who, it says, has succeeded in landing on St. Helena. From his accounts of the conditions under which Boer prisoners are detained it pears that they are exceedingly well treated, and even complain of getting too fat. Those of their number on parole have been able to find work, while their comrades under surveillance are treated most courteous ly and are allowed a vast extent of ground on which to take exercise. All unite in declaring that since they were made prisoners the only period of calm and tranquility of mind which they have experienced has been that spent in St. Helena, with whose inhabitants they live on the best of terms.

He was one of the first to reach here with tidings of the great disaster which has befallen that city, and the magnitude of that disaster remains to be told because of his endeavors to reach home. After remaining through the hurricane of Saturday, he departed from Galveston on schooner, and came across the bay to Morgan's Point, where he caught train for Houston. The hurricane, Mr. Timm'ns said, was the worst ever

1,000 People Perished. The estimates made by citizens of Galveston was that 4,000 houses, most of them residences, have been destroyed, and that at least 1,000 people have been drowned, killed, or missing. Some business houses were destroyed, but most of them stood, though badly damaged. The city, Mr. Timmins avers, is complete wreck, so far as he could see from the water front and from the war, and his wife has died of a broken Tremont hotel. Water was blown over the island by the hurricane, the wind blowing at the rate of 80 miles an hour straight from the Gulf, and forcing the sea water before it in big waves. The gale was a steady one, the heart of it striking the city about 5 o'clock yesterday evening, and continuing without intermission until midnight last night, when it abated somewhat, although it continued to blow all night.
