It takes Lock Elvidge's team to get into a good "hidey" place. They moved off from the station Monday last and no small stir had Lock to make e'er he found them. After looking all over town and west into Bentinck he found them in a rough spot north of the factory. Lock them up in tuture.

Sons of Scotland,-At the last regular meeting this body elected its officers for 1902. These are : Chief, Robert Morice ; Chieftain, John Allan ; Marshall, C. McDougall; Standard Bearer, Jno. D. Clark; Secy, Jas. Allan, Fin-Sec and Treas. C. Ramage. Guards Hugh MacKay and John H. Hunter, Past Chief, R. J. S. Dewar. The Camp has decided on having another of its famous concerts about January 25th, of which more later.

PATIENCE PLEASE, PATRONS.-This to the large number who have renewed for the REVIEW during the past 10 days and whose label may not be altered for a week or two. The Annual has gone with every renewal and is giving great satisfaction. We are rushed with job work at present and issuing earlier than usual this week. Next week we will likely be a day later than usual and ask the indulgence of our readers till we get this crush adjusted.

A ROTARY. - The big rotary that came last week on two big flat cars is now unloaded at the grounds and must be placed in position right away to make room for the five others which McGregor who won golden opiniors in ed a call from Holstein and Fairbairn congregation with a fur overcoat as a are expected to follow about one a Durham recently. Gun, Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Nichol, Mrs. Latimer, and Misses Margaret Gun and Maggie Hunter. The entertainment consisted of songs, choruses, etc., by the whole body or part of them and the zeal and excellence of their performance betokened painstaking preparation. A feature of the evening was the presentation of a number of stereopticon views by Mr. C. Ramage, who grve explanatory readings or remarks. Dr. Jamieson, M. P. P., occupied the chair,

SPLENDID LECTURE.-Prof. Alexander, of Toronto University, lectured to a small audience in the Town Hall on Friday eyening on "The Novel. its origin and use." The topic, though having in it nothing yulgarly sensational, in the hands of such a famous lecturer and under the auspices of the Public Library, should have drawn a larger audience, but the abundance of entertainments, school closing exercises, and similar attractions that night and shortly before undoubtedly injured it. He critised several works and described how to know which were and were not novels, using illustrations. The first English novel was Robinson Crusoe written in 1719. We should always read a book a little beyond us, he said, instead of below our mental grasp. Novels should be read in a criticising spirit, not passively. Owing to the large Miss Jean Renwick is invited to contri-

Peace and Good Will

Chrisimas, 1901.

The Christmas season is again with us, redolent of all kindly feelings wher "man to man the warld over" are more of brothers than at any other season. The gain to hnmanity from this widely acknowledged birthday with its message of Peace and Good will finding an echo in so many hearts, is incalculable. This feature of Christianity abone is worth more than all the boasted philanthropy of materialists.

In keeping with the prevailing spirit on this Christmas eve we wish to our thousands of readers, to all our subscribers, those we dun and those we don't, to our patrons in the Advertising and Job work lines, to one and all a

HAPPY CHRISTMAS.

As the Old Year, the first of the 20th century, with all its memories will have died before next issue, and the New Year with all its suggestiveness will have dawned we draw still further from our good feelings by extending to all our friends our best wishes for a
