

"PRETTY MINNIE LEE."

How a New Yorker Wooded a Toronto Girl.

HIS $500 WORTH OF BLISS.

Everybody knows Julius Kaufman, the high grade exploiter of champagne. Kaufman was greatly smitten with the charms of Miss Minnie Lee, and it looked as though this lady, who comes from Toronto, would fully reciprocate his affection.

But there came a gloomy day. Miss Lee and Mr. Kaufman had a slight disagreement. The lady, for some reason best known to herself, concluded that the winter season was much more enjoyable in Toronto than New York, and went home, with scant leaving of the wine agent.

It was then he called "Sammy" Newman into confidant. Mr. Newman exploits beer, but, although not a wine agent, is a noted authority upon affairs of the heart.

"Go to Canada and see her," was Mr. Newman's dictum. "Make propitiatory offerings. Admit yourself in the wrong. A man always is in case like this, and the sooner he acknowledges the fact the better for him. Be wise, my boy, be wise. Go to Toronto and admit your error at once and ask for forgiveness."

"Will you come along and back me up?" queried Mr. Kaufman. "I need moral support in a matter like this. It is the first time in my life I ever had to admit I was in the wrong, and it comes hard. I can tell you. Still, I think you have the right idea, even if you do push beer."

And so it came about that these two gentlemen journeyed to Canada last week, but neither of them heeded the chill blast and other discomforts of life in a high latitude.

Before he left New York Mr. Kaufman laid in a stock of such things as he believed Miss Lee would regard with favor. There was a satech which, with the engraved plate, cost $72. There were six pairs of silk hose worth $3.75 a pair, cakes of soap at $3 a throw, diamonds and other things which brought the total expenditure up to more than $300. All these he had with him when he landed in Toronto under the convoy of Mr. Newman.

THE LADY SMILED.

As soon as they had landed Mr. Kaufman sought out the home of Miss Lee. She smiled upon him. She also received the presents he had brought and listened to his explanations graciously. She seemed to appreciate the fact that he had found gayest New York a dreary, deadly dull thing without her presence. She was apparently altogether forgiving and complacent.

But this was not all. As Mr. Kaufman gazed upon her and basked in the radiance of her smile a realizing sense of the inadequacy of her gifts was impressed upon him. They were all too slight to show the full force of his affection. Hence he opened his heart and his pocketbook to a worthy orator and bestowed $500 upon Miss Lee, accompanied by a fervent petition that she purchase some small souvenir of his happy reconciliation. The young woman smiled still more sweetly and Mr. Kaufman went away in a glow of bliss to report progress to Mr. Newman, who was waiting outside.

It took them some time to reach the hotel at which they were put, but they got there the happy wine agent insisted upon buying all along the line.

HE GOT HIS PRESENTS BACK.

When they did get there the clerk handed Mr. Kaufman a bundle and a note. The note stated that Miss Lee felt herself greatly distressed by the presence of Mr. Kaufman in Toronto. It might lead to unkind remarks upon the part of her friends. If his protestations of regard were true he could show his feeling best by at once leaving the city and returning to New York. In the bundle he would find all his gifts, even to the $3 cakes of soap, but she had been compelled to use the $500 cash, which she would send to him in New York as soon as she conveniently could.

That is why Mr. Kaufman looks sad and chastened these days, and is also the reason why he does not take Mr. Newman's advice on any subject, even to the backing of horses. Still he has his presents back, all except the cash, and what could a man ask more than that?

SHE WANTED TO SPIT.

An Old City Woman Gave the Railway Conductor a Fright.

Soon after the morning train going toward Buffalo had pulled out, Corry Junction one day not long since, she saw the Old City Bizzard, a middle-aged woman of very heavy build, who had boarded the train at that place, left her seat and, walking to the front door of the coach, opened it quickly and stepped out onto the platform. Surprised at her action, Conductor Turner, who had observed her movements, followed her in haste to see what it all meant. Ten minutes later, and after "Charley" had recovered his nerves sufficiently to talk, he told another passenger of what had taken place outside.

"Well, sir," he said, "when I got to the platform I looked about for the woman, and I'm bamed if she wasn't standing on the lowest step, hanging to the side rods and leaning out clear over the track. We were going at about a 25 mile clip, and the slightest lurch or curve would have thrown her headfirst from the car. I did not take time to get scared. I just stepped down behind her and secured a full Nelson hold about her waist before I dared speak."

"Then I asked her what in the world she was trying to do. And what do you suppose she said?"

"What did she say?" asked the passenger, who had been an interested listener.

"Well, sir, she looked around at me in a surprised and innocent sort of way, and says she:

"I came out here to spit."

"Well, go to the car and spit just as quick as you can," I said. And I tell you," said Charley, "I haven't had anything shake me like that in many a day."—Buffalo News.

ONLY A WOMAN'S STORY

But it Will Bring Hope to Many Silent Sufferers.

Nervous Prostration—Heart Weakness—Agonizing Pains and Misery Such as Woman Alone Endure Made the Life of Mrs. Thos. Sears a Burden.

Just a woman's story. Not strange because it happens every day, not romantic or thrilling, but just a story of misery and suffering such as, unfortunately, too many women endure in silence.

For several years, Mrs. Thomas Sears, of St. Catharines, felt her illness gradually but surely gaining a firmer hold upon her system, and ultimately she almost despaired of recovery. To a reporter who called upon her, Mrs. Sears said:

"What I have suffered is almost beyond description. My illness has been gradually growing upon me, and eighteen months ago I found myself almost helpless. My nerves were shattered, my heart weak and my entire system seemingly broken down. Any sudden noise or bright light made me feel as if I were in a condition bordering on collapse. At times I experienced attacks of vertigo, and these seemed for a time to affect my memory. The least exertion would leave me almost breathless, and my heart would palpitate violently. I had no desire for food of any kind, and yet I had to force myself to eat to maintain life. I treated with some different doctors and spent much money in this way, but without avail, and I was in a condition bordering on despair. I was urged to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in December, 1898, I consented to do so. I first got four boxes and not a day passed for the better after I had finished the second box. When the four boxes were finished there was a great change for the better, and I then procured another half dozen boxes. Before these were all used I was again enjoying the blessing of good health. There can be no doubt of my cure because months have passed since I discontinued taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and during that time I have never felt the slightest symptoms of the trouble, and I cheerfully and strongly urge other women who are suffering to use this wonderful medicine, feeling sure that it will cure them, as it did me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specific for all forms of weakness. The blood is vitalized, the nervous system is re-organized, irregularities are corrected, strength returns and disease disappears. So remarkable have been the cures performed by these little pills that their fame has spread to the far ends of civilization. Wherever you go you will find the most important articles in every drug store to be Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

POWER OF HIGH EXPLOSIVES

To Do Great Execution They Must Be Confined.

There is a widespread misapprehension in regard to the devastating effect of these high explosives, for when unconfined the effect even of large charges of them upon structures is comparatively slight. At the Naval Ordnance Proving Ground, so long ago as 1854, repeated charges of dynamite, varying from five pounds to one hundred pounds in weight, were detonated on the face of a vertical target consisting of eleven one-half inch iron plates bolted to a twenty-inch oak backing, until 440 pounds of dynamite had been so detonated in contact with it, and yet the target remained practically uninjured, while at Brampton, the Canadian experiment of 55 tons of blasting gelatin, which was stored in railway vans, excavated but 30,000 tons of soft earth. This last may seem a terrible effect, but the amount of explosive involved was enormous, and the material one of the most energetic that we possess, while if we compare it with the action of explosives when confined its effect becomes quite moderate. Thus at Fort Lee, on the Hudson, but two tons of dynamite placed in a chamber in the rock and tamped brought down 100,000 tons of the rock; at Lamberis, Wales, two tons and a half of gelatin dynamite similarly placed blew out 180,000 tons of rock; and at the Talcan Mavr, in Wales, seven tons of gunpowder, placed in two chambers of the rock, dislodged from 125,000 to 100,000 tons of rock. We might cite many such examples, but on comparing these we find that the gunpowder confined in the interior at the Talcan Mavr was over forty-two times as efficient as the explosive gelatin on the surface at Brampton, while the dynamite at Fort Lee was over ninety times as destructive.—From the Applications of Explosives, by Prof. C. E. Munroe, in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly for February.

Tons of Leaden Death.

Forty million rounds of small arms ammunition, 11,000 rounds of shrapnel, lyddite and common shell, 851 boxes of fuses and forty boxes of pistol ammunition were recently dispatched to the seat of war. This is one of the largest consignments of ammunition ever sent from Great Britain.

Alluring Oriental Shoppers.

Here are some extracts from advertisements in oriental papers: "Goods despatched expeditiously as a common ball." "Parcels come up with such care as a loving wife bestows upon her husband." "We sell paper tough as elephant's hide." "The print of our books is clear as crystal, the matter charming as a singing girl." "Customs are treated as politely as by rival steamship companies." "Our silk and satins are smooth as a lady's cheek, and colored like the rainbow."

WANTED—A BOOKKEEPER.

The Ad. and the Reply it Called Forth.

An advertisement in a newspaper calling for "a first-class bookkeeper at $3 a week," drew forth the following:

I am a young man 37 years of age, having had a business experience of 23 years, being connected with the United States Embassy at Malaga, and feel confident if you will give me a trial I can prove my worth to you. I am not only an expert bookkeeper, proficient stenographer and typewriter, excellent operator and erudite college graduate, but have several other accomplishments which might be desirable.

As to salary, I am a first-class penman, have some knowledge of removing superfluous hair and clipping puppy dog's ears; have a medal for reciting "Curfew Shall Not Ring To-night." I am a skilled chair-pusher and practical farmer; can also cook, take care of horses, grease trousers, open oysters and repair umbrellas.

Being possessed of great physical beauty, I could be only be useful, but would be ornamental as well, lending to your office that delightful artistic charm that a Satsuma vase or stuffed bilgeon would.

A YOUNG GIRL'S DANGER.

How She Overcame it, and Baffled Her Tormentor.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—Mrs. Ida Hopkirk, of No. 184 Harbour street, this city, is a young lady who is exceedingly popular with a very extensive circle of friends, all of whom are regarding over her recent escape from a terrible danger. The story of her experience is deeply interesting, told in her own straightforward way.

Here is her narrative: "In 1898 I took a position in a corner-store, and I soon found I could not stand it, and my health failed. I grew very thin, had splitting headache continually, dizzy spells and extreme weakness. My tongue was thickly coated, had a bitter morning, and I arose tired and aching. I was dull and low-spirited all the time.

"My sister had used Dr. Arnold's English Tonic Pills with remarkable benefit, and I also began to take them. I can state that improvement began almost immediately. Daily I mended, till to-day I am in better health and much stronger than I have been for years. To Dr. Arnold's English Tonic Pills, and to them alone, the credit is due."

Every girl and woman who suffers as Mrs. Hopkirk did should use Dr. Arnold's English Tonic Pills. They will give new life and vigor to the system. Dr. Arnold's English Tonic Pills, the only medicine that cures disease by killing the germs that cause it, are sold by all druggists at 75c. a box; sample box, 25c., or sent post-paid on receipt of price by The Great Chemist Company, Limited, Canada Life Building, No. 42 King street west, Toronto.

Rather Far Front.

The girls wear their rosettes of velvet ribbon rather far forward on either side of the collared knot of hair. Once the rosette was worn like an aligrette, well to the back of the head, but now these ornaments are coming forward once more. Black rosettes of velvet ribbon and pale blue velvet bows have long been worn. The new rosettes are of coral pink velvet. They must be worn exactly alike, one on each side.

A Sexton's Mistake.

A correspondent of the South Wales Daily News writes: "On an Easter Sunday a most ridiculous contumpt occurred in a church in East Glamorgan. On Saturday evening the sexton went to neighboring village for a shilling's worth of wine, and at the same time bought a few pennyworths of vinegar for his own use. In the morning he took to the vineyard by mistake to the church, and this was duly consecrated and administered to the communicants, whose faces as they partook were a sight to behold."

Solidified Alcohol.

The solidified alcohol which a Berlin firm has been sending out in a tin vessel, intended to serve as a pocket lamp and stove, is reported to consist essentially of sixty-two per cent. of alcohol, twenty of soap, and eighteen made by dissolving scraped tallow soap in warm alcohol.

Secretary Root says the U. S. have men available for military duty, but unorganized, to the number of 10,345, 154, and an aggregate organized strength of 106,880.

"Doesn't he like the job that was offered to him?" "Sure." "But you said he was anxious to catch cold." "I said he was anxious to take hold."

It is thought consideration of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty amendment will be taken up in the U. S. Senate very shortly after Feb. 15th.

There is still no official announcement regarding the officers' roll of the Strathcona Rifles or the departure of the Toronto Mounted Rifles and C Battery of Kingston.

PROOF POSITIVE.

The Truth About Backache Proved by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Katy Lougheed Gives Evidence—No Doubt in the Minds of the People of Staples—Backache is Really Kidney Ache.

Staples, Feb. 6.—There is no doubt in the minds of the people of this district that the contention that backache is a symptom of kidney disease is literally and absolutely correct. It not only cures backache, but it cures the cause of it. For there is no doubt about it that Dodd's Kidney Pills do cure backache. A new case in this neighborhood is coming to light every day. Mrs. Katy Lougheed is one of the most recent, but there are scores of others.

It has long been contended that backache is really kidney ache. But up to within ten years ago, when Dodd's Kidney Pills were first given to the world, the fact had never been actually proved. But Dodd's Kidney Pills have turned the theory into a fact. If one has backache one's kidneys are out of order, and no amount of medicine which does not act on the kidneys will do the slightest good. How many people have been crippled with lame back and given up trying to be cured in despair? They were not aware that backache is but a symptom, not a disease.

That, about which no body who has ever experienced it can be mistaken, is not an ache of the back at all. It is the ache of disordered kidneys. The kidneys are situated opposite the small of the back. Thus the pain is termed backache. It is no use treating backache, so called, locally. It is the kidneys that demand treatment. That is the reason that Dodd's Kidney Pills have such a reputation for curing backache.

Mrs. Katy Lougheed, of Staples, writes: "I can highly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills as the best thing for lame back I ever got. I have only used two boxes and they cured me."

Had He Heard.

The witness was a stupid-looking Swede.

The cross-examining attorney was a smart young man, whose object was to discredit the witness and discredit his testimony.

"What did you say your name was?" was the first question.

"Yahn"—very deliberately—"Peterson."

"John Peterson, eh? O'd man Peterson's son, I suppose. Now Peterson answer this question carefully. Are you a married man?"

"Ah tank so, Ah was married."

"So you think because you got married that you are a married man, do you? That's funny. Now tell the gentlemen of this exceptionally intelligent jury whom you married."

"Who ah married? Ah married a woman."

"See here, sir, don't you know any better than to trifle with this court. What do you mean, sir? You married a woman? Did you ever hear of any one marrying a man?"

"Yah, My sister did."

Biggest Skyscraper of Them All.

The three champion skyscrapers of the United States are the Syndicate building on Park row, New York, the Masonic Temple in Chicago, and the Exchange building in Boston. These are to be reinforced by a monster structure to be built in Philadelphia by New York and Philadelphia capitalists, which will outshine all of them. It will occupy a whole block and be the largest office building in the world.

DEPOSITS OF WASHING COMPOUND.

A natural soap mine and a paint mine are two of the latest curiosities which have been discovered in British Columbia. Several soda lakes have been found in the foothills near Ashcroft, B. C. The bottom and shores are incrustated with a natural washing compound containing borax and soda. It is quite equal to washing powders in common use for cleaning purposes. About 275 tons of the compound have been cut and taken out of one lake. It is handled exactly the same as ice. One lake alone contains 20,000 tons.

WHAT THE BOER BELIEVES.

Religious Ideas Very Consoling to Those Who Hold Them.

Presently M. Du Piessis moved his chair up to mine, and lowering his face with one side turned up, peered curiously into my spectacles.

"Why do you wear those things?" he interrogated.

"To see better," I said curtly.

"You are not old."

"No, I'm not; but my sight isn't good."

"I don't think that ought to be. People ought not to wear out before their time," he said insolently.

I began to feel exceedingly uncomfortable.

"I wanted to ask you," I said, by way of changing the subject, "I wanted to ask you about this name, 'People of God.' Whom does it mean?"

"Not you," he said with aggravating promptitude, "but me and my people."

"You will have to give me a better answer than that," I protested.

"Whom do you consider to belong to your people?"

"My church," he expostulated, with a vehemence that showed me he was being worked up.

"Your church," I said, "to the exclusion of all others?"

"Precisely so. God in Heaven is our Father and Divine Lawgiver, and Paul Kruger our leader on earth. He rules us in God's name. If you have lived in this country for some time you cannot have failed to notice how manifest this is. God led our father out of Egypt, where we were in bondage to cruel men who sucked the very life-blood out of us. We went forth—went forth into the wilds of Africa, established our freedom, and—but for the upper hand when inquiry obtained into the matter had over us—have maintained it to this day."

"That is not only your church," I interposed, by way of guiding him in his statements.

"It is my church people that form the nucleus of the nation," he said, almost solemnly. "It is on account of that people that the blessing of the Almighty is resting on all. Our enemies are many, but as their designs have been frustrated in the past, so they will be in the future. The watchful care of Heaven is over us."—The Cornhill Magazine.

Minard's Liniment cures Diphtheria.

As the English Boy Saw It.

An English weekly recently asked for short essays by boys on current topics and printed them without editing. Here is a specimen: "Kruger and Kamberbulism is one. He is a man of blood. Mr. Chamberling has written to him saying come out and give up the bid of the English you have took. He is a boar-kitchener and a wicked heathin. Lord Kitchener has been sent for his gory hand and being heathin his scoundrelous head get or alive."

That no remedy in the market affords such prompt relief as Putnam's Nervine in toothache, neuralgia, and rheumatism. Its action in cases of cramps, colic, etc., is simply marvellous. Remarking this to a physician of experience he stated that from his knowledge of the composition of Nervine no remedy could surpass it as a family remedy, and that in every household a bottle of Nervine should be available for emergent demands. Readers of this paper should try Nervine. It is economical, reliable and never failing.

The Title of Dowager.

The title of "dowager" seems likely in the near future to become obsolete. Queen Victoria's eldest daughter was the first to resent the title of dowager, and is now known by virtue of a royal decree as "Empress Frederick." Queen Wilhelmina of Holland has been much disturbed by the idea of her mother being looked upon as an old lady, and has caused to be published a decree commanding that henceforth the former Regent is to be styled, not "Queen Dowager," but "Queen Emma of the Netherlands." Even the old Empress of China, wishing to be in the fashion, has consented to this reform.
