IMPORTANT DECISION.

The much disputed question as to whether the Provinces have the right to pass prohibitory liquor legislation was decided in the affirmative last week by the Judicial committee of the Privy Council to whom the appeal had been made against the Prohibition Act passed by the Manitoba Legislature.

Manitoba's Act being declared legal the way is apparently cleared for Ontario to take action and the large majority given for Prohibition at the taking of the Plebiscite would warrant action of some kind.

Eleven points were presented for judgment but the noble Lords only gave judgment on one. If this includes all the others the thing is done, if not, there will be other steps taken to defeat the object of the bill.

It we mistake not Hon. G. W. Ross has given pledges similar to that given by Sir Oliver Mowat in by-gone days, that he would enact prohibition when it was settled that the Provinces had the power. If such a pledge has been given there will be an opportunity to carry it out, though without doubt the opposition to such a measure backed by the powerful liquor interest, and the opposition to sumptuary laws held by many who have no interest in liquor, will form a force strong enough to make the struggle interesting for the prohibitionists.

Some profess to doubt that the Plebiscite vote could be repeated now, and to prove it we suggest that at the coming election the question be again submitted as a provincial feeler. It can be done without expense, and if the mandate of the people again supports it, then let the people have their way.

THE LIQUOR LAW DECISION.

As reported, the finding of the Privy Council on the Manitoba prohibition law is as crucial as the circumstances would permit, if not more so. It declares that the legislature has power to pass a liquor law. The decision is absolutely meaningless unless it refers to the act which the court had before it which happens to be entitled 'the Liquor Act.'

It must be confessed that the Privy Council has, in dealing with Canadian constitutional questions, shown a rare ingenuity in answering as little and as indecisively as possible; but we cannot think that when the validity of a given act was submitted to that court it could consider the question judged by merely declaring that the legislature had power to pass a liquor law, or even a law prohibiting the sale of liquor.

The act which was actually before them leaves prohibitionists little to wish for, and if it is valid all other provincial laws will be. The entire sale of liquor for beverage purposes is prohibited. There are only two classes of licenses provided for, a druggist's wholesale license and a druggist's retail license. Only druggists duly qualified and licensed as such, can dispense alcohol, and only on a doctor's prescription for each and every sale.

Liquor cannot even be given in any place whatsoever other than in the private dwelling place of the giver. It can be supplied for churches only to ministers. Record of every sale must be kept open to all. The penalties are exceedingly severe - if enforced practically prohibitive. We await details with much interest. Unless we are entirely mistaken the general principle that provinces can prohibit the sale of liquor is clearly maintained. Such a finding constitutes an era in the constitutional history of the question, and its great news for four or five provinces any way. We await particulars with the greatest interest as the Premier of Ontario, himself a prohibitionist, has declared that if the act is maintained a bill as effective will be passed in Ontario. If he stands boldly and unequivocally by this promise the province will stand by him. - Witness.

SOFT PORK.

Bulletin No. 38 issued by the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, deals with the above subject and is "An investigation into its Character and Causes." Any farmer desiring a copy will likely get it on request by postal card. It seems to us a very valuable bulletin for farmers here and we take space to reproduce the more important inferences drawn from the experiments made. These are: 1.-That all the grain rations employed, that consisting of equal parts of oats, peas and barley gave the firmest pork. It may further be added that the fat was deposited evenly and not too thickly, and that this ration gave a thrifty growth.

2.-That no difference could be observed in the firmness of the pork for the preceding ration whether fed soaked or dry. 3.-That when half the grain ration (as in A and B) consists of corn meal, the resulting pork shows an increased percentage of olein; in other words, a tendency to softness.

4.-That in this ration (half corn meal, half oats, peas and barley in equal parts) the feeding of it boiled gave a slightly higher olein content, but this is only apparent when the average from the four pens is taken in to consideration.

5.-That considering the effect of feeding the ration of oats, peas and barley during the first period (to a live weight of 100 pounds) and corn meal during the first period, compared with the reverse of this plan - that is, corn first, followed with oats, peas and barley - we may conclude that the former gives the firmest pork.

6.-That in both methods mentioned in the preceding paragraph, no marked difference was to be observed from the ration fed dry or previously soaked, though taking an average of the two groups on each ration the 'dry' feed gave a somewhat higher olein content.

7.-That when in ration I and H, corn meal formed half the first period ration, and the whole of the second period ration, the resulting pork was somewhat softer than from that of any of the rations already discussed. We conclude that the longer the period during which the corn is fed as a large proportion of the ration, the softer will be the pork.

8.-That beans produce a soft and inferior pork. The growth of the pigs so fed was poor and miserable and the deposition of the fat meagre. (See illustration.) 9.-That corn meal fed exclusively as the grain ration, either dry or previously soaked, results in an extremely soft fat, the percentage of olein being considerably higher than from any other ration tested. The pork was of an inferior quality. Here also we noted the miserable growth of the animals, the ration in no sense being an economical one.

FRUIT VICTORY FOR ONTARIO.

Toronto, Nov. 11.-The result of the judging in the Horticultural Department at the Pan-American exhibition, which were received by the Department of Agriculture yesterday, constitute a victory for Ontario over all others. No less than twenty gold medals, thirty two silver medals, thirty eight bronze medals and eighty honorable mentions come to Ontario. Some of the notable victories won were gold medals on honey, on general excellence of all the fruit shown; two on cold storage apples of 1900, taken out on Aug. 17, 1901, 97 per cent sound; also silver medal for installation of exhibit, a similar medal being awarded to California. It is notable Florida, California, Delaware and other notable fruit producing states, stand away down the list in their total awards when compared with Ontario.

Live Stock Market Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 22.-At the Western cattle yards to-day we received 68 loads of live stock, including 800 cattle, 1,760 sheep and lambs, 1,150 hogs, and a light run of calves and mitch cows. Butcher cattle and hogs were unchanged and steady; in other respects the market was badly off color. There was scarcely any export trade; there was next to no demand; and the receipts were of poor quality. Prices ranged from 4 to 4 1/2 per pound. A few lots of fairly good butcher cattle sold at from 4 to 4 1/2 per pound, but the trade was weak for all poorer grades. Stockers and feeders were in moderate demand at unaltered prices. Small stuff was it possible worse to-day than yesterday, and it required good ewes or choice lambs to fetch 5c per pound. The market was in all respects one of no importance. Hogs are unchanged and fairly steady. The best price for 'singles' is 5 1/2 per pound; Lick fat and light hogs are worth 5 1/4 per pound. A GREAT DOLLAR'S WORTH.-We have decided to give all paid in advance subscribers to the REVIEW for 1902 a copy of 'The Canadian Annual' a finely illustrated Magazine of 32 pages, written up by such writers as Don and Mack of the Toronto Saturday Night. An advance copy of this Magazine can be seen at our office. We cannot give such a present every year, but we intend to mark the first Christmas of the Century in this way.
