(From the News, Truro, N. S.) Mr. Robert Wright, of Alton, Cochester Co., N. S., is now one of the hardlest and hardest working farmers in this section. But Mr. Wright was not always blessed with perfect health; as a matter of fact for some fifteen years he was a martyr to what appeared to be an incurable trouble. In conversation lately with a News reporter, Mr. Wright said "I am indeed gratelu, that the trouble which cothered me for so many years is gone, and I am quite willing to give you the particulars for puba good many years stoce my trouble first began, slight at first, but later intensely severe palas in the back. According to long-time Chinese ideas, life is entirely dependent on "air currents," which are designated as the primary aura of the organism; so long, then, as the body is permeated by the air current it is proof against disease, and the object of physical exercises is to circulate the air current. To effect this the Chinese system is divided into three periods, each period occupying a hundred days, the first period commencing at the time of the new moon. The patient must rise at 4 o'clock in the morning and walk outside his house, taking seven deep inspirations, and, immediately after this, two youths who have been specially trained commence a gentle friction all over the body, starting over the cardiac area. At the time of full ercises are taken. How Various Boer Words, Now Often Used, are Pronounced.

The name of the President on the Transvaai Republic, says the London Mail, is written Kruger, but it is neither sounded Krooger nor Krowger, but-as near as can be indicated-Kree-er. The word Transvaal is, literally, "across the yellow" (or yellowish-brown) river. Rand, short for Witwatersrand, is pronounced as if it spelled rant. The word veld-the final "t" is sometimes added-means field or common, and is pronounced felt.

KRUGER IS "KREE-ER."

Kopje-a hillock or piece of rising ground-is neither kop-jay nor kopjee, but koppy. Dr. Leyd's patronymic is pronounced Lides. The Boer Parliament House is called the Raadzaal, and the Parliament the Volksraad, the "v" being sounded like "f." Berg is mountain, the plural being formed by the addition of "en" after the "g." A drift is a ford, and a dorp a town, or village. Thus we have Krugersdorp, Leydsdorp, etc. A viei (flay) is a pool of water, mostly formed in the rainy season. Rooinek is the term of contempt applied to Britishers, and means "redneck"; it is not infrequently prefixed by the adjective "verdom le" (ferdomdy). Rooibaatjes is Cape Dutch for "Tommy Atkins," or red-coats. A stoep (pronounced stoop) is a raised platform in front of a house-something like a veranda-on which the Boer loves to take his weed. Vrouw-meaning housewife-is proounced "frow." Slim-often applied o Gen. Piet Joubert-is cunning or ertful, or, slangily speaking, "fly." 'Kerel" is chap or fellow. Baas-projounced so-is master, and baas op, boss up. To inspan is to harness or tether horses or cattle; to uitspan is to unharness. Uitspan is also applied to the resting place of the animals. Worlog is war.
