EMPEROR WILLIAM'S MAIL.

How His Very Large Mail is Handled by the Officials.
The Emperor of Germany has a little post office of his own, with officials detailed especially to handle the voluminous mail matter that comes every day addressed to him.
All letters are classified under the three heads, "Private," "Official" and "Immediate." Private letters are handed over to the Emperor unopened, while those marked "Official" land in the civil cabinet of the Kaiser if they contain petitions by civilians, while those of a military character go to the military cabinet. Chiefs of these two departments make all the necessary inquiries regarding the communications and then prepare the answers in accordance with the regulations for official letters. These answers are taken to the Emperor, who expresses his approval by affixing his signature. Answers are then despatched by special messengers to their destination. The messengers used in this service are the most trustworthy men who can be found.

EVIDENTLY DEAD.

Magninis had been ill for some time, and, like a great many invalids, he was somewhat irritable, and when things failed to meet his approval the first unfortunate who came within range was pretty apt to be reminded of it, in a way far more forcible than polite. He lingered in this condition for several weeks, daily growing weaker, but still holding his own sufficiently to make things lively and more or less interesting for those about him.

Finally, one day, when the family doctor called, he met the long-suffering Mrs. Magninis coming out of the sick-room, and, rubbing his hands, he cheerily remarked: Ah, good-morning, Mrs. Magninis. How is our patient to-day?

"It's dead the poor man is, 'Oim after thinkin' Hivin rist his soul! was the resigned reply.

You think he is dead? Don't you know whether he is or not? demanded the doctor.

Not for shure, responded Mrs. Magninis, briskly; but thin he betrays every symptom of it. I wint into his room jist now, an' he didn't t'row anything at me!

PATTI'S YOUNG EYES.

The birth certificate of Adelina Patti, recently found at Madrid, places the time of birth of the prima donna at 1843.
So Patti at 55 is still the admired of all the world. Patti is still youthful with eyes that are—as described by a Berlin paper—"absolutely young."

When in New York, not many years ago, Patti told the writer the secret of her young eyes.
"I never sleep at night," said she, "if I can help it. It does not hurt the eyes, if you sleep afterward. I bathe my eyes in hot and cold water, as feels best. I do a great many things I am told never to do. But I also observe certain rules. I never read at twilight or when hungry. I sleep fully nine hours, more if I need it. I eat lightly many times a day. I keep my eyes free by not making them tired. That is all."

Healthy, Happy Girls

OFTEN BECOME LANGUID FROM NO APPARENT CAUSE.

The Blood is a Vital Element—It Must Be Kept Pure, Rich and Red—Only in This Way Can Young Girls Attain Perfect Health.

In the early days of her womanhood every girl—no matter her station in life—should be bright, active, cheerful and happy; her step should be light, her eye bright and her cheeks rosy with the glow of health. But the reverse is the unfortunate condition of thousands of young girls throughout the Dominion. They drag along, always tired, never hungry, breathless and with a palpitating heart after slight exercise, so that merely to go up stairs is exhausting. If a doctor is consulted he tells them that they are anemic—the plain English for which is they have too little blood—and unless a powerful blood-enriching, nerve-restoring tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is taken to restore health, decline and an early grave is only too likely to follow.

The benefit which follows the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is amply illustrated by the following testimonial from Miss Ida Bookman, of Markville, Ont. Miss Bookman says: "It gives me much pleasure to acknowledge the benefit I have derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My health was completely broken down; I became so weak I could scarcely walk across a room. I was very pale, had no appetite and gradually lost flesh until I was merely a skeleton. I was subject to palpitation of the heart, dizziness and violent headaches. I was under treatment from two doctors, but neither seemed to benefit me and I went on in this way for about seven months. Having seen Dr. Williams' Pink Pills recommended I determined to try them. Before I finished the second box I began to improve and by the time I had used eight boxes I was as well as ever I had been, and had gained 22 pounds in weight. I am grateful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me and freely give this testimonial in the hope that it may benefit some other girl suffering as I was."

More pale and bloodless girls have been made bright, active and strong by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than by any other means. Mothers should see that their daughters entering womanhood are strengthened and invigorated by the use of the great blood-making tonic. Sold by all dealers or sent post paid at $6 a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WOMEN NOT GOOD TO EAT.

American Cannibals Who Ignore the "Woman's Century."
"Woman is not good to eat." That is one of the maxims laid down by the only American cannibal tribe, the Chunchos, who live in the mountainous border lands on the eastern verge of Peru.
These Chunchos are justly feared and hated by the Peruvians of the foothills and plains. They have been cannibals from the time of the Incas, and always, as now, fierce, wild, and unapproachable.
The Chunchos, of whom the fiercest tribes are called Antes and Casabeas, regard woman as a creature of altogether inferior nature than man. Her duty is to till the fields and look after the children. Her flesh is poisonous, they say, because she is an impure being.

CLOTHING THE LIMBS IN WINTER.

It is surprising that it is necessary to emphasize the fact that the arms and legs need warm clothing in winter even more than the trunk of the body. But it is a common sight to see women on the street with their shoulders well protected by heavy wraps and furs, while their arms bear evidence of much lighter covering. Every woman's physician knows that not one woman in a hundred properly clothes the lower extremities in winter. Even little children, although not often subjected to the inhumanity of absolute bare arms and legs in cold weather, are to a greater or less degree victims of this fatal carelessness and neglect.

LOOKING FOR A SCRAP.

The tramp had been very impudent and dictatorial, and the hired man expected made his appearance and inquired:
"Are you lookin' for a scrap?"
His manner changed entirely, and at once he answered:
"Yes, sir; that's what I'm lookin' for—a scrap of cold turkey or cold ham, or anything that happens to be handy."

NORTH AMERICAN LIFE.

The annual meeting of this company was held in the company's building here on Thursday, February 2nd, 1899, when Mr. John L. Blaikie was appointed chairman, and Mr. William McCabe secretary.

SUMMARY OF THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT AND BALANCE SHEET FOR THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER, 31ST, 1898.

Cash Income	785,130.81
Expenditure, including death claims, endowments, matured investment, policies, profits, and all other payments to policy-holders	442,919.07
Assets	3,137,828.61
Reserve Fund	2,585,947.00
Net Surplus or "Policy"	551,881.61
Assets	474,029.08

Audited and found correct.
Jas. Carlyle, M.D., W. McCabe, Auditor. Managing Director.

Some of the leading features of the year's business as mentioned by the president were the following:—
1. The report submitted shows financial strength, productive assets, solid growth, and large relative surplus, which is the supreme point to policy-holders, as it is from this source alone that satisfactory returns can be made to them.
2. The new business for the year exceeded that of any previous year.
3. Another marked feature of this company is the relatively large amount of its net surplus to liabilities, when contrasted with that of its leading competitors. The president showed that this ratio was one of the best tests by which to judge of the relative merits of the different companies.
4. The following marked increases were made during the year:

Per Cent.
In Premium Income	11.56
In Interest Income	13.11
In Insurance in force	13.15
In Assets	13.91
In Net Surplus	10.73
In Insurance Reserve	15.18

The president stated that the gentlemen representing the United States Insurance Departments had been in the city during part of last month and had made a thorough and most searching investigation into the affairs of the company, with a view to its admission to do business in their respective States, and that these experts were extremely well satisfied with the soundness of the company, and expressed themselves as gratified with every aspect of its affairs.
The Hon. Mr. Allan, in seconding the adoption of the report, called special attention to the excellent character of the investments of the Company, of these over 37 per cent. are in the first mortgage securities, nearly 20 per cent. in debentures, nearly 14 per cent. in stocks and bonds, loans and policies about 6-1/2 per cent., interest accrued, etc.

He also called special attention to the fact that although the assets had increased very largely, the outstanding debt had decreased, which is a proof of the excellent character of the investments of the Company, and the promptness with which the interest thereon has been paid.

James Thorburn, M.D., medical director, presented a full and interesting report of the mortality experience of the company from its organization, which showed that great care had been exercised in the selection of the company's business.
The consulting actuary reported that he had made an independent examination of the affairs of the company as at December 31st, 1898, having examined the books, accounts and policy sheet, also a detailed copy of the annual report to the Insurance Department, and stated that he was very much gratified with the result of such examination, also with the thorough system of the work of every department throughout the office. He commended the company for closing its books promptly at the end of the year, as had been its custom from organization, and stated that notwithstanding the large amount paid the policy-holders during the year, another substantial gain had been made in the net surplus, now amounting to $74,029.08 or if made up on the same basis as that generally used, viz., by adding the difference between the cost and market value of debentures, etc., owned by the company, such surplus would be $522,004.88. He referred to the great difficulty which has been experienced of late years in securing satisfactory investments, and pointed out the great decline in the rate of interest which edge-edge securities yielded. In view of this he stated that the settlements of the company's investment policies should be highly satisfactory to the holders thereof, as they compare favorably with those of the leading and best managed companies on this continent.

A special vote of thanks was unanimously tendered to the Company's Provincial managers, inspectors, and agency staff, for their splendid work of the past year, during which the largest business ever done by the company had been secured, largely exceeding that of any other home company at the same age in its history. After the usual vote of thanks had been passed, the newly-elected directors took place, whereupon the newly-elected board met, and Mr. John L. Blaikie was unanimously re-elected president and the Honourable G. W. Allan and Sir Frank Smith, vice-presidents.

PHOSPHATES AS A SOURCE OF FERTILITY.

As set forth in the analysis under which it is sold, Thomas-Phosphate in its best samples is nearly one-half composed of phosphates, and its importance as a manure for wheat must be admitted when it is remembered that the ashes of the grain of wheat consists of over 70 per cent. of phosphates. This phosphate is capable of supplying fully three parts out of the four of the constituents of a crop of wheat. No wonder when judiciously applied that wheat and other cereal crops, all of which are largely dependent on phosphates, derive immense benefits by its use as a manure agent. But beyond this, there are other good reasons why cereals, as well as clovers, etc., should luxuriate when it is applied. The difficulty of accounting for the crops I have seen and heard of, if merely its phosphate of lime was taken into account, induced me to devote considerable time and attention in the hope of obtaining a better understanding of its nature and trying to gauge, through a knowledge of the process by which it is evolved, the why and the wherefore of the aid it furnishes to vegetable production, and the reason of its fertility that follows its use as a plant food.

These researches have shown me, in the first place, that instead of the phosphates present in it being all in the form of the phosphate of lime, they are largely composed of phosphate of magnesia, which as far as wheat is concerned, and in smaller degree all other cereals as well, is of far greater importance than phosphate of lime, the ashes of the grain showing between four and five times as much of former as they do of the latter.

Practical agriculturists will at once realize that the application of a substance rich in both these phosphatic elements of wheat food must necessarily be sounder practice than using a phosphatic manure which has only lime for a base, and I would impress upon them the importance that probably may result from this knowledge of the true nature of Thomas-Phosphate.—Newport and Market Drayton Advertiser.

People Read of New Cures Every Day—All are Genuine—Dodd's Kidney Pills' Cured Mr. C. S. Griggs, of Hamilton, of Bright's Disease.

Hamilton, Feb. 13.—"I never knew anything like the way these testimonials to the efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, in Kidney Diseases, appear in the newspapers," said a citizen, a couple of evenings ago, as he laid down his paper, after having read one of the testimonials.

"How is that?" queried his friend.

"Well, no matter what paper you take up, you find in it, the narrative of a cure of Kidney Disease, by Dodd's Kidney Pills. And, mind you, every time it is a new case that's talked about. They don't harp on the one case all the time, so, if they are all true, Dodd's Kidney Pills must be curing people by thousands."

"Don't you think the testimonials are true?" questioned his friend.

"Oh yes, I know they are. Now here's a case that I've investigated:—

"Mr. C. S. Griggs, a carpenter, who lives at 151 Queen Street South, Hamilton, says he was told, eight years ago, that he had Bright's Disease. He couldn't get any relief, till alone a cure, till he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. He used three boxes of that remedy, and was completely cured by them. Hamilton, says he was told, eight years ago, that he had Bright's Disease. He couldn't get any relief, till alone a cure, till he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. He used three boxes of that remedy, and was completely cured by them. Hamilton people have been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, but the number must be enormous, for hardly a week passes that I don't see a testimonial from one of our citizens, in the papers."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are a great medicine—the only Kidney Cure under the sun."
