WOMEN AS BEEKEEPERS

A Work That Will Suit Their Natural Disposition.

No Better Opportunity Offered Country Girls—Beekeeping Has a Fascination for Female Apiarists—Cost of Starting and Probable Profits—Male Experts Approve.

The historic riddle propounded by Samson: "Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness," was answered by citing the lion and the honey; and even then there was a woman in it.

For years beekeeping for women was regarded as an unsolved riddle. To-day it is no puzzle, for both wives and maidens are making money at it.

No Better Opportunity for Country Girls.

A few years ago the writer interviewed five women who had made a success of apary work, and all of them were decidedly of opinion that there was a good chance for a girl or a married woman succeeding in beekeeping if she went about it the right way.

Miss Ethel Robson, of Ilderton, said: "For the girl who wished to make her living in the country there is no business that affords a better opportunity than the keeping of bees."

Miss Margaret W. Scott, of Meyersburg, went so far as to say that she believed beekeeping was an occupation for women rather than for men; that there is much to gain and little to lose in it.

The Work Suits Woman's Natural Disposition.

Miss M. B. Treverrow, of Meadowvale, observed that women were more and more turning to beekeeping. Much depended upon the individual. The work was healthful, being mainly out-of-doors during the summer.

Miss Mrs. G. A. Deadman, of Brussels, had a long experience in bee management. She said: "The apary has a fascination for the woman who goes earnestly into beekeeping. It is a healthful occupation, for it is largely out-of-door activity, and it gives one a change of work and thought.

Some Apary Costs.

Miss R. B. Pettit, of Georgetown, writing in January last, gives the following up-to-date information: "A woman can make it go, if she has sufficient initiative, energy and strength, and lastly if she likes the bees. Interest in the work and love of bees must be strong enough to overcome many difficulties besides the inevitable sting.

It would be well for her to begin with standard equipment—the ten-frame Langstroth hive for brood chamber—but would advise shallow supers, because of their lighter weight. The following list gives estimate of cost for start with two colonies:—

3 colonies bees with brood chamber bottom board and cover... $30.00 6 shallow supers with frames... 11.70 2 complete hives for swarms... 9.00 2 1/2 lbs. light brood foundation... 1.88 4 lbs. shallow foundation... 3.40 No. 2 smoker, $1.50; hive tool, 60c; back, 90c; spur wire embroider, 45c... 3.45 A. B. C. of Bee Culture... 3.00 $62.43

Ontario crop reports show an average of about 55 pounds per colony; prices vary as in other produce.

The number of colonies that can be profitably kept depends on the woman and on the location.

Probable Profits. Miss Jessie Lees, of Erindale, also writing in January, says: "For a strong woman with nerve and determination, I consider beekeeping a good healthy occupation. Starting in a small way with two colonies, the cost for bees and equipment for first year would be about $150, not including workshop.

Male Expert Approves of Women as Apiarists. Mr. Morley Pettit, of Georgetown, formerly Provincial Apiarist, says: "Through force of circumstances more women are actual beekeepers than the records show. There is no obstacle in honey producing that a woman cannot overcome with her ingenuity."

FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR ONE ADVERTISEMENT

This, says The Vancouver World, is the age for advertising. He that bloweth not his own horn the same it shall not be blown. It pays, too. You have often wondered what some of the big ads. cost in the magazines. Here's a secret. Five elements enter into the charge made: composition, press work, circulation, space, position. It cost exactly $15,000 for a full-page ad. in colors on the back page of the Ladies' Home Journal. No, not for a year—for one issue. You think it madness to pay that amount of money. People used to think so. Fifty years ago there was a hard headed business man who wouldn't have fallen off his chair if he had been asked to pay $15,000 for one advertisement. The firms compete now to secure in advance the right for positions at these high prices. Business men have learned that it pays to spend money in advertising because that, in the long run, is the most effective and least expensive way to sell goods.
