

Priceville.

(Our own correspondent.)

Fall Fairs are the order of the day. We are glad to hear that Dr. Carr of our village captured first at Durham Fair with his fine driver, against a good field of exhibits.

Rev. Jones held a sale on Monday of this week to dispose of such goods as will not be required on his new field at Waterdown.

Mrs. Margaret Guthers of Cleveland is visiting friends in the village for a few days.

Miss Margaret Stohart, Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson, and Mrs. Ramsdell of the States are visiting their home at present. Mrs. Ramsdell has just returned from a trip to the Old Land and Europe, where, we hear, she visited some of the old battlefields of the Western Front. We would like to hear of the present-day conditions from such a source as Mrs. Ramsdell, as she would be able to give an excellent picture of what we have all heard so much about and yet find so hard to credit.

Miss Margaret McLean, one-time resident of the South Line, Glenelg, visited friends here for a few days over the week-end.

Dr. and Mrs. E. C. McFarlane and daughter Betty, of Arthur, renewed acquaintance with friends here by a short call on Sunday. All looked well and appear to enjoy their short visits to Priceville.

We were very sorry to see the magnificent collier belonging to the Rev. Curran suffering from what would appear to be a scalded side, the hide being all peeled off. Some person with what would appear to be less intelligence than a dog must have committed the inhuman act. The collier seems an inoffensive and affectionate brute and such an act should be punished.

An informal gathering of the people of this community was held in the Presbyterian Church on Monday evening last to meet the Rev. C. S. Jones and family before they left our village and to wish them goodspeed in their new field. Mr. A. McCuaig occupied the chair and a short program consisting of recitations by E. McLean and W. McKenzie, short speeches by Major McGillivray, P. Muir and Thomas Nichol, and music by Mrs. H. B. McLean, Miss R. Muir, A. B. McDonald and R. J. Sim in quartette, Mrs. A. B. McDonald assisting in an able manner on the organ.

A nice address accompanied the presentation by the Ladies Missionary Society, was ably handled by Miss Mae Stewart and Mrs. D. G. McLean for Mrs. Jones, and following an address and purse to Mr. Jones by A. B. McDonald and Major McGillivray, and signed by the various organizations in which Mr. Jones was an active worker. Mr. Jones responded in his usual hearty manner, after which the gathering went to the basement where an excellent lunch was served by the ladies of the community. A really enjoyable half hour was spent. The following is a copy of the address to Mr. Jones:

Dear Pastor.—As you are about to depart from our midst we, a few of your friends, have met together this evening to try and express to you and your worthy helper our appreciation of the many ways in which you both have shown yourselves worthy of the position of responsibility which you occupy.

Your valued services are particularly outstanding in the able manner in which you have succeeded with the young people. Our Young Men's Club took form under your careful management and as a result many enjoyable evenings were spent and the principle of clean sportsmanship upheld. The entertainments, with the hearty co-operation of your family, and usually under your tuition afforded keen enjoyment to all. Your ready acquiescence to assist in our community activities can hardly be overlooked or forgotten. The active part in assisting in an executive capacity in our Fall Fair is another feature and your absence will be very strongly felt. Our Young People's Guild is another child fostered under your careful management until now it is at least no longer an infant, but a grown child, reaching out, and more or less self-sustaining. These few examples of the practical application of the doctrine you preach, yes, practise to a very great degree, will leave a vacancy very hard to fill. The few years you have been with us has been a period of outstanding ministering to the wants of your extensive charge. No storm has been too severe, where misfortune was, to keep you from your duty. No duty too arduous when His representative was needed, irrespective of creed. Such services must, indeed, be appreciated, and although you may be leaving us we will long remember you. What does distance mean when sincere respect is felt between individuals. Life can hold nothing more sacred than the deep, consistent friendship of man for man, and when one has chosen what is truly the noblest of life's callings, and when he preaches and practises the same, how much deeper must be the respect for that man? Such friendship, Mr. Jones, you are leaving behind you. Insofar as one man can live in accord with his fellow man, we believe you have done so.

We sincerely regret your removal from this field, yet we rejoice with you in that you go to a field where maybe your ability will be more severely tested and where a faithful stewardship will be more strenuously required. We are glad that your call comes at a time when we believe you are to receive benefits as well as lavish them, as we know you will do.

Four years ago we called you to our midst. Can we not be pardoned, therefore, in our petty selfishness in being sorry to lose you. You were worthy then. You are many times more worthy now. You have been tried in the fire and found genuine.

In leaving, you take the very best wishes for the future of yourself as a minister of God. "May your works prosper mightily." For your helper and family, may their efforts ever secure the rewards so justly earned. Lacking other means of expression we tender you this purse. Its value is nothing but the goodwill that prompts the giving we consider as worthy of your acceptance. Take the purse. May it always be full, and the goodwill must go with it, as we are helpers in the face of circumstances to withhold it.

Signed.—

Peter Muir, for Session,
W. G. Watson, for Men's Club,
J. M. McGillivray, for Sunday School,
(W. McKenzie, for Young People's Guild.

Holstein

(Our own correspondent.)

The annual School Fair for the Township of Egremont was held in the village on Tuesday last. There was a record attendance, as fully 700 people were on the grounds. The weather was threatening but did not particularly interfere with the day's program. The whole affair was under the direction and management of Mr. T. S. Cooper of Markdale, and was carried out without a hitch. The following schools competed in the exhibits:

Union No. 2, Egremont & Normanby, Nos. 3, 4, 9, 10, 11 and 12.

The schools lined up on the school grounds and marched to the park. The competition in the marching and drills was keen. The judges awarded the prizes as follows:

First, S.S. No. 12; 2nd, S.S. No. 3; 3rd, S.S. No. 4; 4th, S.S. No. 11.

This was followed by the presenting of the medal presented by the Women's Institute to the pupil taking the highest standing of those who wrote on the Entrance examination in 1933 at Holstein centre. Miss Margaret Arnill of Holstein Public School was the successful pupil.

Mr. W. J. Sharpe made the address and Miss B. Davidson, teacher, presented the medal.

Following this, the pupils Public Speaking contest was brought on. There were four competitors, three girls and one boy. Olive West of Holstein school was awarded first prize. I. Plester of S.S. No. 11 2nd, and C. McLean of S.S. No. 11 3rd. Donald Gardner of S.S. No. 11 was awarded 1st prize, the only boy entering the competition.

Following this, came the races for girls and boys. These were keenly contested in all classes.

Mr. Cooper and his efficient staff are to be congratulated for the success of the event as is also the keen competition in the exhibits.

The park is now in excellent condition for amusement and entertainment. The athletic grounds at the rear of the park need a good deal of attention to put them in proper condition for sporting events.

Will Crawford and wife, Wes. Aiken and wife, of Allentown, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fenton during the week-end.

Miss Violet Swan of Prescott is the guest of Mrs. Adam Main at present.
