NOTES OF A TRIP THROUGH GREY CO.

THE EDITOR ON A RAMBLE.

Starting on Thursday Aug 16, through Glengly township, one was forcibly struck by the extent of the injury to drouth. Before recent rains much of it was a land of brown heath and stony prospect. Steady progress is being made in material advancement, however, as indicated by improved fencing, new buildings and better roads. The work of the council is in evidence in several new and somewhat costly bridges and in work on the "everlasting hills," whose crown and slopes in many cases would have been improved had they still borne their original crop of trees.

Markdale is a pretty place to spend an hour or two, and its citizens rightly seem to think it a place worth living in all the time. They have adorned it with some fine residences, placed their school on a commanding site, treated themselves to cement sidewalks and are now constructing streets on the most approved plan, by crushed rock and road roller. The two business establishments of McFarland and Hill are extensive and pretentious, while several other establishments and manufacturing concerns seem to be doing a thriving business.

Holland and Euphrasia as viewed from the town line do not present a very attractive appearance. The country is flat, and is or has been boulder covered, though with a fairly generous soil as indicated by some fields yet to draw in. We are informed that Euphrasia as a whole is better than this sample.

Lying in the north-east angle of Holland is the romantic little village of Walter's Falls, containing a few stores, a hotel, a mill, a thriving implement business, Methodist and Anglican churches etc. Besides it contains in and near it some enthusiastic agriculturists, whose efforts at getting up a Fall Show without the aid of County grants have been successful and commendable. Secy Watson, a harnessmaker, is an old Priceville boy, while Mr. John Coleridge, the implement man, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Coleridge, N. Egremont. The "Falls" at present are at low water, are about 30 ft high, and a saw mill is perched right on the brink. The ravine they fall into is a romantic one and when the water is in flood must present a pleasing picture. The stream is a small, spring-fed affluent of the Bighead river which reaches the lake at Meaford.

Striking north through Sydenham we become conscious of entering a new geological formation. We have fewer boulders and at intervals grey scars of rock are striking features of the landscape. The country breaks into hill and valley of a bolder nature than in S. Grey, and we begin to notice that we are travelling in a country of large and well cultivated orchards, with thrifty looking farms despite the uneven ground. Woodford, a decayed looking village about half way on the gravel road connecting O. Sound and Meaford is reached just as the old fashioned stage lumbers by. Some day the G. T. R. in a generous fit will extend the line from Meaford and thus tap O. Sound on two sides.

On north into the peninsula and still in the long township of Sydenham, past Selcote, a new post office recently established and we come in sight of "the water," always fascinating to mlanders. Here from the residence of Mr. Jas. Cleave is a most delightful view and it is the bean ideal of an idler's paradise to loit at full length under heavy laden fruit trees, to watch the shimmer of the bay a few miles away, and the dreamy, rocky coasts of Sarawak and Keppel beyond. The mood of reverie is delightfully broken by the passing of the C. P. R. and other "boats" and in imagination you follow them to busy docks or past the enchanting islands of the Georgian Bay.

[The rest of these notes must be held over like much else.—Ed. REVIEW.]

Glascott.

Intended for last week.

The weather continues very warm. Harvesting is about complete. Threshing has commenced and fall wheat sowing is in operation.

A daughter arrived at Mr. Thos Moran's jr. All are well.

Died, at Rochester N. Y. on 5th inst Mrs. Charles Richards (nee Sarah Lamb.) Deceased was a sister of Geo Lamb Glascott and Joseph Lamb Markdale. She leaves to mourn her loss, a husband and seven of a family.

We welcome in our midst Mr and Mrs Scott, who have lately arrived here and takes charge of the management of John Ritchie's farm.

Mr John Ritchie returned to his home at Port Arthur this week, after an absence of seven weeks.

Mrs Geo Lamb and Miss Sadie left this week for a six week's visit with Mrs L's parents, brothers and sisters at the Sco Mich. It is five years since Mrs L's last sail up the lakes.

Mr Chas and Miss Elizabeth Boyle left here on the 18th inst for a two months visit with relatives and friends. Their headquarters will be at Brandon where Mr Boyle's daughter (Mrs Wm Ledingham) resides.

Miss Maud Biggar, of Hespeler, is at present visiting with Miss Minnie Lamb and other schoolmates for a few weeks.

Messrs C & J Boyle have invested in a Massey Harris (six ft cut) Binder and has done its work to perfection this season, while Robert Goodwill also runs a new Peter Hamilton and concludes it is alright.

ZION.

A most happy event took place at "Rosedale," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Cook, last Wednesday, Aug. 29th, when their only daughter, Ella Maude, was wedded to Mr. John Love of Lauriston. The pleasing incident took place at the noon hour, under a flower-decked arch at the front door, where over fifty relatives and near friends were assembled in bright attire. To the sweet strains of the wedding march played by Miss H. Isaacs of Dromore, the groom and his supporter, Mr. John Cook took their positions, followed in a few moments by the bride leaning on her father's arm, preceded by page boy, Tommy Cook, dressed in white, little Edith Love, wreathed with flowers, and her winsome bridesmaid, Miss Annie Love. Rev. Wray R. Smith deftly and yet solemnly made the twain one. The bride was dressed in a beautiful gown of white organdie trimmed with valencien-lace and carried a lovely bouquet of white asters and feathery asparagus. A cluster of white hydrangea bloom nestled under the folds of the lions' veil. She was a picture of queenly beauty. The bridesmaid wore white organdie trimmed with pink and carried a bouquet of pink and white petunias. A circlet of pretty blossoms crowned the fair one. Professor Browne of Durham took "snap shots" of the bridal party and afterwards of the whole group. The next move was to the dining room where two tables laden with choice viands awaited them. The sight was a fine one. The glittering silver, the polished glass, the delicious edibles, the bright flowers, the beautiful bridal cake and the gay faces, all combined to make a pleasant picture in the mind. Music and song floated in from the parlor. It was a happy hour. Rev. Smith and R. T. Edwards made short speeches. After an hour's pleasant chat song and story, the happy hearts left for Croyton Station, where they took the evening train for the Queen City, bearing with them the good wishes of all and carrying considerable rice too. The guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. John Macle and their daughter, Mrs. J. Latan of London; Mr. and Mrs. James Watson of Normanby; Mr. and Miss Isaacs of Dromore; Miss M. Hanbury of Owen Sound; Rev. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith and Mrs. G. Mighton of Durham; Mr. R. Cook and Misses Millie and Mary of Croyton; Mr. and Mrs. Lawson and Mrs. Donnelly of Markdale; Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. John Whyte, Miss Tillie Whyte and the groom's parents, brother and sisters from Lauriston. The esteem in which the bride is held was clearly shown by the number of useful and handsome presents she received. May the choicest of earth's blessings be theirs. [The rest of Zion's budget is held over.]

ROCKY SAUGEEN.

The whistle of the engine and the hum of the cylinder is again heard in this vicinity, but owing to the continued drouth during the summer the crops are slightly below the average.

Mr and Mrs Ferguson, of Chicago, were visiting at the later's sister Mrs L. McLean the fore part of the week.

Mr J H Clayburn, who has been an old resident of this part is again renewing old acquaintances at Mrs E Middleton's.

Geo Ewen, mother and sister have returned from a short visit to Stayner where a brother and sister of the former reside.

Chas Burns and family are leaving this section for Owen Sound where they intend to live for some time.

Robert Beatty visited at Mr Hugh McKechnie's on Sunday last.

A few cuss words are heard here about just now owing to the unwearying and repairing of the Rocky bridge. This is due to having to take a short cut around by Aberdeen.

Walt Middleton visited friends at Traverston on Sunday.

Allan McKinnon left here last week for Fort William where he intends to seek employment.

Rev Mullen, of Toronto occupied the Presbyterian pulpit here in the absence of Rev Graham, who is holidaying at his former parsonate in Bayfield.

Among those attending the Toronto Exhibition are Mr and Mrs L. McLean, Angus and May McKechnie and Mr and Mrs Gillie Boyd. The latter couple intend visiting friends and relatives in Buffalo before returning.

James Banks returned after a year's absence in the Sultana mines near Rat Portage. He looks as if mining agrees with him.

Miss Gertie Snyder, of Albany, has returned to her duties as nurse at the hospital there after holidaying for some time at home.

A number of the intelligent people of this part took in the Reform Convention on Labor day and report a profitable time.

Boothville.

Harvest is once more a thing of the past and the hum of threshers are to be heard in every direction.

The rain on Monday morning was very needful, as swamp fires were beginning to be dangerous.

Mr Vint Hill and Mr Jas. Eccles, have purchased a new threshing outfit, which gives the men a little more than they care to do.

Misses Eva Booth and Bertha Hardy, visited Priceville friends the beginning of the week.

Mr Ronald McDonald, accompanied by his sister attended church in Priceville, last Sunday.

Mr Jno. Aldcorn, took in the Toronto Fair this week, and reports having a good time.

We are glad to see Mr Dick Hannam able to be around again.

We are sorry to say that Mr Jack Campbell's little child is very ill.

Glad to see Mr Graham around again, and congratulate him on his success with his entrance pupils, as they all passed with highest marks. We are sorry to hear that Mr Graham is going to leave at the end of the year.

GREAT MOVING SALE.

We have decided to move into our new store within

The Next 20 Days.

We don't want to remove more goods than we can possibly help, and are fully alive to the fact that this means the prices must be the leverage to turn it into money.

During this great Moving Sale we will sell Goods at prices that will put competition out of sight and make buyers forget that "times are close"

EVERYTHING MUST GO.

REMEMBER THIS IS A
