MORE LESSONS FROM JUDAISM

Judaism is superior to Christianity in several—and very important—respects, in the opinion of Dr. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Community Church of New York City. His words are quoted with approval by The Sentinel, a Jewish weekly published in Chicago, which recalls to us that Dr. Holmes is a leading liberal clergyman.

not be endorsed by orthodox Christians, admits The Sentinel, but it says "the mere fact that a clergyman who calls himself a Christian should speak of the superiority of Judaism over Christianity is in itself a significant sign of the times."

"On the whole, it is worthy of note that Judaism is in our day beginning to receive its due estimate at the hands of Christians. Foremost among the defenders of Judaism among Gentiles in this country is undoubtedly Prof. George Foot Moore of Harvard, whose recent work on Judaism has made a tremendous impression upon Christian scholars, and we believe that it is Professor Moore's opus magnum which has influenced Dr. Holmes to preach his unique sermon.

"In a recent editorial we stated that the attention which Gentiles are now paying to Judaism will force Jews to an even greater interest in the faith of their fathers. We understand that Dr. Holmes has in his Community Church a number of Jews who joined his ranks because they said that Judaism is not sufficiently liberal to suit their progressive ideas. What was the reaction of these ultra-advanced Jews toward Dr. Holmes' recent sermon? How did they reconcile Dr. Holmes' ideas with their action? We wonder."

Ducking a Thunderbolt

"Who's that behind us, Fred?" asked the man at the wheel as a car hooded.

"A flapper in a roadster," Fred answered.

The driver hurled his wheel over, swerved the car off the road, crashed through a fence, and turned turtle.

"Thank heaven we escaped!" he muttered.—Smith's Weekly (Sydney).

Bringing Up Father

"I wish to goodness I could go home, but dad wants to stop for three more dances."

"I know, my dear; they're a trial. But, after all, one can only be old once."—Punch.
