A PAN-AMERICAN ATTRACTION.

Among the many attractions at the Pan-American Exposition, none has drawn more attention than the Boston steel Loop-de-Loop Railway, which is situated just outside the East Amherst and Delaware avenue entrance to the Fair grounds. This novel railway has attracted thousands of people since the opening of Buffalo's big show, and has already succeeded in outrivalling its rivals within the Exposition gates. The Loop affords its passengers a ride through space, part of the time with heels up and head down, at a terrific speed, and in perfect safety. As a matter of fact the road was built altogether with a view to the safety and comfort of its patrons, and the many competent engineering experts who have examined on the ear. its construction and workings have united in the report that it is perfectly safe. The Loops may be reached direct either by the Main-Zoo or the Jefferson street cars.

SHORT STORIES OF THE DAY ********

A clerical friend of mine told me a capital story of a Yale man who was the stroke oar of his crew and chief athlete on the football field.

He entered the ministry and spent years in missionary labor in the far west. Walking one day through a frontier town, a cowboy stepped up to him and said : "Parson, you don't have enough fun. Take a drink.'

The minister declined. "Well," he said, "parson, you must have some fun. Here's a faro layout. Take a hand in the game."

The minister declined. "Parson," said the cowboy, "you'l die if you don't have some fun." And he knocked the parson's hat off his head and hit him a whack

A baggage man on the Sante Fe who runs into Kansas City from out in the western part of Kansas, has lost lots of sleep. It is doubtful if he ever can catch up with it. He leaves Hutchinson at night and reaches Kansas City in the morning. Nearly every night he brings in his car two or three coops of live domestic ducks. During the night, when he has no baggage to deliver at small stations. it has been his habit and privilege to lie down on an improvised couch and dose. With the advent of the ducks, the dozing stopped. The constant quacking of the ducks, who could not understand their strange environment, would not permit o

For many nights as he lay awake he planned relief. He thought of strangling the ducks or chloroforming them. But neither expedient seemed good. One night a bright idea came to him. After he had put it into execution the ducks were silent.

The next night he had two coops of unusually vociferous ducks. As soon as it came time to sleep he wrenched a slat from one of the coops, reached in and pulled out a duck. From his pocket he took a small rubber band, which he slipped over the duck's bill just back of the nostrils. The duck tried to quack, but the rubber band, while it stretched a little, would not permit the duck to open its bill far enough to use its tongue. Only a murmur came from it. One by one the ducks were muzzled, and the baggage man rested comfortably. The commission men were surprised next morning when they received a lot of ducks with rubber bands around their bills, and when the bands were removed the shouts of protest from per around each box. If your dealer the ducks were deafening.-Kansas City Star.

The royal library at Windsor castle contains about 100,000 volumes, and among them are many literary curios. A unique Canton on vellum, the Bible which Charles I. took with him to the scaffold, the same monarch's copy of Shakespeare, and an original copy of "The Faery Queen" are among Windsor castle's literary treasures. The king has taken a keen interest in the doings of contemporary writers, and a curious little hobby has been the collection of pennibs used by them.
