The Fax Concert last Thursday evening was seriously hampered by wet weather. Nevertheless the hall fairly filled with a goodly proportion of reserved seat holders so that the expense attending the enterprise of bringing high class talent will be nearly if not quite met by the receipts. With good weather the hall would not have held, it is thought, the number present.

Fax, with new costumes, new pieces, and new faces was as entertaining as ever, while in J. C. Morgan, the versatile P. S. Inspector of Dufferin, there is a wealth and variety of ability to make an entertainment bimself. He accompanied Fax(no easy task) all night, and played. sang, and recited on his own account in numbers both grave and gay. His address on Forestry was pointed, and the advantages. the achievements and the prospects of the order were ably set forth. Miss King, Mt.
