THE MABEE PAMPHLET.

Our readers by this time will likely have heard of this somewhat famous production, and as it is likely to figure some in the coming campaign we shall give its history. The author is a Canadian, a Conservative and son of a Conservative now living on the Niagara peninsula. The young man resided for some years in the States and took to political pamphlet writing, it is said supplying both sides with campaign matter. It is perfectly certain and is admitted by all that last spring he had conferences with Mr Whitney and other Conservative leaders, that he had in preparation a pamphlet in the Conservative interest, that he even made a tour of part of the province and interviewed about 50 Conservative candidates. This is not denied: the Conservative press print parts of the pamphlet which was never published owing to a quarrel between Mabee and Whitney. The former then turned right about face and wrote and published over his own name, without collusion with Liberal leaders, the pamphlet that has caused the storm. Mabee's ethics will not stand examination, but that is no concern of the Liberal party, he is not their protegee. The Toronto Star puts the whole thing forcibly: "There never was a greater exhibition of nerve than is shown in the attempt to blame the Liberals for bringing Mabee into the political arena. Mr. Whitney took him up, introduced him to his lieutenant, his organizers sent him about the province, then those willing workers quarrelled about something, and Mabee wrote a pamphlet which his late partners claim the Liberals should virtuously refuse to buy and read. Hon. G. W. Ross never met Mabee, never saw him, nor did any other member of the Government. Mr. Whitney and his lieutenants worked with him for a period extending over months. Then they quarrelled and Mabee wrote the Gift pamphlet. No doubt the Conservatives would have been pleased if the Liberals had refused to read it, had refused to buy it, had declined to circulate it. But if a bolting Liberal worker had printed such a pamphlet showing up the alleged interior workings of the Government party, the Conservatives would have spread it over the Province by car loads.

Perhaps Mabee is nothing more than a political "sorehead," and the literary productions of such a man may be of no particular value, but he was introduced into the game by Mr. Whitney and his friends; they took him up, gave him weapons, turned him into the fight, and now complain because he gives them the worst of it. They must do their own grieving."

Mr. John Innes, who for twelve years lived among the miners and ranchers in our own West, and who first studied art in England when a youth, is recognized as Canada's leading exponent of outdoor painting. Mr. J. Innes' two last paintings are his best, two large canvases, portraying typical incidents of our Western life. They are styled, "On the Edge of the Herd" and "The Miner's Farewell." The former is a striking incident of a round-up, a cow-puncher, thrown from his horse, being charged upon by a wild steer, while a fellow cow-boy, racing after, is preparing to throw his lasso. The herd in the background grows restless and threatens to stampede. Behind all rises the snow-capped peaks of the Rockies. As a whole the painting is a masterpiece of coloring, drawing and action.

"The Miner's Farewell" depicts a mounted miner with saddle-bags bulging with gold dust, homeward bound. Far down in the valley he sights his old comrades working at the sluices. A parting wave and cheer is exchanged. The background is a mass of mountain and mist, forest and cloud. The treatment is masterly, bold and true.

The Mail and Empire has secured exact 14-color reproductions of these paintings, 15 x 20 inches in size. Every detail of color and grain is faithfully brought out. They offer free the choice of the two with every year's subscription to the Weekly, or three months' subscription to the Daily. Both pictures are given free if a subscriber sends a year's subscription to the Weekly, in addition to his own, or if he takes the Daily for six months. See our clubbing list.

Mr. Andrew Dunn a former resident of this place and now of Keppel township is here visiting friends.

Mr. Daniel Ferguson of the 15th con. is selling out his farm stock and renting his farm and is going to California with his wife for the good of her health.

Mrs. J. Milner is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr D Allan has been laid up with a sore hand: it appears like blood poisoning, supposed to be got by bad paint while painting the church here. He managed to finish the church and did a good job it is unnecessary to say, satisfying the architect.

The church people here resolved on having a new shed and, employing as framer, George Deans and his men, they turned out and worked through the snow storms and had the frame up and part boarded in so as to be of use at the opening on the 17th.

The church opening was a success. Pastor Kenning had secured three preachers from Toronto, McLeach, Sammon and Chapman. From Egrement, Cedarville and other places come carriage loads filling the church for the three services on Sunday. Collections were taken up at all the services. Dinner was served in the basement free to strangers by the local members. The church was admired by strangers. We understand that there will be revival meetings here for two weeks.

The first sleigh seen on the roads this season was on Sunday when a farmer brought his family to the church here in his sleigh.

WE CURE STRICTURE
Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unconsciously. They may have a smarting sensation, small, twisting stream, sharp cutting pains at times, slight discharge, difficulty in commencing, weak organs, emissions, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you, by cutting, stretching, or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD OF TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue; hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened. The nerves are invigorated, and the bias of manhood returns.
