WHAT IS THE MATTER?

A few days ago in another town a gentleman made a remark that set us thinking. Durham at one time he said, was a good advertising town, but they have certainly fallen down of late.

A few days later a business man who is not now advertising volunteered the opinion that the business that properly belonged to Durham was being diverted to other places.

At this juncture we remarked that the merchants had themselves to blame if the town's trade was confined to such a small area.

We are not prepared to agree with the merchant in question, but in a general way we are not in a position to deny what he told us.

Every other town around us is reaching out for business. The advertising columns of the newspapers published in these towns tell the story of how they're doing it.

Advertising that brings in trade to a business is just as much of a necessity as it is to have clerks to wait on the customers.

While some of our merchants are fairly good advertisers, we are forced to admit that on the whole Durham is not a good advertising town.

TORONTO LADIES' QUARTETTE

IS A BRILLIANT COMPANY

The first of the Anglican Church's All-star Canadian Festival concerts for this season was given last night in the Town Hall and, if we are any judge, was a wonderful success.

Last night's program was put on by the Toronto Ladies' Quartette, and, with a change of program, we are confident the house would be packed again to-night.

In Miss Adie, the quartette has a star, and her singing from the first captivated her audience and held them spellbound.

Miss Jessie Irving, elocutionist, made her initial appearance in Durham, but we predict it will not be her last.

Miss Maud Buschlen is not new to Durham concert goers. They knew what to expect and they got it. As a violinist we doubt if Miss Buschlen has her equal.

Miss Jessie McAlpine is a new performer to Durham, but exhibited musical ability as a pianist seldom seen here.

PRESENTED WITH PURSE

ON DEPARTURE FROM GLENELG

Before leaving Glenelg to reside in Durham, Mr. and Mrs. William Fallaise were made the recipients of the following address and presentation by neighbors and friends:

Dear Friends—Your friends and neighbors have learned with regret that you are about to depart from our community.

As a slight token of our regard for you we would ask you to accept this purse. We trust that both the purse and its contents will remind you of happy days spent here.

Signed on behalf of friends and neighbors—Thomas H. Binnie, R. J. McGillivray, Henry Beaton.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From The Chronicle File of November 26, 1902.

Known—the celebrated gunmaker of Berlin, Germany, is dead. He leaves property estimated at over $75,000,000.

Mr. George McGrane, machinist at the cement works, was presented by the employees on Friday night with a diamond set gold ring.

Before leaving here for Harriston last week, Mr. R. J. S. Dewar of the Standard Bank was presented by the lacrosse boys with a solid gold pocket watch and chain.

On Wednesday of last week Mrs. Henry Farr departed this life at the age of 82 years, 5 months and 5 days.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Ferguson, was born in the County of Armagh, Ireland, on June 14, 1820.

Inspector Campbell says he has been travelling the roads of Grey for sixteen years and he never before saw them as bad in the fall as they are now.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. Abraham Cook of Traverston, which occurred on Friday morning last about 3 o'clock.

EDWARD HARRISON

There passed away on Wednesday, November 15, at his late residence, a highly respected citizen in the person of Edward Harrison.

The deceased has been a long and patient sufferer from rodent cancer on the eye. It started its deadly work about twenty years ago.

Mr. Harrison was one of the most patient of sufferers and has been faithfully nursed by his sister Liza (Mrs. John Staples).

He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, five sons and one daughter: Ben, of Artemesia; Tom and Joe of Egremont; Herb and Hardy of Proton, and Vina (Mrs. H. Falconer), of Durham.

The funeral took place Friday at 2 o'clock to Ebenezer cemetery. The pall-bearers were the five sons and one son-in-law, Mr. Harry Falconer of Durham.

BOB EDWARDS DEAD

EDITED CALGARY EYE-OPENER

R. C. Edwards, independent member of the Alberta Legislature for Calgary, and nationally known as the editor of The Calgary Eye Opener, died in Calgary Tuesday night of last week after a short illness, aged 58.

The entrance of "Bob" Edwards into politics was a surprise to many. The average man could scarcely reconcile the irrepressible and sometimes seemingly irresponsible editor of the Calgary Eye Opener with the cares and responsibilities attaching to a seat in the Alberta Legislature.

He was a graduate of Edinburgh University with the B.A. degree, and a grandson of the famous Robert Chambers, after whom he was named.

He was a very quiet, shy man, very nervous on the public platform; in fact, he avoided speechmaking whenever possible.

WITH THE U. S. MARINES

IN SANTO DOMINGO LAND

We had a letter a few days ago from Pte. Charles W. Wright, now in Santo Domingo at the training camp with the United States Marines. He is a son of Mr. Fred Wright up town and was well known to many of our citizens when here some three or four years ago.

SANTO DOMINGO LAND

There's a land in the tropical clime, Where all enjoy a wonderful time; Dancing to music of a tom-tom band, The happy folks of San Domingo land.

Tropical moons don't make me sad, For the music beneath is driving me mad;

The syncopated melodies can't be beat, They create a movement from head to feet.

The dusky flappers don't wear any shoes, When the bimboes play those tropical blues.

Now in the land where people don't care For society ball or a Vanity Fair, While cool profiteers don't have a chance

To take the pesos from a poor man's pants, Jazzy music can be well enjoyed,

'Cause with shimmy detectives they are not annoyed. The address given is: Pte. Charles W. Wright, 52nd Co., U. S. Marines, Santo Domingo, D. R.

Some intimate friend may wish to write him, we are sure he would appreciate a letter from his old home town.

BERKELEY POULTRY FARM

SECOND IN CANADA AND U. S.

The third Canadian Egg-laying Contest, held at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Ottawa was finished October 29, and J. S. Culp's pen of Barred Rocks have second place in the contest.

The winners of the final premier pen honors of the third Canadian Egg-laying Contest have been apparent for a considerable time, but it is now that the laurels are handed to the White Leghorns Pen No. 37, the property of Lewis N. Clark of Port Hope, Ont.

The birds that secure the second place are Barred Rocks, the property of Culp's Poultry Farm, Berkeley, Ont. Here again much credit is due for excellent work.

In third place, the Barred Rocks pen No. 14, belonging to Mr. A. Ham-burger, of Webster Grove, Mo., are due the honors, and the pen's total of 2,418 places them 58 eggs better than the next best.

nearly so harum-scarum as he depicted himself. Strange as it may seem in so caustic a critic of others, he was very sensitive himself of criticism.

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL OPEN;

Though no formal opening of the Red Cross Memorial Hospital has taken place, it is not that the hospital is not completed, but rather that with so many patients on the waiting list, it was decided by the board that the formal opening would have to wait, at present, or be cancelled altogether.

Though opened only last Friday, six major operations have already been performed and other patients will be admitted in the course of a few days.

Besides the regular hospital staff, three special nurses, Misses McKinnon of Priceville, Connolly of Hol-ston and Cross of Durham, have been engaged and are now on duty there.
