Additional Locals on Page 8. PRES. MCKINLEY DEAD.

The whole world waiting last week for the expected recovery of the wounded President was disappointed. The bullet did its work. On Thursday unfavorable symptoms developed and continued till 2.15 Saturday morning when he died.

His memory will be worshipped and worthily so. His "Good bye, good bye all, it is God's way," will be long remembered by the nation so severely stricken.

On our inside pages will be found details of the last scene and fine cuts of McKinley and his successor. An autopsy has been held and it is shown that from the first he had no chance. The body lay in State in Buffalo City Hall where it was viewed by thousands. It was taken to Washington and the road was lined throughout by sorrowing citizens who came to watch the train pass by and catch a glimpse of the bier placed in an observation car so as to be seen. It lay in state in Washington and the solemn and imposing state funeral will have taken place, tonight, (Wednesday.) Mrs. McKinley wishes to have the body in her own home and tomorrow, Thursday, it will be laid to rest with his two children in Canton, Ohio.

Pres. Roosevelt has taken office and promises to follow exactly Pres. McKinley's programme. A certain fear that "Teddy" Roosevelt, the Rough Rider, would lack dignity as President, is being completely dispelled.

The sympathy evoked in Canada and in all lands has been remarkable. The world, notwithstanding wars, is becoming unified.

Mr. Harry Bennett captivated the audience with his funny songs and sayings, particularly in his inimitable song "the moving job."—World. In Town Hall evening of Show Day.

KIND WORDS.—As noted in our Priceville correspondence last week, Mr. W. J. Blakeston was leaving for Owen Sound. As a tribute to an old friend we have pleasure in publishing a paragraph of the long address presented to him which is as true as it is felicitous. After referring to his work in school, church, league, &c. it says: "But much as we shall miss you in all these connections we shall miss you especially in our social contact. We have recognized your influence over our young men and women as elevating and ennobling. To meet you was always to meet a smile and a welcome. In the social group your presence has been life and light, and when we miss you from our midst we shall miss a ray of sunshine. In your departure Priceville and vicinity is sustaining an inestimable loss, which, without depreciation of others we feel cannot be made good.

AT THE CEMENT WORKS.

We took a walk the other day, like so many good pilgrims are doing, in the direction of the work now going on in connection with the cement works and for the benefit of our readers who have not that privilege we take the liberty of recording some of the things we saw and heard in the company of Director Gilbert McKechnie.

THE BUILDING BLOCKS.

These have been a source of never failing interest to the hundreds who have seen them. The simplicity of the manufacture, the ease with which any kind of face desired may be produced, the provision for laying absolutely airtight, the effectiveness of the locking, the great advantage of a smooth and uniform hollow wall are all features that appear commendable. This hollow wall, good in itself summer or winter, as we have pointed out before, renders lathing unnecessary, and plastering of the finest coat may be done on the face of the stone. Corner pieces, gable pieces, &c., can be made readily, and the most taking feature of all is the assurance that this material with all its advantages is cheaper than brick.

Mr. Leighton, in charge of this department, assures us to-day, (Tuesday) that enough blocks are now made for one of the small buildings whose dimensions are 135 feet by 35. This is to be used as a machine shop and before another week it is expected to be under way.

Mr. L. kindly showed us through the "office" in the old residence, whose builders were positive never dreamed that the kitchen would be a carpenter shop, a bedroom a draftsman's office, the parlor a tool store house, &c., &c. Method and business are stamped on Mr. Leighton's surroundings, every tool given out is charged to the user, until returned and a system of checks, 200 in number are a modern device to aid the time keeper.

THE SWITCH.

From the main line to the gravel road the switch is graded and fenced and is ready for the ties and the iron. From the road eastward a long and extensive fill is nearing completion and certainly never road bed was made of better material. The cut through the hill is nearly completed and it takes a personal view of the operations to grasp the magnitude of the work being done. Beyond the hill a lengthy cut is completed through the bank of sand which is going to prove a perfect bonanza from its abundance and excellence in the manufacture of building blocks, &c. A little further on low banks of splendid ballast gravel seem to have been placed there in waiting for the works.

In the cut and near it about 20 teams with their complement of shovellers, are fast bringing the grade into view. On the Smith and Lawrence property an extensive fill is completed, or nearly so. At the townline and at the lake gangs are at work, clearing off timber and otherwise making ready and before the snow flies there will be a continuous road bed from the mill to the mill.

BUILDINGS & MACHINERY.

An effort is to be made to have the foundation of all the buildings completed this fall, with possibly two of the buildings erected. Last week the Directors placed orders for about $50,000 worth of machinery, making $100,000 in all, and some of it cannot be ready before spring, iron and steel workers being behind with their work, owing to strikes and commercial activity.

The pile of crushed stone is an enormous one and is ready for building operations. The activity displayed and the work done and to be done shows the result of careful foresight. The number of men employed is over 150 and more will be added. With about 80 teams it can be seen that the wage bill at present amounts to a considerable sum.

Stock selling is still going on with success. One subscriber of $1000 who inspected the situation himself recently intends to take $2500 more. The demand for Portland Cement continues to increase, new uses being continually found for this article of commerce. Mr. McKechnie learned the other day that the foundations of the new million dollar hotel in Toronto are being laid with cement concrete, while cement and not lime is used for the brick work.

The Concert in the Town Hall on the evening of Show Day will be one of the best of its kind. Bennett is a star of the first magnitude. Watch for further announcements and make sure of a seat.

BEEET ROOT SUGAR.

From time to time references and brief extracts have been found in our columns relating to this product but the time has come when a more explicit reference must be made to it, especially when we find that a general awakening is taking place to the importance and the possibility of producing at home what we now send millions of dollars abroad for.

A letter received from Mr. Jos. Snell, Wiarnton, last week speaks proudly of the definite step taken there by which Wiarnton will have the first factory of the kind in Ontario.

Mr. Neil McKechnie, ever on the alert for new industries, has been in communication with the recently organized "Ontario Sugar Co." which has been casting around looking for a favorable location. He has, of course pointed out to the Co. the advantages possessed by Durham: in the midst of a suitable farming district, with fine water, with a possibility of piping the juice from North, South and East by gravitation pressure, with abundance of limestone, or better, marl, necessary it seems for cleansing purposes.

We have before us a letter received by Mr. McKechnie last week from the Secretary of the Ontario Co., stating that his correspondence had been placed before the first meeting of the Provincial Directors and they had instructed him to ask for more definite information as to soil, water, drainage, transportation, cost of lime stone, fuel, &c., and a second set of questions inquiring as to what municipal privileges could be obtained.

Mr. McKechnie went to Owen Sound, Tuesday, to secure information of the tests made some years ago under the encouragement of our County Council. The matter is only in the preliminary stages, education is needed, and we propose to publish from time to time information on the subject.

Mr. Geo. Lamb, of Glascott, will hold a clearing Auction Sale on Thursday, Sept 26 at 12.30 p. m. sharp. For particulars see Posters.
