

IN THE PALM OF THE FAIR

"Only Waiting."
Only waiting till the shadows
Are a little longer grown,
Only waiting till the glimmer
Of the day's last beam is flown;
Till the night of earth is faded
From the heart, once full of day;
Till the stars of heaven are breaking
Through the twilight soft and gray.

Only waiting till the reapers
Have the last sheaf gathered home,
For the summer time is faded,
And the autumn winds have come.
Quickly, reapers, gather quickly
The last ripe hours of my heart,
For the bloom of life is withered
And I hasten to depart.

Only waiting till the angels
Open wide the mystic gate,
At whose feet I long have lingered,
Weary, poor and desolate.
Even now I hear the footsteps
And their voices far away;
If they call me I am waiting,
Only waiting to obey.

Only waiting till the shadows
Are a little longer grown,
Only waiting till the glimmer
Of the day's last beam is flown.
Then from out the gathered darkness
Holy, deathless stars shall rise,
By whose light my soul shall gladly
Tread its pathway to the skies.

CRYING BABIES.

The Cry of an Infant is Nature's Signal of Distress.

Babies never cry unless there is some very good reason for it. The cry of a baby is nature's warning signal that there is something wrong. Every mother ought to get to work immediately to find out what that something wrong may be. If the fretfulness and irritation are not caused by exterior sources, it is conclusive evidence that the crying baby is ill. The only safe and judicious thing to do is to administer Baby's Own Tablets without the slightest delay.

For indigestion, sleeplessness, the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth, diarrhoea, constipation, colic, and simple fevers, these marvellous little tablets have given relief in thousands of cases and saved many precious baby lives. Do not give a child so-called "soothing" medicines; such only stupefy and produce unnatural sleep. Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to contain no opiate or other harmful drugs; they promote sound, healthy sleep because they go directly to the root of baby troubles. Dissolved in water these tablets can be given to the youngest infant. Mrs. Walter Brown, Milby, Que., says: "I have never used any medicine for baby that did me much good as Baby's Own Tablets. I would not be without them."

Baby's Own Tablets are for sale at all drug stores, or will be sent direct on receipt of price (25 cents a box) by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THINGS WOMAN MOST DESIRES.

Marie Corelli Tells the World What These Chiefly Are.

We hear a great deal nowadays of strife and competition between the sexes, but surely there should be no strife between two halves of a perfect whole. Man is king, as woman is queen, and to do good work in the world the two must rule harmoniously together.

One is not greater or less than the other; each has the qualities necessary to make both happy. And men and women are never seen at better advantage than when their

THE DUTY OF TALKING

It is a positive duty on the part of everyone composing a gathering met for the avowed purpose of sociability to talk. There is no heavier despair than that which weighs upon the mind of the hostess when after calling her friends together for a pleasant evening, and having seen them seated comfortably vis-a-vis, it dawns upon her that they are all reluctant to glare at each other in obstinate silence.

A Frying Situation.

Her situation is extremely difficult. It hardly becomes her to do all the talking herself, and yet if she once allows herself to succumb and once permits that deep, dark, ineffable silence to settle down over the company, it is doubtful whether she will be able to rally. It is probable, if she be of the nervous temperament rather than the phlegmatic, that in the effort to avert what she feels to be a dread and imminent catastrophe, her cheeks will flush, her hands tremble, and her utterances wax decidedly flighty. The day after an ordeal of this kind she will be limp, the victim of a double-dyed melancholy.

The Contagion of Terror.

Nothing spreads with such lightning-like rapidity as fear. Shyness, self-consciousness, otherwise fear, manifested by one person, will attach itself to fifty others in the twinkling of an eye. If not swiftly arrested it will speedily develop panic. The quick-witted man or woman who, seeing the approach of the latter, has courage to launch forth an irresistibly funny anecdote or a keen witicism is a benefactor to society, for once united in a hearty laugh each individual will feel ease, temporarily, at any rate, restored.

A Muff Novelty.

And so, if you would be a welcome guest in every drawing-room, remember that a fluent talker is first favorite with every hostess. Talk! Don't mourn because you cannot talk learnedly or wisely. Talk anyhow! Do your part to keep the ball of conversation in motion; when it is tossed to you don't allow it to become epine. Handle it as tactfully and gracefully as may be, and send it along with a good impulse. Talk on any subject within the gigantic range of human interests; all lives are circles, and somewhere or other the arc of yours will be found to touch mine.

The Art of Conversation.

The art of agreeably and tactfully disagreeing with people should be mastered by everyone. If someone says to you, "Horrid, rainy weather, isn't it?" and you reply, "Oh, horrid!" the conversation terminated at that point. "If you say, cheerfully, 'Well, really, do you know, I think it might be worse,' the way is open for further questions and answers. Don't fall to talk, but—
First, don't talk scandal.
Second, don't talk humbug.
Third, don't talk ailments.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

She—So you don't like these Wagner concerts?
He—Well, they have one redeeming feature. They're so loud you can't hear the man next to you whistling his accompaniment.

No degree of knowledge attainable by man is able to set him above the want of hourly assistance—Johnson.

Joax—I suppose if Ireland ever gets Home Rule she will want to annex the United States.
Joax—Well, that wouldn't make much of a change in our rulers.

Next in importance to freedom and justice is popular education, and out of which neither justice nor freedom can be permanently maintained.—Garfield.

Nell—I wonder what the fashion in sleeves will be this winter.
Belle—I don't know, but they're bound to be either too tight or too loose.

He is great who can do what he wishes; he is wise who wishes to do what he can.—Hiland.

Autumn sunsets are most gorgeous. Bits of ever-chasing flame. Is it that the naked branches Make the heavens blush for shame?

SUNDRIDGE ECHO INTERVIEWED HIM

William Doeg, a Farmer of Grey County, Has a Word to Say Regarding Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The Local Paper Publishes a Column About His Case—Worst Form of Rheumatism—Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Proven a Blessing to Him.

Sundridge, Ont., Oct. 7.—(Special.)—The Echo of this place has published a signed statement which cannot fail to interest all who understand the full meaning of the word Rheumatism from personal experience. A representative of that paper interviewed Mr. William Doeg, a well-known farmer of Strong Township, who was cured of Rheumatism by Dodd's Kidney Pills this spring, and he gave out the following statement for publication: "For four years I suffered excruciating torture, during which time I was scarcely an hour free from pain. The trouble commenced in my back, and it soon remained stationary for months, and so intense was the pain that I could not lie down or take rest, but had to sit night and day in a chair. The pain would then remove to other parts of my body, and when in my knees, disabled me from walking, confining me constantly to my room. "I was treated by several doctors and also tried many medicines, without receiving any benefit. At last, in despair I feared to undergo any more of the pleasure of being afflicted from pain. "Early this spring my attention was called to some remarkable cures of Rheumatism effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills. I procured a box, and soon found they were doing me good, so I kept on until now I can say I am a new man, entirely free from pain and have continued so ever since, being able to attend to my daily duties on the farm and feel strong and able to work. I verily believe this great change was effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I think it my duty to make this statement public for the benefit of all afflicted as I was."

To Cure a Hard Corn.

A glycerine poultice softens a hard corn so that it can be peeled off in layers without pain. To apply steep a piece of lime in glycerine, lay it on the corn, put a piece of clean silk over the bandage. If this is put on every night after washing and allowed to remain on till morning, and the corn protected during the day, it will soon be cured.

The Lesson of Health IS ONE TAUGHT US BY THE EXPERIENCE OF OTHERS.

Learn This Lesson Well and the Ravages of Disease Will no Longer be so Prevalent—The Story of One Who Has Been Benefited and Who Offers Her Experience to Aid Others.

From L'Sorelois, Sorel, Que.

Among the multitude of ailments that afflict humanity there are few that cause more acute misery than indigestion or dyspepsia, as it is variously called. Both young and old are susceptible to its attacks, and its victims throughout the country are numbered by tens of thousands. Among the disagreeable symptoms which accompany dyspepsia and make it easily recognizable, are weight, uneasiness and a heavy feeling in the stomach after eating, a feeling of weariness, sick headache, and dizziness, pains in the stomach, offensive breath, irritability, etc. Ordinary medicines will not cure dyspepsia. They may relieve its symptoms temporarily, but the trouble always returns, and each time in an intensified form. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only medicine which will thoroughly and effectively cure dyspepsia. These pills act not merely upon the symptoms, but on the disease itself through the blood, hence through the stomach, which is strengthened and restored to its normal functions.

Mrs. Alp. Lussier, a lady well known in Sorel, Que., is one of the many who have been released from the clutch of dyspepsia through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in the hope that her experience will be of benefit to some other sufferer she gives the following story for publication: "For over two years I was a sufferer from dyspepsia or bad digestion. The disease became chronic and I was an almost continual sufferer from headaches, heartburn and heart palpitation. All sense of taste left me, and at times my stomach was so weak that I was unable to keep any food on it, and this caused me more distress than one could imagine. Although I tried several remedies, none of them gave me any relief, and I began to regard my life as a burden, rather than a joy as it should be. One day while reading I came across a case similar to my own, cured through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so in the hope that I would receive similar benefit I decided to give the pills a trial. I had not taken the pills long before I could see that my hopes for recovery were being realized. By the time I had taken a dozen boxes all the symptoms of the trouble had disappeared and I was able to enjoy life as I did before being seized with the malady. I have no hesitation in saying that I think that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best known cure for dyspepsia, and I would strongly advise all sufferers to give them a trial."

The old adage "experience is the best teacher" might well be applied in cases of dyspepsia, and if sufferers will be guided by the experience of those who have suffered but are now well, and happy through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, there will be less distress through it at the hand. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had at all dealers, or by mail post paid, at 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FARM GARDEN FALL TOPICS OF THE FARM.

Buffalo People Want Our Good Butter.

OUTLOOK FOR HOGS AND SHEEP.

J. T. Beam, of Black Creek, this summer changed his cheese factory to a creamery. "I did this," he said to the Sun, "because of the splendid market for American summer butter in Niagara Falls, Port Erie, and other places near by. I sold my butter to these people retail at 25c to 30c. Yes, if Buffalo market were open, I could find there, but on a much larger scale, just as good a market as I now find in the Canadian towns that profit in summer time by the overflow from Buffalo. Some people in that city would gladly give 40c for really gutted butter they were sure of. The same applies to fruit."

Why Mutton is Cheap.
Erick Bros., of Buffalo, in their circular of the 25th, also refer to the depression in the mutton industry in the United States. The supply of lambs in Chicago has, they say, been enormous, and it is that in Buffalo prices stand held up as well as they have done in the face of such extremely low values in the far West. The outlook, they say, is very uncertain, and they advise buyers to be particularly careful about common thin and lumpy lambs. Notwithstanding this depression, Erick's sold on Wednesday last a load of strictly fat Canada lambs averaging 91 pounds belonging to J. Clancy, of Cargill, at $5.50. They also handled a load of Canada lambs in the same week for George Dorrance, of Seaford, averaging 96 pounds, at $5.50, and a load for Charles Shaffer, of Fordwich, averaging 86 pounds, for $5.40, and a lot for Robert Trench, of Midway, averaging 82 pounds, at $5.35. Erick's hold the interviews given with American Sheep Breeders, given elsewhere, in saying that the high prices of hogs and cattle will help to increase the consumptive demand of sheep and lambs. This should tend to bring prices up later on.

How About Hogs?
And now, how about hogs? An Ottawa dealer, in an interview with the Journalist, expresses the opinion that hogs will be higher rather than lower. He bases this statement on the fact that there is a general scarcity of marketable hogs in this country, while the demand for bacon in England continues active. This opinion is further sustained by a recent cablegram which says that figures recently published show that not only hogs but cattle and sheep as well have declined in England during the past year. This decline in hogs in England follows a decline the year previous. Hogs of the same quality, however, remain at a very high price in the United States, the record price of $7.37 1-2 having been paid as far west as Chicago last week. It really does look like a continuance for some time to come of high prices for the bacon producers.

The scarcity of hogs in the United States is emphasized in a circular of Erick Brothers of Buffalo. According to Erick's, there were not over five hundred strictly good hogs in the market on the day it was issued, and there was not a really fancy load in the lot. As a result of this scarcity of good stock prices there ran up to $7.50 to $7.60.

Better Let the Corn Mature.
American Agriculturist: The claim that early cutting of corn results in a much better fodder is not so easily substantiated. Careful tests show that the digestibility of corn decreases less than any other plant as maturity approaches. While there is more fibre at the advanced stage, the total digestible matter is 25 to 40 per cent. greater than at silking time. While early cut fodder may be a little more palatable and consequently desirable for young stock and animals fed to the limit, the bulk of the fodder crop should be allowed to become fairly well matured before it is cut.

O!
An old soldier who had served his twenty-one years was discharged at Portsmouth. He went to the station with his wife and children and departed three half-fare tickets for his three youngest.

"How old are they?" asked the booking clerk, emphatically.
"Elvin years, all av thim. They're thriplets," was the answer.
"Five youngsters," said the clerk.
"Where were they born?"
"Patrick was born in Calro, Bridget was born in Bombay an' Mickey was born in Madras," was the proud reply.

Blood

We live by our blood, and it. We thrive or starve, our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to be done on or by. When strength is full, spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and mind in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health. When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when sleep is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little excitement in it.

Back of the blood, is the key to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. It sets the whole body going again—man and child.

If you have not tried it, send for free trial. Its agreeable taste will surprise you.

A Lucky Pin Cushion.
A lucky pin cushion is the thing in gifts for a child, says the London Graphic. The pin cushion is heart-shaped, and made of blue silk with a four-leaved clover worked in the centre in a green. The initials of the girl are embroidered on the opposite side. The cushion is edged with a ruche of narrow fine satin rib and wider ribbons, embroidered shamrocks, are used to support from the baby's basket.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by the use of the natural remedial. Deafness is caused by inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is closed you have a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness results, and unless inflammation is taken out and the tube restored to normal condition, hearing will be destroyed. Nine cases out of ten are caused by a cold which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. We will give one Hundred Dollars for the case of Deafness cured by our method, not cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure, circulars, free.
