

FATAL ACCIDENT AT PROTON STATION.

Last Saturday afternoon a way freight train was proceeding to Owen Sound and when near Proton Station the engine jumped the track and climbed the bank. It then toppled backwards, killing engineer Campbell and brakeman McCraw and seriously perhaps fatally, injuring fireman Wm. McCauley and brakeman John Lancaster. Eleven cars of merchandise piled up on one another and were smashed to kindling wood and another car with four of the company's painters in it were thrown on top of the pile but the men miraculously escaped. All the men belong to Toronto Junction, and the Globe, from whence we glean these facts says further:

Shortly before entering Proton station the train was obliged to go through a cut where a new switch was in course of construction. The direct cause of the accident is not definitely known. It is supposed, however, that the workmen employed on the switch had left a quantity of gravel and stones in the flange, which caused the engine to jump the rails. Local officials emphatically deny that the accident was caused by the spreading of the track.

Assistance was immediately procured from Proton, and auxiliaries were despatched at once from Owen Sound and Toronto Junction.

Ghastly were the discoveries of the rescuers. Engineer Campbell had faced death at his post. He was found pinned under the wreck, his hand still on the throttle of his engine. Literally scalded to death. His death had apparently been instantaneous. Brakemen McCraw and Lancaster and Fireman McCauley were still alive when extricated from the debris. McCraw was horribly scalded from head to foot; McCauley from his hips down, while Lancaster, who had been thrown into the wreck from the top of a box car on which he had been riding, was seriously injured internally. All three were more or less bruised. They were brought to Owen Sound by special train, which reached here at 11.30 p. m. and were immediately taken to the General and Marine Hospital. McCraw succumbed to his terrible injuries at 5.30 this morning. Lancaster and McCauley are still alive, but little hope is entertained of their recovery.

SOME GAS.—Hepworth people were bound to have oil and bored but only gas was given them. They kept on however and a flow large enough to be called the "Largest Gas Well in America" has been struck, and we take from an exchange this account of the discovery: "At 3.30 on Tuesday afternoon last, a short shrill blast of the derrick whistle was distinctly heard, and it was immediately surmised by the citizens of Hepworth that oil had been struck. In ten minutes nine tenths of the population of this prosperous village was clustered around the derrick. However, it wasn't oil, but gas. The largest gas well in North America had been tapped. After the accident of the skip-block and been repaired at 1 o'clock that day, drilling at once recommenced, driller McCann in charge of the job. Everything went well till 3.30 p. m., when with a slight gurgling sound the drill tapped the gas vein at a depth of 110 feet. In one second driller McCann was 'hors de combat,' stretched at length on the derrick floor from the effects of the gas, while rocks, dirt and water was thrown to the top of the derrick, a distance of nearly fifty feet. The other drillers immediately formed themselves into an ambulance and succeeded in getting McCann out of the derrick and resuscitating him. For a quarter of an hour the gas continued to throw dirt and water out of the hole, and when it settled down the immense amount of gas flow could be seen. It is rather difficult to estimate what the volume of the gas will be, but it is calculated it will be in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 feet every 24 hours, with a standing pressure of probably 350 lbs. to the square inch. Drilling commenced over a week ago when the hole was sunk about ten feet to prepare for the nitro glycerine shot. The drillers are of the opinion that the shot will increase the volume of gas 1,200,000 cubic feet per 24 hours."—Ex.

The hotel-keepers in some Ontario towns are taking as much interest in enforcing the regulations affecting their business as any of the temperance organizations. The Cobourg Post says that the hotel men of Cobourg have agreed among themselves to strictly observe the regulations of the License Act regarding the selling of liquor between the hours of ten o'clock on Saturday night and Sunday morning and last week the good resolution was first put in force. Any hotel man breaking the agreement will have to submit to a penalty imposed and subscribed to by the dealers themselves. At Berlin the hotel keepers' association have similar regulations in force.
