Rev. Dr. Talmage Descants Eloquently on Its Power For Good or Evil mage discourses of good influences brought to bear for the world's imed with linen, with a writer's inkhorn by his side."

The poem from which my text is taken is epic, lyric, dramatic, weird and overpowering. It is more than Homeric or Dantesque. No one ever had such divine dreams as Ezekiel. In a vision this prophet had seen wrathful angels, destroying angels, for good or evil! each with a sword, but in my text he sees a merciful angel with an ink-The receptacle for the ink in olden time was made out of the horn of a cow or a ram or a roebuck, as now it is made out of metal or glass, and therefore was called an inkhorn, as now we say inkstand. We have all spoken of the power of the sword, of the power of wealth, of the power of office, of the power of social influence, but to-day I speak of the power for good or evil in the inkstand. It is upon your tables, holding a black or blue or red liquid. It is a fortress, an armory, a gateway, a ransom or demolition. "You mistake," says someone; "it is the pen that has the powno mark. Bradscreets' on Trade. Business at Montreal has been only fair this week. Country remittances, as might be expected at this season, are a little slow in some cases. There is no reason for complaint about the amount of trade being done in wholesale cl cles at Toronto. There is a disposition apparent on the part of many retailers, however, to get their orders in the hands of jobbers in order to get the lines wanted and at current prices. Money is in good demand. Trade at Winnipeg has been stimulated by mild weather. The feeling appears to be that the coming season will show a large improvement over last year. The wholesale firms at Hamilton summer trade is very encouraging. There has been quite an active movement in the jobbing trade at
