A LONG STEP.—Has been made towards beautifying the town this spring, and it is only a question of time before all our streets will have shade treefronts of our hardy Canadian Maple. All Upper Town and the face of the hill except in a few places has been planted, and it seems desirable that all should be planted at once so as to have uniformity of growth. Mr. Jno. A. Black has set out a lot this year, and the question of protection to the young trees is now a live one. Watering and mulching should not be neglected and youngsters should be instructed to avoid swinging on them in play. The cow by-law we assume will be rigidly enforced, but to avoid accidents the safest way will be to put up guards of some kind.

Our stock of hats is away ahead of anything shown in town, in variety, style, quality and price. Come and see for yourself.

DON'T MISS IT.—Rev. Mr. Farquharson, on Monday night, will give an address, which being one of a series of three on the relationship of Christ to Society, promises to be most interesting and instructive. Christ in his Divine relationships is an important theme, but not less so is he on the human side. "The relationship of Christ to the Home" is the first of the series, which has been outlined in the Assembly's Committee plan of study for Young People's Societies. Those who heard the last on Martin Luther will know what to expect from Mr. Farquharson.

A SURPRISE PRAYER MEETING.

Rev. D. L. Campbell Honored.

The good people of Knox church, Normanby can keep a secret as well as appreciate a good thing. They pay their pastor punctually what they promise and punctuate the payment occasionally by a present at New Year time. Just now, however, the warmth of their feelings bubbles over between times and at last prayer meeting night, at the close, he was completely surprised by the revealing of a well kept secret to present him with a gold watch and chain. Mr. Jas. Watson read the address and Mr. David Leith made the presentation.

We congratulate Mr. Campbell and the congregation on the happy union that seems to mellow and strengthen with age and have pleasure in publishing the warm and kindly address:

To Rev. Mr. Campbell,

Dear Sir,

The members and adherents of Knox Church, Normanby, on this occasion desire to convey to you their appreciation of your ministerial and pastoral duties. The former being highly conducive to a spiritual uplifting and edification of the people and the latter to the promotion of a social unity in the church as a whole, of an individual incentive to a nobler manhood, a warmer heart, a truer friendship, a wider sympathy and a deeper love. The small gift which we are about to present to you is not intended to represent any comparative value or relation between you and us, but more as a medium or token of the feeling of this congregation to you as minister and pastor. In this gift which we now pass from the hand of the congregation to that of your own may a mutual blessing be felt. Be assured that it affords us genuine pleasure to meet you on this happy and social occasion and to express to you through this short address the sentiments of the entire congregation toward you. May a blessing continue to attend your ministrations amongst us and may you be long spared to a life of usefulness and honor. May the pleasant relations which exist between you and us long continue and may they not pass without a moral and spiritual elevation of the congregation and yourselves. Expressing to Mrs. Campbell, yourself and family our best wishes and esteem, we are

Yours most respectfully
KNOX CHURCH CONGREGATION.

AT LAST.—Mr Wolfley is the boss building mover in our town and has this week got the McIntyre frame which stood on our street for about a year moved on to the stone foundation built for it just west of Caldwell's Livery. The vista is now clear and we look with pride on the new McIntyre block in all its length and fulness. Some critics are wishing it had been a three-story building to justify the width of the wood work around the top story, but all are agreed it is one of, if not the most noted improvements in the building line that Durham has seen for many years.

CARROT.—Intermediate White Field Carrot, 40c lb. at Parker's Drug Store.

FINE NEW STABLE.—At least it will be when erected. We refer to the Knapp House hostelry, the enterprising proprietor of which last week had his old stable razed, and work is now in progress on the foundation for another to be built of more enduring brick, which will further enhance the business beauty and utility of the busy corner. Across the street Mr. A. S. Hunter will move the old, and almost historic Stewart residence, taking it to the east about the breadth of itself, leaving that corner available for something handsome in the architectural line.

DIED SUDDENLY.—Very painful was the news that shocked the Town on Monday morning last that Louise, the second daughter of Barrister J. P. Telford had died from an attack of tonsillitis. Last Thursday, she was instinct with happy May-time life, a bright home blossom all too soon to fade, but death is no respecter. She was a little over 8 years old, and only those who have suffered a similar loss can realize the "aching void" the loss of such a child means. We tender to the bereaved parents our deepest sympathy. The funeral took place on Tuesday to the Saugeen Cemetery, which owes a good deal to Mr. Telford's public interest, and which to him will have now an interest more tender than before. Rev. Mr. Farquharson conducted appropriate services, speaking of the mysteries of life about us, as seen in the removal of bright young lives while in other cases apparently spent lives lingered on. Nothing but faith in Him who said "what I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter," could reconcile us to wrench of parting with loved ones.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The meeting of this body on Monday evening was preceded by a meeting of the Court of Revision dealing with the sidewalk construction of 1900. It appears that some of this is very defective arising either from improper construction or mistakes in the proportions in which the material is mixed. This is not the only complaint however; in some cases the measurements are disputed, and worse than all the rate per foot has not been clearly defined and while the council is charging and needs 11 1/2 cts to clear itself, some ratepayers allege that the agreement calls only for 10 1/2 cts and will pay no more.

We are not prepared to say who is responsible for this mix-up, but the situation calls for a good deal of municipal wisdom and civic forbearance. The defective walks must be made good, the measurements surely can be agreed upon, but just how the difference in price is to be met is a puzzle. Mayor Calder had the statutes at his elbow and read the law of qualification for councillors which completely bars one of our elected councillors and if street talk were to be believed several others also. He reminded them of the danger of legislation being called in question if enacted by men not duly qualified and suggested that before important by-laws are passed they should, in the interests of the town, assure themselves on the matter.

The Board of Works on the question of the condition of the water tanks made a poor showing, and very necessary steps were taken to see that these were put in right condition at once. One of the tanks on a western street has we understand been empty most of the winter, while others are three-fourths full.

The prevalence of small pox in the province led the Board of Health to ask for a grant of $35 for which the resident medical men would vaccinate the whole school. The council did not see their way to grant this, and should an epidemic prevail much more expense will be incurred privately for the Board has the power to compel paid vaccination.

The Board of Works was instructed with the placing of a few trees on Garafaxa St from the market ground southward as far as the new sidewalk extended.

CEMENT.

'Have they picked upon the location yet? is now the stock question in town, and intense eagerness is expressed both in town and country, to have this point settled.

Now, though we have had our say and have our preferences, we are bound to admit, that since seeing the vast Michigan works we are not inclined to rail at an apparent slowness in starting. To establish such vast works takes both time and thought, for a mistake made in the initiatory stages might cost thousands of dollars.

Reports from Toronto indicate satisfactory progress in stock selling and and those who wish to secure it at par will not have long to do so. Without a doubt the opening of operations here will be the signal for a rush of stock takers who may possibly have to be refused. We urged in all good faith on several occasions, that the local stock sheets should be well filled up before being closed. They were certainly filled better than at first expected, yet, when the great gain to the local investors was considered, we felt it matter if regret that even more was not forthcoming. Outside places are now having their innings, though local investors are not yet debarr'd we understand, and those who can should lose no time in securing some of the first stock. The handsome prospectus, lately issued, at page 26, says:

"There are no elements of speculation entering into the manufacture of this article. It has been demonstrated by repeated tests and comparisons that the highest grade of Portland Cement known to the scientific world is produced from North American marl and clay. Our natural deposit at Durham is absolutely determined, both in quality and extent. Soundings and analyses have told the story unmistakably. We not only know that we have a mine, but we know precisely what is in the mine. Unlike a forest, our manufactured material cannot burn up or blow down. Unlike a mine, we are obliged neither to pump nor prop. Water is no obstacle. There is no prospecting to be done, no chances to be taken. In our marl beds there are known to be many millions of barrels of unmanufactured cement; there is therefore an unlimited supply of the very best raw material. Our location is ideal. We are assured of the most improved machinery operated by engineers and workmen of long experience in cement manufacture, and everything necessary to make the highest grade of Portland Cement at a minimum cost, and as this article is the best known building material, and manufactured at less cost than any of its competitors (brick, wood, stone, terracotta, etc.), the market is unlimited, the profits large and certain, and hence the industry staple."

The prospectus enters fully into the profits of German and United States Cement factories, taken from reliable official sources. It says Germany, a cement exporting country, with most of its product still manufactured under the old crude and extravagant system, laboring also under the disadvantages of sharp competition in prices, heavy export shipping rates, coupled with the payment of immense duties and tariffs in order to sell her cement in foreign markets, all of which tend materially to decrease the earning power, has always made handsome dividends on her cement properties.

The United States has also universally good paying cement mills, as will be seen by reading the articles in the prospectus, taken from the American press. Again quoting the prospectus: "It will be understood that the above mentioned American plants were working under serious disadvantages which will not be encountered by the National Portland Cement Company, Limited, as we have no limestone rock to blast, mine, transport, grind, etc., all of which is an expensive process. On the other hand, our raw material is found in its native resting-place in a condition ready to deliver directly to the mill for immediate mixing and burning, without any expense of preparation whatever, and when it is understood that the plant of The National Portland Cement Company, Limited, will be equipped with the very latest improved machinery, instead of the old crude and expensive system of manufacturing and that the material will pass through the entire process of manufacture without the aid of human hands, it must certainly appear even to the most criticizing and conservative business man that the cost of manufacture will be greatly reduced, and that the profits and earnings of The National Portland Cement Company, Limited, should at least equal the earnings of the mills referred to.

Taking into consideration and estimating simply the amount actually saved by our splendid system of manufacturing, together with the amount saved in preparing for mixing and burning, by reason of the natural condition of our raw material, we find it impossible to figure the profits even as low as the highest indicated by any of the factories above mentioned. From the foregoing, and from the most conservative estimates, we are entitled to the conclusion that the earnings of The National Portland Cement Company, Limited, should be far in excess of that of any other mill in existence to-day.
