

The Prize Fight.
Hammer and tongs! What have we here?
Let us approach, but not too near.
Two men standing, breast to breast.
Head erect and arching chest;
Shoulders square and hands hard clinched.
And both their faces a trifle blanched.
Their lips are set in a smile so grim.
And sturdily set each muscular limb;
'Round them circles a ring of rope,
Over them hangs the heaven's blue cope.
Why do they glare at each other so?
What! you really then don't know?
This is a prize fight, gentle sir—
This is what makes the papers stir.
Talk of your ocean telegraph,
'Tis not so great an event, by half,
As when two young men, lusty and tall,
With nothing between them of hate or wrong—
Come together to batter and maul,
Come to fight till one shall fall—
Hammer and tongs.
Round about is a bestial crowd,
Heavily-jawed and beetle-browed;
Concave faces tramped in,
As if with the iron hoof of sin.
Blasphemous dripping from off their lips,
Pistols bulging behind their hips;
Hands accustomed to deal the cards,
Or strike with the cowardly knuckleguards.
Who are these raffianly fellows, I say,
That taint the breath of this autumn day?
These are "the Fancy," gentle sir,
The Fancy? What have we to do with her?
Oh, 'tis their fancy to look at a fight,
To see men struggle, and gouge, and bite.
Bloody noses and bunged-up eyes—
And so they get men lusty and tall,
With nothing between them of hate or wrong—
Come together to batter and maul,
Come and fight till one shall fall.
Hammer and tongs.
Grandly the autumn forests shine,
Red as the gold in an Indian mine,
A dreamy mist, a vapour-smoke,
Hangs round the patches of evergreen oak.
Over the lake shines the sun,
The lake that Perry battled upon;
Striking the upland fields of maize
That glow through the soft October haze.
Nature is tracing with languid hand
Lessons of peace over lake and land;
Aye, but yet is this tranquil spot
Chosen by bully, assassin, or sot,
To pit two young men, lusty and tall,
With nothing between them of hate or wrong,
One with the other to batter and maul,
To tussle and fight till one shall fall.
Hammer and tongs.
Their faces are rich with a healthy hue,
Their eyes are clear, and bright and blue;
Every muscle is clear and fine,
And their blood is pure as the purest wine.
It is a pleasure their limbs to scan,
Splendid types of the animal man.
Splendid types of that human grace,
The noblest that God has willed to trace.
Brought to this by science and art,
Trained and nourished and kept apart,
Cunningly fed on wholesome food,
Carefully watched in every mood,
Brought to this state so noble and proud,
To average tussle before a crowd—
To dim the light of the eyes so clear,
To maim the face to a bloody smear,
To maim, deface, and kill if they can,
The glory of all creation—Man.
This is the task of lusty and tall,
With nothing between them of hate or wrong,
To bruse and wrestle, and batter and maul;
And fight till one or the other shall fall.
Hammer and tongs.
With feet firm planted upon the sand,
Face to face at "the scratch" they stand,
Feinting first—a blow—a guard;
Then some hitting, heavy and hard.
The round fist falls with a terrible thud;
Wherever it falls comes a spout of blood.
Blow after blow, fall after fall,
For twenty minutes they tussle and maul;
The lips of the one are a gory gash,
The other's are knocked to eternal smash;
The bold, bright eyes are bloody and dim,
And staggering, shivers each stalwart limb.
Faces glowing with stupid wrath,
Hard breaths breathed thro' a bloody froth;
Blind they rain their blows
On cheeks like jelly and shapeless nose;
While the concave faces around the rope
Darken with panic or light with hope,
Till one fierce brute, with terrible blow,
Lays the other poor animal low,
Are these the forms so noble and proud,
That towered above the crowd?
Where are the faces so healthy and fresh?
These, these illegible masses of flesh,
Thus we see met, lusty, tall,
Who with nothing between them of hate or wrong,
Will bruse and batter, and tussle and maul,
And fight till one or the other shall fall.
Hammer and tongs.
Trainers, backers and bettors all,
Who teach young men to tussle and maul,
And spend your muscle, and blood, and life,
Given for good, in a toothsome strife,
I know what the devil will do for you.
You plotting, bullying, cowardly crew;
He'll light up his furnace, red and blue,
And treat you all to a roast and stew.
Oh, he'll do you up, and he'll do you brown,
On pitchforks cleft into mighty prongs.
While chuckling fiends your agonies crown
By stirring you up and keeping you down
With hammer and tongs.

MISERABLE WOMEN.
How Women Lose Interest in Their Households.
The Ills to Which Women are Heir Cause Much Suffering—The Experience of a Lady Who Has Found a Speedy Cure.
Mrs. Isble T. Comeau, who resides at No. 83 1/2 Arago street, St. Roch, Quebec, is a teacher of French, English and music. For many years Mrs. Comeau has suffered greatly from internal troubles, peculiar to her sex, and also from continuous weakness, the result of headaches, neuralgia and nervous prostration. Her trouble became so bad that she was forced to give up teaching and go to a hospital, but the treatment there did not materially benefit her, and ultimately she left the hospital still a great sufferer. Meantime her husband, having arranged for a novel retreat, she is spending a few weeks at the Hotel de la Paix, Paris, where she is being treated by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, purchased a few boxes and prevailed upon his wife to try them. When interviewed as to the merits of the pills, Mrs. Comeau gave her story to the reporter about as follows:
"My trouble came on after the birth of my child, and up to the time I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I could find nothing to cure me. I suffered much agony, was very weak, had frequent severe headaches, and little or no appetite. It was not long after I began the use of the pills that I found they were helping me very much and after taking them for a couple of months, I was as well as ever I had been. My appetite improved, the pains left me, and I gained considerably in flesh and an again able to attend to the lessons of my pupils and superintend my household work. Since using the pills myself I have recommended them to others and have heard nothing but praise in their favor wherever used."
No discovery of modern times has proved such a boon to women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions they restore health and strength to exhausted women, and make them feel that life is again worth living.
Sold by all dealers in medicine or sent post paid at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Refuse all substitutes.
THE MEASURING MACHINE.
A Little Device Which Will Prevent All Waste.
"One spoonful for each person and one for the pot" has long been the rule by which the housewife makes the cheering cup for morning or afternoon tea. But in catering for large parties and in the rush of restaurant service a more wholesome but not less accurate system of measurement is often desirable.
An Englishman has met this want by the invention of a new tea-measuring machine, which stands on the counter or shelf, and by one turn of the handle delivers a prescribed quantity into the teapot placed beneath. This quantity is modified and regulated by an adjustable screw, and the machine will supply a great number of teapots in a prescribed quantity. Considering the wantonly and wastefully strong tea served in many tea rooms, where one may see the too-generous Hebe shoveling it out in indiscriminate spoonfuls, this invention should be a benefit alike to the caterer, in controlling the output of an item easily wasted by careless hands, and to the consumer in tempering and regulating the strength of his brew. It is a neat and handy structure, with an air-tight lid and a glass panel to indicate when the supply is exhausted.
A dose of Miller's Worm Powders occasionally will keep the children healthy.
No Apology Sufficient.
When Thomas T. Crittenden was governor of Missouri he had a coloration of his face, which was the result of his exposure to the sun. The Department of Marine and Fisheries will send to that colony a consignment of salmon ova.
Thursday, Nov. 30th, has been proclaimed a day of fasting.

SECURES A BARGAIN CASKET
Indiana Man Gets a $150 Coffin for $30 and Tries It.
A Leavenworth, Ind., despatch says: James Dewhurst, a Scotchman, lived in a wealthy home in this county, and to town the other day, struck a bargain in coffins, and laid in stock at his home a box for his own use. He found a $150 coffin for $30, came with his wagon the next day and took it home for $30. He thinks it is a good thing to have about the place, though he has no idea of passing it on to some one. He said it would be a sin to let such a chance to save money get away, and accepted it with the assurance that there would be no change in styles. It was just his fit. He laid down in it to see if it was all right, and made up his mind it was very comfortable and just what he would want. Dewhurst is a well-to-do man, but a trifle eccentric, like the people of his race, he is frugal, and never fails to clinch a bargain. His purchase was equal to that of a young man who recently laid in stock a barrel of flour because it was in a man's hat, though she had no use for it.
A man hater lives on the Howard-Grant county line who has arranged for a novel retreat. She is spending a few weeks at the Hotel de la Paix, Paris, where she is being treated by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, purchased a few boxes and prevailed upon his wife to try them. INGERSOLL MAN
Can Do More Work on the Farm Than His Twenty-Four Year Old Son.
For Three or Four Years at One Time He Was Too Weak to Work at All—Disabled With Kidney Disease—Dodd's Kidney Pills Gave Him His Present Strength.
Ingersoll, Nov. 6.—We have a man in this district who is a remarkable example of the adage, "Health is wealth." He is a middle-aged man in perfect health, and glories in his strength. Yet some years ago he used to be as weak and helpless as a kitten.
Mr. W. H. Ingersoll lives on lot five on the town line between Durham and West Oxford. He is a farmer by occupation, and well known throughout the district. For years Mr. Bailey was a victim of kidney disease, which sapped his strength. He was not a believer in patent medicines, but he tried all the doctors in Ingersoll without avail. Then he took three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and became a whole, sound man once more. To so great an extent did he gain in strength that in spite of his years he could overmatch his grown-up son, a big strapping man of twenty-four.
Mr. Bailey says: "For years I have been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at times that I could do nothing. I had tried all the doctors in this town, but they would not put me in my grave. I took three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and am now able to do more work than my twenty-four-year-old son."
Houses of Glass.
Dr. Algie's novel, "Houses of Glass," was noticed in the Times when it was published by a New York house. A less expensive edition has now been put upon the market by W. J. Gage & Co., Toronto. Dr. Algie, whose pen name is Wallace Lloyd, is a Canadian, and from the skill with which he has created Jane Halford and two or three other leading characters in "Houses of Glass," there is a future before him in the literary field, unless his professional duties make him a home unit. The setting of the story is really a Canadian one, and is entirely pertaining to the United States. It is a story intended to illustrate a theory, but nevertheless a most entertaining story for old and young readers.
Dear Sirs,—I was for seven years a sufferer from Bronchial trouble, and would be so if I had not taken your medicine. I could scarcely speak above a whisper. I got no relief from anything till I tried your MINARD'S HONEY BAL-SAM. Two bottles gave relief and six bottles made a complete cure. I would heartily recommend it to any one suffering from throat or lung trouble.

Teach Children to Read Aloud.
A mother should take great pains to teach her children to read aloud acceptably. Much time and money are often expended in cultivating the voice for singing, and yet quite as much pleasure may be given by the person who reads aloud in a pleasing manner.
No attempt need be made at elocution as the word is ordinarily understood; distinct utterance and proper emphasis so as to convey easily to the hearer the meaning of the sentences read are all that is necessary.—Ladies' Home Journal.
Miller's Worm Powders correct all such troubles as lack of appetite, biliousness, drowsiness, sallow complexion, etc., etc., etc.
We are often governed by people not only weaker than ourselves, but even by those whom we think so.—Lord Greville.
Barrie electors have also voted to dissolve the partnership with Allard, and the Legislature will probably be asked to undo the recent Act amalgamating the two municipalities.

CATARRE
Easily Cured by Catarhazone—New Scientific Treatment—Guaranteed to Cure Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever.
It has been confirmed that Catarrh of the nose and throat is caused by micro-organisms which keep up a constant irritation, producing inflammation and ulceration of the mucous membrane.
This cause of catarrh being now well established, it is easy to understand that a remedy having the power to destroy microbes or germs will surely cure, or at least prevent the disease, by removing the cause, providing this remedy will have no injurious effect upon the surrounding tissues.
Late scientific research has brought forward just such a remedy, called Catarhazone, which cures by the action of medicated air, inhaled through the mouth or nostrils, cleansing all the inflamed and diseased parts, which cannot be reached by snuffs and ointments, as frequently recommended for catarrh.
Catarhazone is the only germicide having sufficient power to kill the bacteria of catarrh, and is not irritating and volatile enough to impregnate every particle of air breathed by the patient, thus enabling the cure to reach every part of the passages in a mild and safe manner, and to penetrate the minutest air cells in the lungs.
For public speakers, ministers, singers, persons troubled with the heathen Chinese with colds, or with a weak and irritable throat, Catarhazone is of inestimable value. The inhaler can be carried in your pocket and used at any time or in any place.

The Servant Question.
An American woman has got very near to the heart of the "servant difficulty" when she says of the "domestic" of to-day: "She is in the household, but not of it; a victim of its servility and ease, but wholly subordinated to it. On the other hand, the patriarchal traditions of service lead the mistress to attempt to control the private life of the maid as though she were really a member of the family." In the happy mean between these two extremes lies a true solution of the "problem"—if women, both employers and employed were only wise enough to find it.
Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running ear, which is usually deafening, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; in nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Italian Mountain to be Decorated.
Italy's mountains are in a fair way of being decorated, should one of the ideas of the committee commemorating the "holy year" of 1900 be carried out. It is the intention of a special committee just formed to erect nineteen statues, one for each county since the birth of the nation, on high mountain peaks in different parts of the peninsula. The statues will all be colossal figures of the redeemed, in gilded cast iron, to be illuminated at night.

Oil Made From Corn.
Corn oil, extracted from the grain, is in extensive demand. It can be produced more cheaply than most vegetable oils. It can be used as a low grade kerosene, and is also used in the manufacture of paint mixers employ it quite generally, and also manufacturers of fibre and shade cloth. There are five refineries of corn in the United States which use between 10,000,000 and 20,000,000 bushels of corn and corn waste. Besides the outputs of oil, the refineries have made nearly thirty other different products from the corn.
Minard's Liniment Cures Garget in Cows
Giant Polleceen.
Four brothers named Kavanagh, from the County of Wick, who have just been admitted as recruits to the ranks of the Dublin Metropolitan Police, have created a mild sensation, as each of the brothers stands exactly six feet six inches in height, and is built in proportion. They are sons of a farmer and are men of splendid physique, in addition to their unusual height. The other brothers remain at home, who are presumably the dwarfs of the family, being each only six feet three inches in height—but perhaps they have not yet attained their full elevation.
Be young! It is only necessary to take Miller's Compound Iron Pills to retain youthful appearance and vigor.
Some Staggering Computations.
A well-known astronomer, calculating that if an express train running sixty miles an hour day and night without stopping kept it up for 350 years it would just about complete the diameter of the circle made by the earth in its yearly journey around the sun. Now let this immense circle be represented by a lady's finger ring, and taking that as the standard of measurement, the nearest fixed star would be a mile distant and the farthest visible through the telescope at least twenty miles.

CHINESE WANTED THE EMBLE.
But the Missionary Found They Were Used in Making Firecrackers.
"Independence Day reminds me," said the missionary from China, "of the most encouraging and the most disillusionizing experience in my life. I had labored hard in the work of converting the Chinese to Christianity, and there was unfeigned rejoicing among all the missions in China and among all the churches in America when the demand for Bibles on the part of our converts culminated in an order for 84,000 Bibles in one shipment.
The remarkable number of new Christians thus indicated, while it occasioned much thankfulness in America, caused the heads of our inquiry associations to set on foot an inquiry into the souls of such an unusual number of Celestials and the uses to which they put the Bibles sent them.
"You may know that in China the majority of the firecrackers with which we celebrate our day of national independence are made by the Chinese in their homes. Contractors for fireworks of powder, and that must be made into a given number of crackers. The paper used in the manufacture of the crackers is made in facture. He buys himself—and paper is not a cheap commodity—himself the requisite number of crackers, but that does not disturb the Celestial in the least; he turns in his quota of crackers, and the American boy in each sentence invariably finds in each shipment of fireworks a few that will not go off."
"I discovered that Yankee thrift had been absorbed by the heathen Chinese with such readiness that the Yankee morals. In contributing his labor toward our festive occasions he had upon an expedient whereby a considerable profit accrued to himself. He had literally 'gone up in smoke.' They were to be had for the asking, and the Celestial science seems never to have suffered a pang as to their disposal for firecracker wrappers."—Frank Leslie's Monthly.

"I mean," he answered, in a hoarse voice, "that dead men tell no tales."
