Montreal wholesale trade circles are actively engaged in the fall trade which is much larger than in former years. There is a big demand for all lines of staple goods, and the recent advances have largely contributed to the activity, as the retail trade fear there will be a further rise in values a dose or two of Miller's Worm and are anxious to get in stocks at current prices. Accounts with the country trade are very satisfactory now and remittances are prompt. An active business at the Coast cities continue to characterize trade there. The demand for staple goods is

Most people have wondered at some time or other exactly how a battle is fought. When squads or scouting parties meet each other they either fight in an irregular fashion or run away." With a systematic battle it is different. Before a systematic battle one army selects some place at which to resist the advance of the other. The advancing army usually cannot leave the other aside and go on by another route to the capital city, which it wants to reach, because if it did the army left aside would quickly destroy the advancing army's "communications," and cut off supplies of food and ammunition.

The army which takes-the defen most easily defended some point where a river or a creek, or a life of hills, serves to give it. the advantage in a fight. The enemy must either attack that army here, or drive it out of its position, or must "flank" it out if it is Itself to go forward. When one army has planted itself in a position of its choice, and the other advances to attack it, the army that is standing still throws out lines of pickets to watch for the enemy's advance. The enemy, as he advances, also throws out a cloud of skirmishers to "feel" the positions and avoid traps and am-

The fear of a native unrising has been referred to as making for peace between Great Britain and the Transan answer from the spirit of prophecy. | whilst the Germans can place against | Chicago to-day were 22,000; official | waal, It is a genuing and a great fear, 9. It will be remembered that the little Jameson raid, with its withdrawal of police from Matabeleland, was the opportunity and incitement of the last Matabele, war. Beyond doubt, an armed conflict between Great Britain and the Transvaal would be regarded by myrinds of blacks as affording an opportunity for a general rising throughout South Africa. In some cases the rising would be against the Dutch, and in some it would be against all white men

Censuses in South Africa are not as accurate as in some other parts of the world, but the latest ligures are probably within a measurable distance of the truth. They show that in Cape Colony the population 48-376,-812 white and 1.148,926 colorist; the Natal, 44,415 white and 459,285 colored; in Rhodesia, 13,000 white, and with 500,000 colored : 'n Beclinanaland, ,254 white and 7,471 colored Basutoland, 578 white: aid 218,320 colored; in the Transvazil, 3300,000 white and 649,560 colored; in Swaziland, no white and 60,000 colored, and in the Orange State, 47,716, white and 129,787 colored. Thus there are nearly four times as many blacks as extent whites in South Africa as a whole. How do these subjugated natives regard the ruling races. In a Word, they hate the Dutch and fear the British. Few of them have any real affection or levalty toward their rulers, Nearly all of them cherish the ambition of expelling or destroying the white menand re-establishing their native sovereigntles. They hate the Dutch, because the latter have treated them much as the Children of Israel treated the native tribes of Palestine They would long ago probably have swept the Dutch communities to ruin had it not been for the power of the British -a power partly tangible and partly imagined in vague immensity.- New York Tribune.
