GLOOM AND DESPAIR

Give Way To Vigor, Health And Happiness.

An Attack of La Grippe Left the Sufferer Weak, Nervous and Enfeebled—A Victim of Insomnia and Heart Trouble.

Naturally every sick person to whom help is promised, will ask, "has the remedy been successful?" Whom has it helped? We cannot better answer these questions than by publishing testimonials received from grateful people who are anxious that other sufferers may profit by their experience. One of these grateful ones is Mrs. Douglas Kilts, of Perry Station, Ont. Mrs. Kilts says: "Three years ago I had a very severe attack of la grippe, and the disease left me in an extremely worn-out, nervous, and enfeebled condition. The nervousness was so severe as to have almost resulted in St. Vitus dance. Sleep forsook me. I had had attacks of heart trouble, and the headaches I endured were something terrible. I had no appetite, and was literally fading away; I was not able to work about the house, and was so weak that I could scarcely lift a cup of tea. I was treated by a good doctor, but with no benefit. Almost in despair, I resorted to patent medicines, and tried several, one after another, only to be disappointed by each. I lingered in this condition until the winter of 1899, when a friend prevailed upon me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began taking them. From the first the pills helped me, and I could feel my strength gradually returning. I continued the use of the pills according to directions until I had taken eight boxes, when I was again enjoying perfect health. My strength had entirely returned, my appetite was splendid, the heart trouble and nervousness had ceased, while the blessing of sleep, once denied, had again returned. I had gained over thirty pounds in weight, and was able to do all my house work with ease. In fact, I had received a new lease of life. I believe my cure is permanent, as more than a year has since passed, and I feel so strong and well that I venture to say there is not a healthier woman in this section; indeed, I am enjoying the best health I have for 20 years, and this has been brought about by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I feel that I cannot say enough in their praise, for I believe they saved my life. My son has also received the greatest benefit from the use of these pills in a case of spring fever."

SWINDLING THE FARMERS.

Two Schemes Which are Being Operated Just Now.

JUST KEEP YOUR EYE SKINNED.

Farmers should beware of a gang of swindlers who are travelling through the rural districts claiming authority to examine wells. They examine the water through a microscope and find all kinds of bacteria, cholera and typhoid germs, and permit the farmer and his wife to look through the microscope, when they see, of course, a menagerie that will always be found in a drop of water. The frightened farmer looks eager to apply certain remedies, which the fakirs sell at high prices, and which prove to be a little plain soda.

A Shakespeare man sends the Stratford Beacon a cream separator for $4 that will do the work of a $100 article is the bait that glib-tongued gentlemen are holding out in this country to the simple farmer. It is a tin tube, two feet long, to be used in pouring cold water into a milk can, and can be had of any tinman for 25 cents. If any farmer wants to water his own milk, why let him buy a tin tube for the liberty of what a fellow can't understand. But the farmer is not the victim the traveller is after, but the local agent he is trying to appoint. Said agent is to get $2 for every separator he sells, but $2 for the conditions. He has to sign an order for five dozen separators, with the promise that if he does not sell them inside of thirty days he returns them at cost. And here is the story, as when he is sued on his order, the cost, 25 cents, will be put in as evidence against him. The headquarters of the company is in some town that a good many agents will sorrowfully remember as having sent out a gang of fakirs who victimized them a number of years ago with a $4 tin washing machine, supplied on the same kind of an order. Agents or returning their unorderly toys were allowed 65 cents, the cost of making, but by the court were compelled to pay $2 for each machine ordered. So Embro agents take warning and beware in time.

When Baby Cries at Night

There is always a cause for it. Perhaps it is cramps, or colic, a little wind on the stomach; it may be a stiff neck, a cough, cold or headache. For any of these conditions the best remedy to have at your bedside, ready for use, is Polak's New Baby Cure. It is a complete medicine chest, and is a mother's best friend; and so household should be without a Polak's New Baby Cure. SAFETY IN PEKIN.

A New Yorker's Opinion of the Chinese Capital.

"You have collected many instances," writes "J. D. R." "showing that residents in China foresaw what was in store for them. What will you say to the following extract from that fascinating book, 'Chinese Characteristics,' by A. H. Smith?

"Still we must confess to a decided conviction that human life is safer in the Chinese city than in an American city—safer in Pekin than in New York. We believe it to be safer for a foreigner to traverse the interior of China than for a Chinese to traverse the interior of the United States (p. 233).

This was written five years ago by a citizen of the United States who had lived 22 years in China, and wrote one of the very best books ever written on that country."

Reduced to Ashes

Here is a story which General Burgoyne used to tell: At a great dinner party in India the sun was so powerful that on a few seconds the rays lighted upon the hostess and reduced her to ashes. Her husband, having noticed the catastrophe, called to a servant and directed him to sweep up his mistress and bring another bottle of claret.

Wise Man

"I" said the gentleman who had fairly prospered, "I am humbly proud of the fact that I took 'Get thee behind me, Satan,' as my motto when I began business life."

"There is nothing," said the second gentleman, who had measured business life with the first gentleman, "like having good backing."—Indianapolis Press.

Mrs. G. Howell, Dante, Ont., says: I find Miller's Worm Powders a good medicine.

Finns Usually Well Read.

According to a book on the Finns recently published by the Russian authorities, Mrs. O. R. Popov, of St. Petersburg, there is not a single peasant's hut in all Finland where a political paper is not regularly read and most of the Finns, even the peasantry, can recite from memory long portions of the writings of Rineberg and Topelius. Of the thirty-five smaller villages in the country all but five have at least one periodical; the total number of such publications being 186.

My daughter has improved so much that you would scarcely know her. Miller's Compound Iron Pills did it.

"Are you a member of the church?" "O yes." "Are you, really? I never see you there." "No; you see I'm a well, I'm a non-resident member."

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work impurity or disease of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most initiated blood medicine there is.

Dodd's Kidney Pills

Even With the Lawyer

A certain lawyer was in his office one day when a stranger came to the door and said: "Beg your pardon, but can you tell me where Messrs. Smith's office is?" "Yes, it is on the fourth floor." The stranger thanked him, and climbed upstairs. Returning presently, he looked in again. "Smith seems to be out," he said. "Of course he is. If you had asked that question in the first place, I should have answered by telling you so." That stranger had a troubled look on his face as he left the building, but it was peaceful again when he returned next day and enquired of the lawyer: "How much will you charge me for a verbal opinion about a little matter?" "Oh, been stated, the opinion was given, and the stranger was moving away when the lawyer said sharply: "My fee, please." "I haven't a halfpenny to pay you with." "You haven't?" "Of course not; if you had asked me that question in the first place, I should have answered by telling you so. Good morning, sir."

If the child is restless at night, has coated tongue, sallow complexion, a case of Miller's Worm Powders is what is required; pleasant, harmless.

French Gratitude to England.

Four ornamental volumes were presented to Queen Victoria in 1874, containing addresses and thanks from all the principal towns of France. This was to mark the gratitude of the Frenchmen for the relief given to France by Great Britain after the war of 1870. The volumes contain some millions of signatures, and are inscribed upon the covers are the words, "Britannia Grata Gallia."

Don't Blame 'Em.

"Yes," says a rural local, "we could stand Hiram Redding's daughter signing her name Mae Redding, and the way she wrote her name Emma, and the way she wrote her name Emma, instead of plain Emma, but when old Bill Fish got to scrawling himself as Byll Fish, we just run him out of town.—Chicago News."

FOREIGN MARRIAGES

Eulalie Thinks They are Not to be Disapproved of.

The number of international marriages—that is, marriages between rich American girls and titled Europeans—is annually increasing. Some oppose these marriages because, they say, Americans make better husbands than foreigners. They contend that American girls who marry foreign husbands thereby cast a slight upon American men. Others oppose these unions because they believe that liberty to which they are entitled by gross. Yet another class discontemns such marriages upon the plea that they take too much money out of the country.

Let me say that I do not disapprove of the marriages of American girls with titled foreigners. Theoretically, at all events, he should be the best husband whom the girl freely chooses. A girl may merely love a title. It is heresies all over the world. People Matrimonial misfits among those who like to unearth scandals in high life, are not so much concerned to not attract so much attention. As to these marriages taking large sums of money out of the country, I have only to remark that the owners of money presumably spend it where they please. Spaniards do not find fault with that because I spend my money outside of Spain. If rich American girls choose to spend their money in sustaining the ancient splendor of these European houses into which they marry, a country so conspicuous for its freedom as the United States should not object.

Arsenic Eaters in Europe

The practice of taking arsenic in minute doses is very prevalent among the peasantry of the mountainous districts of Austria-Hungary and France. They declare that this poison enables them to ascend with ease heights which they could not otherwise climb.

A dose of Miller's Worm Powders occasionally will keep the children healthy.

Something in It.

The question, "What's in a name?" may be answered from one point of view by narrating a bit of experience confided to one of his friends by a man named Coward.

Now, be it known that there are branches of the Coward family who can trace an honored lineage back to old colonial days, and are quite as proud of their ancestry as the Vere de Veres or Fitz Montmorencys.

"Have you never thought of changing your name?" asked the friend.

"No," answered the Coward, "in question. There are too many thrilling associations connected with it."

"In what way?"

"Well, from the time when I was a little boy until I went through college I had more than fifty fights on account of it."

I used to be continually tired, now I am strong and well—Miller's Compound Iron Pills did it.

Types and Spacing.

"You," he cried, "are the type of perfect womanhood."

"And you are the type of perfect manhood," she faltered shyly.

"We are spaced out too much, don't you think?" he whispered.

And as he drew her to his bosom he encountered only the feeblest and most perfunctory resistance.

Miller's Grip Powders Cures.

"Why do they keep you here?" asked the prison visitor. "Oh!" replied the man who had burned down his residence to get the insurance, "for home consumption, I suppose."

Back of every idea there must be a man if that idea is to be materialized.

The Best Food for Infants

Nature planned that infants should have only milk for at least the first year of life. But thin milk, skimmed milk, will not nourish. It's the milk that is rich in cream, or fat, that does the work. This is because fat is positively necessary for the growing body.

Scott's Emulsion contains the best fat, in the form of Cod-Liver Oil, for all delicate children.

They thrive greatly under its use. Soon they weigh more, eat more, play better and look better. It's just the right addition to their regular food. The hypophosphites of lime and soda in it are necessary to the growth and formation of bone and teeth.

School Gardens to Belgium.

School gardens were established in Belgium many years ago, and it is said that to them is due the prosperity of the rural population, the larger portion being engaged in truck gardening. After the introduction of agriculture into the public schools of France by a law passed in 1885 school gardens increased in that country. Annual appropriations have been devoted to an extension of the system in Switzerland since 1885.

You think I look so much better; yes, and I feel better—Miller's Compound Iron Pills did it.

Age is to be respected; it is often the only respectable feature a person possesses.
