on the horizontal bars."—Florida Times-Union.

A Warning.

Doctor—You've had a terrible shock. Patient—It's up to you to see that I don't have another when I get your bill.

Which Side or Both?

Officer—Why have you only one spur on? Private—If I get one side of the horse to move, I get the other, don't I?—Every Week.
