

For The Quiet Hour

OTHER LORDS—ONE LORD (Isaiah 26: 13.)

By A. F. MacGregor.

All souls are Thine, O Lord on high,
Dwell they afar, or be they nigh;
Thy light so sweet, Thy sky so fair:
No life but shares Thy tender care.

But other lords dispute Thy sway,
Disown Thy will, reject Thy way;
Whose unexamined love so free,
Atoned for sin on Calvary.

They serve Thee well, who serve in all;
Whate'er of good or ill befall;
One thought, one purpose ever strong—
To do the right, to shun the wrong.

From vice, low rule, and Mammon's power,
From sudden fall in darkest hour,
Grant us, strong Son of God, release;
O keep us, till sin's temptings cease.

Great Lord of Lords, peace flows from Thee,
And blessedness and liberty;
Angels and men shall prostrate fall,
And crown Thee only, Lord of all.
Niagara.

AMONG THE MANY BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTES TO THE LIFE and genius of Sir William Robertson Nicoll recorded in the special memorial number of The British Weekly, Rev. Dr. Jowett, who had a long personal association with the noted journalist, places the gift of encouragement and the gift of comfort as pre-eminent in Sir William's life. Part of his words will bear repetition. "Everybody knows how he discovered men—discovered them not only to their fellows, but to themselves. He amazed them by his confidence in their powers. And their genius unthrottled by his confidence in their powers. And their genius unfolded in his confidence as flowers unfold when the kindling sun folds at them. But the discovery of big men like Barrie did not exhaust his exploring ministry. He touched smaller men with the same recognition of their talents and they added a cubit to their stature. His letters of encouragement, if they could be gathered together, would surely form a wonderful book. "And to his ministry of encouragement I must add his ministry of comfort. He was one of those whom the Apostle Paul describes as 'able to comfort.' It is the gift which discovers another which anyone can possess. It is the gift which discovers another man's hidden wounds and ministers balm and healing. At two or three troubled times in my own life that living word has come to me. Can I ever forget the letter he sent me a year ago when, in broken health, I laid aside the word of healing had come through the recollection of personal pain and sorrow. They tell me that honey can gather a distinctive flavor from the particular flowers in whose hearts it was gathered. And there is a sort of comfort which has been found in the fields of grief: 'Able to comfort with the comfort wherewith we have been comforted of God.' Dr. Nicoll had that gift, as I knew full well, and it was perhaps one of the richest gifts in all his richly dowered soul."

OF INTEREST TO ALL EVANGELICAL DENOMINATIONS is the work of the British and Foreign Bible Society, which has just held its 119th anniversary meeting in London. Having for its one object the giving of the Word of God to every man in his own tongue, the platform of the society unites men of varied views regarding Scriptural interpretation but animated with a common desire to send forth the Word of Life without note or comment and let it speak to the heart for itself. During the past year eight new languages have been added to the list in which the society is publishing the Scriptures, making a total of 558 tribes and races who have some part of the Bible in their native tongue. In 136 languages the complete Bible is being published and the New Testament in 130 more. Since the beginning of the list present century 180 forms of speech have been added to the list of languages and dialects in which the Scriptures are published. During the past year the number of volumes issued amounted to 8,679,384. So, year by year, the work goes on and the Word to 8,679,384. By the millions of copies is circulated abroad, scattering the darkness of superstition and unbelief and bringing light, liberty and life wherever it goes.

AN AMERICAN COLLEGE PRESIDENT HAS MADE A CAREFUL calculation of various items of expenditure by the people of the United States. He says: "We spend every year $2,100,000,000 for tobacco; one thousand millions for movies, two thousand millions for candy, 1,950 millions for perfumes, cosmetics, etc., 500 millions for jewelry, 350 millions for furs, 300 millions for soft drinks, 50 millions for chewing gum, 3,000 millions for joy-rides, pleasure resorts and the like. For luxuries we spend 22,700 millions. Against this we spend over 1,000 millions for education, 650 millions for grade schools, 150 millions for colleges, and professional schools, 100 millions for public high schools, and $20,500,000 for normal schools, and $25,000,000 for all church schools and colleges."

A SINGLE INCIDENT AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Federal Council at Indianapolis, so beautiful and so dramatic as to be unforgettable, was a living symbol both of the spirit of inter-racial good-will and of the new day that is dawning in inter-racial America. The venerable and beloved dean of the Vanderbilt Theological Seminary, Dr. Wilbur F. Tillet, of Nashville, Tenn., recalling the days when his father, a Methodist minister, was a slave-owner, announced with deep feeling: "And now they sit in this Council, on equal footing, as official representatives of their own churches, the son of that Methodist preacher and the son of that Methodist preacher's favorite slave! Within the lifetime of a single generation slave and master meet in Christian service on common ground." Then, calling to the platform Dr. S. G. Atkins, principal of the Slater Normal School of Winston-Salem, N.C., and one of the leading educators in the South, Dean Tillet stretched out his hand and said: "If thy heart be as my heart, give me thy hand!" Tears rose to many eyes as with clasped hands they stood before the assembly.

THE U. F. CHURCH OF SCOTLAND MISSIONARY RECORD tells the following touching and suggestive story of the late Dr. Denney: "Shortly before Principal Denney died, an old student, the Rev. Maurice Frater, author of 'Midst Volcanic Fires,' a well known New Hebridean missionary, called on him to show him a copy of a large part of the New Testament which he had translated into one of the native dialects of the New Hebrides, and to obtain his counsel and advice on some matters connected with the translation. Principal Denney reverently took the translation into his hands, quietly handed it back to the missionary without making any suggestion or correction, and, with tears in his eyes, said: 'I would give my whole life-work, both as minister and professor, to have done that.'"

THE THIRD CONGRESS OF THE BAPTIST WORLD ALLIANCE is to be held in Stockholm, Sweden, July 21-28, 1923. It is expected that the Baptists of continental Europe, of England, Canada and Australia will be represented by large and enthusiastic delegations, and that at least one thousand will attend from the Northern and Southern Baptist conventions of the United States. This congress would have been held in 1916 had it not been for the World War. When the 1911 Alliance met in Philadelphia it was expected that the next meeting would be held in Germany. Because of the unsettled conditions in Germany the executive committee of the Alliance wisely decided that it would not be best for the congress to go there.

AN ARTICLE BY BISHOP FRANCIS J. MCCONNELL IN THE Locomotive Engineers' Journal for March is being widely quoted, particularly the paragraph in which he says: "The laborers claim to be followers of Christ—even though they are outside of the Church. If they are followers of Christ, why can they not organize that fact into a Christian organization? Let the organization stand at first outside of all relationship to the other ecclesiastical organizations until mutual fear and suspicion can be overcome. Let a labor Church start at first with only a laborer's Christ. We could trust both Labor and the Christ soon to advance to a Christ of all men."—Congregationalist.

SOON AFTER THE OPENING OF THE SUSPENSION bridge over the Niagara River, a tourist about to cross it, said: "It looks like a spider's web; I am afraid to cross it." "It has been tried," said the guide. "The promises of the Bible have been tried, and fulfilled, and its threatenings have not swerved one letter from the word."

The result of the McGill Medical examinations shows that A. W. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hunter, has taken aggregate honors in all subjects. Our life is threatened if we make any editorial comment on this and in order to spare the crimson blushes of the bashful young "med." we simply offer congratulations.

The library and reading room, down town for the past six or seven months, has not been sufficiently well patronized to justify the additional cost for rent, and the Library Board has decided to return to the old quarters on the hillside.

Good progress is being made on Sparling's new house on Bruce St. The foundation of Catton's, alongside of it, is completed.

Flora McCormick, widow of the late John McCormick, and mother of Mr. Charles McKinnon of town, died at her home near the Rocky on June 7. She was 73 years of age, a native of Mull, Argyllshire, Scotland, came to Canada in 1846, married in 1856. She leaves six sons and one daughter. The sons are: Charles, John and Allan, in Durham, Donald and John Jr., Toronto, Malcolm at Port Arthur and Angus at home.

AN INTELLIGENT JURY

In a breach of promise trial at Toronto a jury awarded the young lady plaintiff damages to the amount of $4,800. Chief Justice Sir William Mulock disagreed with the jury's finding and expressed his opinion of the verdict quite forcibly. It was an intelligent jury, however, and one of the jurymen, with firmness and dignity, replied to the judge's objection and, according to press reports, did not come out second best. As a matter of fact, the jury didn't scare worth a cent. The same thing has occurred before, but the jury generally sat in fear and trembling. The above incident is refreshing. High court judges, as a rule, on the bench are inclined to become a little autocratic and domineering, and when a jury's verdict does not suit them they light into the jury. On few occasions are they "sassed" back. If a judge has the idea that he should run the whole works, why go to the expense of having a jury at all?

A Bank, like an individual, is known by the company it keeps—in other words, every bank has a distinct character. This Bank has been so closely associated with rural development in the past half century that it is now characterized as the Farmer's Partner. THE TOWNSHIP OF GLENELG
Take Glenelg, and you can spell it backwards and forwards the same. "Glenann" is a Gaelic word meaning a valley, so to give the whole of it is "Gleanneilg."

To those whose business it is to travel Glenelg all over, they find that it contains a lot of Glens, hills and valleys, rocks and stones in some parts, but passing over these faults, we find a goodly number of fine farmers and fine farms, and a fine class of people of different nationalities, chiefly Irish, English and Scotch; of different religious principals, viz., Roman Catholic, Methodist, Church of England, Baptist, Presbyterian, and very few of other religious denominations.

There are two Catholic churches, one at Dornoch and one at Pomona; two Methodist churches, one at Zion, Concession 6, and one at Ebenezer, Con. 4, S.D.R.; two Baptist churches, one at Glenelg Centre and one on Concession 10, and only one Presbyterian church, at the Rocky Saugen, Garafraxa Road. But to enumerate the different denominations, we believe the Presbyterians have the majority. They go from Glenelg to Durham church, and to Pricerville, Dornoch and Markdale. Probably Catholics come next, Methodists 3rd, and Baptists 4th.

There are nine Public schools and three Separate schools.

Crops, in general, in Glenelg have a fine-looking appearance. The wet didn't affect them much; only an odd place here and there were drowned out by the recent rains, but the June rains are the life of the meadow fields.

Election talk is general till the election is over and then everybody will propose some other subject. It is now: Who are you going to vote for? An old Lowlander in Glenelg was once asked who he was going to vote for as Councillors. He said: "I'll answer nae such question. I have a mind of my ain." So a goodly number at this election have a mind of their own, also.

A month from to-day is the 12th of July. How swiftly time flies. The backward spring and seeding caused the time to go by unnoticed. So with the poor old farmer, he hasn't much rest till haying time. The weather has a fine-looking appearance to-day and fine growing weather.
