WHOLE NO. 1168

Local and District News.

FOR SALE.—One second hand cook-stove in good condition.

Wm. Laidlaw.
Mr. J. A. Hunter bought another fancy horse in Toronto and brought it home on Saturday.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will hold a Social and Literary evening on Monday next, at the usual hour, 8 p. m. Collection.

A GOOD ONE.—Mr. Jos. Sharp, Glenelg took home a fine Yorkshire Boar on Tuesday the pick of the Model Farm stock.

Ladies' Summer Corsets, the pr. See the Corset we sell for 80 cts. at Grants.

All persons indebted to Wm. Laidlaw, must call and settle by cash or note at once or acct. will be handed in to next court, thus adding expense.

We were annoyed to learn that the bundles of Reviews for Boothville and Swinton Park went astray in the mails two weeks ago. There was no omission at our office.

GARDEN PARTY.—The ladies of the Baptist Church, Durham, will give a garden party on the grounds of Mr. B.
Warner, Durham, on the evening of Thursday, 2nd Aug. Should the night prove unfavorable it will be held the following one. Electric light and band in attendance. Admission 10c. Proceeds for church purposes. All invited.

A ROMANCE.—English Society has been stirred to its depths by the marriage of Lady Randolph Churchill to Lieut. Cornwallis West, a young man younger than her eldest son. It is a love affair it seems and both are said to be exceedingly beautiful. She retains her present title everywhere but in the presence of the Queen where she is plain Mrs. West.

Mr. Jas. Park, Sr., South Bentinck, was taken suddenly ill last week, and is in a precarious state still. Inflammation of the bowels was the trouble and now he is threatened with Bright's disease. His daughter, Bessie, came home a few days before and his son Walter arrived on Monday. We hope the genial old gentleman may soon be around again.

A WARNING.—Monday's papers announced that the Principal of the Central School, Chatham, had pleaded guilty to tampering with examination papers entrusted to his care and coaching his own pupils thereon. He has had his certificate suspended to December 31st, 1900, by a board of Inspectors, though influential citizens of Chatham talk of petitioning the Department to remove this, urging that the admission and ex-posure be sufficient punishment for the breach of trust.

The decease of Mr. Wm. Whiteford near Allan Park on July 25 reminds another of the pioneers of the district.
Deceased was a native of Renfrewshire, Scotland, and came to this country over 50 yrs. ago settling in Bentinck where he died. Mrs. J. L. Browne, Mrs. B. Moore, Mrs. Stephens are three of five daughters, living in Durham, while Mrs. Whittaker, Kamboos and Mrs. Walker, at home are the other two. He was a man of marked intelligence, of good judgment, and highly respected in the community. His brother, aged 91, father of Mr. Robert Whiteford, Normanby, was present at the funeral, as was Dr. Landerkin, and a number of Hanover people.

A FAD.—Vertical Writing is coming in for hard knocks in various places in Canada and out of it. An educationist from New South Wales says that no vertical writer could get a position in the civil service in that colony. Saturday Night joins in this.—Vertical Writing was supposed to prevent a certain physical malformation, to which the sloping system was accused of predisposing the pupil. That it has had any beneficial effect of this kind has yet to be proved. Meanwhile, it is producing the worst generation of penmen since primitive man first scratched un-shapely characters on the unyielding rocks. The writing of Public school pupils in Ontario is as characterless and monotonous as that of a typewriter, and less lovely than the inscription left by a house-fly on a window pane.

YOUR LABEL

We have carefully made all changes additions, and corrections on our mailing sheets and it being possible to overlook some, we kindly ask every reader to examine his or her label. If not as it should be and our fault, notify us at once and we will rectify it. If it is your neglect, you will kindly attend to it at once.
Our last request received a fair response: there are some yet who need this reminder and we trust they will attend to it.

The Queen's second son, Prince Alfred, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, died suddenly on Tuesday of paralysis of the heart. He was born in 1844 and was Duke of Edinburgh in the British Peerage.

KEEP ALL AT IT.—No community can be spared from the duties of citizenship. From the mayor of the town to the out fielder in the most youthful baseball match, each must strive to make his home popular with outsiders. If a ball club visit a neighboring town and act ungentlemanly reflection is cast upon their home. If a band fails to keep its engagement at a party in the township a feeling of coldness grows up between the country and town. If merchants prate to customers of their difference with rivals, a distrust of all shop keepers is fostered. A town cannot achieve a full measure of success unless every inhabitant works in harmony to that end. It is not necessary to point out the best way to a town. We've all served an apprenticeship at that. There never was a better time to begin on this line, in preparation for the new century.

A HOT ONE.—The editor of the Mt.
Forest Rep. rose in his wrath last week and ripped at Markdale and her citizens for abusive tactics in a lacrosse match played between the teams of the two places. The "so called civilized individuals acted worse than howling dervisants" we are told and it is greatly alleged the referee overheard the threat that if he did not give the final and winning goal to Markdale "he would be carried off in pieces." "Despicable treatment," "ruffianism," "savagery," &c. &c. are some of the terms used and when Brother Lambert used these words there must be more than defeat ranking. It was certainly vandyke like that a nut on the wheel of one of their rigs was loosened and the back of the cover slashed with a knife. This is not sport. The spectators, "the minority of whom were respectable people," seem to have been most at fault.

HONORED IN REVELSTOKE.—The Revelstoke Herald in a recent issue contains the closing exercises of the Public School in which there are 5 teachers, Miss Annie Smith, late of Normanby, being first assistant. A pleasing feature of the day was a presentation to her of a "very artistic brass and enamel ink-stand and tray" with an address. Congratulations, Annie, here is the address: "DEAR MISS SMITH,—We felt that we could not let the year of which this is the closing day, pass without some mark of our appreciation of the kindness and consideration which we have received from you. We have felt that in coming to you with our difficulties we were sure of kindly help, which made things plain to us. We ask you to accept this gift as a token of our gratitude and affection. With it we offer our best wishes that you may spend a pleasant holiday."

S. S. PICNICS.—Thursday last the Presbyterian Sunday School in town with a large number of their friends as well as members of the congregation in Bentinck, Egremont and Glenelg met in McGirr's bush to spend a social afternoon. The ladies young and old revelled in baskets for a while and at the proper time in the rustic way, resting on a log or seat on the ground "hanging their legs over," the big crowd partook of the contents of the baskets to their hearts content, washed down with excellent tea and refreshing lemonade. Superintendent Allan was a busy man, Mr. L. MacFarlane conducted well contended races for which prizes were given. Baseball and Lacrosse matches interested some. More sedate heads played quints, and all looked and acted their best. Pastor Farquharson had two clerical companions for a while, Rev. Jas. Binnie and Rev. Mr. Stewart and some from other congregations whiled away a pleasant afternoon.

On Friday the Sunday School held in Lawrence's Hall, South Glenelg, together with a couple of loads for more Trinity S. School in town and their outing. It was held in Mr. Ector's bush near Thos. McFadden's, and was largely attended. Those we have seen who were there speak in high terms of the good "time" they had. The weather was excellent and provision for the inner man and for the escape of youthful enthusiasm in sports, &c., was of the best.

Mr. Neil McKechnie was in Mt. Forest on Monday and Tuesday in the minutes allowed to secure as many names as possible, a prize being given to the one getting the largest number, also a booby prize to the one getting mix up and a suitable time generally, that being the chief object of the gathering. Miss Maude Whelan receiv-
