QUEEN ESTHER.

The result of week's of practicing for the cantata—Queen Esther-must have been most gratifying to the promoters, the hospital trust and Prof. C. W. staving with her uncle in Hepworth, on Tuesday and Wednesday evening. The attendance on the first night was. though the work of the soloists and the Wellington, son of Mr Donald Guthrie, choruses on the last night showded considerably better finish as compared with the first evening. Those who attended last night had the advantage of seeing those taking the principal parts in proper costumes which added greatly to the scenic effect. The choruses were exceptionally well rendered, the blending of the voices being all that could be desired, and showed both the calibre obtainable amongst Owen Sound musicians and the able work of the conductor. The following were the principal characteristics: King, W. R. Chester ; Haman, A. Wright ; Mordecal. G. E. Cox; High priest, W. F. Boddy; Gladys Wilkinson. Every part was well taken, that of the king, queen, Haman, Mordecai, Hegai, the beggar, Zeresh and Mordecai's sister being most prominent. The children in both boy's attendants did their work with courtly well disguised in their oriental garb. Mrs Henry Adams, slso Mr. and Mrs | Prof. Hemicke's orchestra played an introductory selection as well as several interludes between the acts, all of which

OTTAWA NEWS.

The house got down to business on Monday afternoon and surprised itself at the amount disposed of in the two hours session. The debate on the Address brought out two new men who demonstrated to the satisfaction of all who heard them their right to claim high rank among the debaters on the floor. Mr Hugh Guthrie of South who represented the same constituency twenty-four years ago and himself moved the address in 1877, and Mr Chas. Maroil of Bonaventure, Que. a French Canadian Journalist of wide repute in his native Province, and beyond, proved a team that have been seldom equalled and probably never excelled in the performance of the task assigned to them.

Not only is general satisfaction expressed at the selection of the speaker in the Commons, but hearty approval is heard on every hand of the action of the Government in nominating Dr. Peter Macdonald of East Huron as Deputy Speaker and Chairman Committee of the whole. Dr. McDonald has sat in the House continuously since 1887, and has had considerable experience in the office which he now
