

Quebec, the Old World Province

1. The Citéche, a means of conveyance much favoured by visitors to Quebec.
 2. An old brick oven, the like of which was used in France four centuries ago.
 3. Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, the most modern hostelry on the continent, from a glorious height looks down on old Quebec and on the early battle fields.
 4. Ancient and modern. The little cannon captured by the British at Bunker Hill, rests near the Quebec Citadel by the side of a howitzer which fell to the Canadians in the Great War.
 5. Though their farms are modern, some farmers still use the ox as beast of burden in the back country.

THESE are just a few pictures taken in Quebec. It is not without reason that this province is becoming the tourist resort of the continent, for here is a country of utmost fascination and intrigue. Quebec has an atmosphere all its own and, if it can be said, more of an old-world atmosphere than has the old-world of today. Quebec is the eighteenth century keeping pace with the twentieth, yet retaining its identity.

One stops at little wayside shrines. The wooden cross, the patron saint in effigy, the nurtured flowers, the woman at her distaff, the white-walled houses close at hand transport you to the distant land from whence the original settlers came. Yet, over there, beyond that little hedge or cedar fence the farmer gathers in his crop with up-to-date machinery, and stores it in a modern barn. Behind, the hum of the telegraph wire reminds you that you are not living in a by-gone day and, if that is not enough, through the not too distant fields, a huge train thunders.

Near the white walls the lady of the house draws water from the old-fashioned well, and bakes her bread in an old brick oven, the like of which was used by her ancestors in France four centuries ago. She spins her own wool and shares with her husband a faith, which though not old-fashioned, is almost as old as the Christian era. A kindly hospitable soul is she, nor is she always backward in learning, for she probably attended the convent of the Ursulines at Quebec, or la petite école at Louiseville. And her husband—he may be content to wear the homespun, to sit around the fire, or on the threshold at night, to smoke his "Rouge Quésnel" and to drive five miles to church early on all holidays in his buggy or in the straw lined cart that is used about the farm, but he "knows his letters" and, better still, he knows how to farm.

The Quebec farm is usually up-to-date. Your "habitant" gets all that can be got from the soil, and if you sit with him and talk you will see that he gets the fullness of life too. Give him the simple pleasures. He is happy if he can re-tell the story of the big moose he shot by "Lac Saint Pierre" and the bear. He is some trapper too, "for sure I catch him lots of skin, me!"

The "old man," the "old woman" and that large, very large family, are content as seldom people are, and rightly so, for theirs is a rich heritage, and beautiful. The mighty St. Lawrence and its thousand tributaries, the glorious Laurentians, with their wooded slopes, the forests, lakes and myriad streams give them a country almost unexcelled for beauty. Game and fish abound as has been discovered by sportsmen from outside. Moose, trout, maskinonge, the big black bass, bear, deer and caribou.

From a historians point of view Quebec is the hunting ground of the continent. Quebec city is one huge souvenir of the early days of Canadian settlement. Lost and re-captured several times her old Walls still bear the marks of storm, and the old cannons still guard the city and the approaches to the citadel.

The history of Quebec is the history of Canada, priest, soldier and pioneer settler each having played a glorious part in the making of it. With the fair Dominion as a lasting memorial to their valor and courage, Quebec links them with the present day; their faith, piety, and the work they commenced are being preserved and carried on by the present generation. The relics of their day scattered here and there, and on almost every street, look down or out upon the most modern improvements of the age, the railways, and the huge Canadian Pacific and other steamships at the docks, but lose not their identity, and in the case of buildings and public places, their charm and interest.

All through Quebec province, and in the most unexpected places one comes across historic links with the past. Like her people Quebec is quiet, peaceful, and does not crave the limelight, but Quebec is not and cannot be overlooked. It is an old world, full of charm, within the new.

Quite a number of our people spent a few days at the Exhibition this year. Mrs. E. P. Royley, Miss Bella McMillan, Mrs. C. A. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Sim, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Pinkerton, Mr. Angus Kennedy, Dr. Carr and Mrs. W. Aldern.

Mr. A. B. McArthur is home again from the city after spending a few months there at his trade as a brick-layer.

Flesherton High school has taken a number of our young folk this year among them being Doris McLean, Leone McDonald, Leroy McDonald, Alex. McLean, Esther McLean, Murray Nichol, Anna Shortreed, Murray Watson, Leonard McArthur, Clifford and Alfred Hincks.

We are glad to see another young man taking to himself a wife, Mr. Archie Whyte, formerly of the Old Durham Road, East, now of Toronto. The young couple are visiting with friends here, and we wish them many years of happiness together.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McDonald returned to Ottawa last week.

Our girls of the teaching profession are scattered again. Miss Edna Nichol goes to the Stone school, North Line, Artemesia; Miss V. Watson to near Guelph; Louise Watson to Beaton, Anna Mary McLean, near Caledon, and Miss Margaret Tryon to Toronto.

Our two new teachers, Miss L. McFarlane of Owen Sound, and Miss B. Jelly of Shelburne, are with us now and well into the harness. Both teachers come highly recommended.

Miss Bessie Jones has gone to the city to attend High school.

We hear that our pastor, Rev. C. S. Jones, has received a call to Watford, near Hamilton, and although the call has not been confirmed by the two Presbyteries, yet we are likely to lose Mr. Jones, as it represents a real step forward for him. Our loss means Watford's gain, as Rev. and Mrs. Jones have won their way into the activities of our community.

Major J. M. McGillivray is in the city on a business trip.

The Good Roads are again in full swing. We wonder how long they will work this fall?

Can't we get some more householders to take electric current into their homes? Do try it.

Mrs. James McDonald and daughter of New Ontario are visiting with friends here.

Rev. W. E. Curran and family are back after their holiday.

Miss Jean Buckham is visiting with her mother for a while.

Mrs. Mary Ball of Chicago is visiting Miss M. A. McLean of the village.

Miss Annabel McLeod of the Durham Hospital staff is spending a few weeks with her father, Mr. A. D. McLeod.

Miss Bertha Mepham of Hamilton is holidaying with Mrs. J. McMeekin.

Mr. P. J. Gardiner is visiting with friends near Owen Sound.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Falkingham and Mrs. McLean of Durham called on friends in town this week.

Mrs. Mather and daughter Elizabeth, are visiting friends at Dornoch this week.

Miss V. R. McMillan returned last week from visiting friends at Portage La Prairie, Manitoba.

Dr. Mary Tryon returned to Detroit after a short visit to her father, Mr. G. W. Tryon.

Miss Mary Black and friends motored over from Niagara district, in New York State, for a holiday visit with her uncle, J. J. McRae.

Mrs. Dan. Campbell spent a few days in Niagara with her sister, Mrs. George McLellan.

We had some frost one night last week that injured corn and potatoes in the low ground slightly.

During the sharp thunderstorm on Friday morning of last week the barn on Angus Clark's farm, town line of Glenelg, one mile north of the village, was burned by lightning. Mr. Clark had about three loads of hay in the barn and Alex. Carson, who formerly worked the farm, in addition to his own, had 20 tons of hay stored in the same barn. Clark had about $400 insurance in the Grey & Bruce, but we do not know whether Carson's portion covers this portion of his crop or not. It is a bad loss to both these men.

The same morning lightning fired a barn 1 1/2 miles farther north on the 5th Concession of Glenelg, owned by D. McDonald, and burned it to the ground. The owner was insured in the Sydenham Mutual and had his policy reduced $1,000 when he had the barn rodded, thinking it a protection, but all is gone. A large portion of the season's crop and some implements were destroyed. The remaining insurance was about $2,000, we understand.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Karstedt motored to the city the beginning of the week and may remain a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Haliburton of Toronto are spending the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Everest in town.

R. J. Woods, M.P., of Corbetton, conducted service in the Methodist Church last Sunday morning and the congregation listened attentively to a good sermon.

Mr. George McKechnie, wife and children of Gloversville, N.Y., motored over last week and visited friends in Creemore, Owen Sound, Priceville and Durham, returning home this week. McKechnie Bros. are manufacturing gloves and are doing a good business.
