

BUNESSAN.

Fine weather has appeared once more, and everybody is preparing for seeding.

Miss Maggie McInnis and mother, who have both been ailing for some time past, are on the mend we are glad to say.

Mr. —— McKinnon and sister Kate of Bentinck, visited the McCormick family here one day last week.

Mr Sam McComb is at present laid up with la grip, but hope he will soon be around again.

Few farmers are going into live stock more than Mr William Britton, he having bought three cows in the last three weeks.

Mr John McCoskery wife and family left last week for their home in Stewartown after spending their Easter holidays with Mrs McCoskery's parents here.

Mr Grant McComb was't feeling very well for a day or so last week. We suppose it was a slight attack of the grip.

Mr Thos McComb purchased a fine mare from Mr John Turnball, of Bentinck.

Hampden.

Miss M. Whiteford left Saturday to visit friends in Michigan.

Miss Nichol, teacher here, is spending the holidays at her home in Owen Sound.

K. M. RYAN, Teacher.

At the close of the examination a programme of recitations, songs and choruses rendered by the pupils delighted an audience of interested parents and friends; after which Mr. Barry (chairman) and Mr. McKenna added not a little to the enjoyment of the occasion by a number of comic song selections. Pupils and visitors were then treated to some delicious taffy, for which thanks were due Mrs Quirk.

CREMATION.—We are in receipt of an elegantly gotten up pamphlet entitled "Cremation, its History, Practice and Advantages" issued by the Mount Royal Cemetery Co., Montreal, who have just opened the first "Crematorium" in Canada. There are, it seems 24 such in the States and many in Europe, and this new method of disposing of the dead is rapidly coming into favor. The reparation made with burning our dead will rapidly give way we believe when consideration is given to the matter as one of the necessities of modern sanitation. The funeral procession having reached the building enters a conservatory, from thence passes through an ante room to the crematorium, an elegant room where religious services can be held. This over, the coffin, made of the simplest material, is conveyed in a few seconds to the receiving chamber and placed in the retort, and the operation is not nearly so trying to friends and relatives as that of lowering the coffin into the yawning grave. No one except by agreement is allowed to witness the desecration of the ashes of the relatives the following morning. Surely this passage from putrefaction to purity is to be preferred to the slow and unthinkable processes of the grave.

In several ways the war in South Africa disturbs precedents. In none more than in British efforts to educate Boer children. Think of a nation at war, first gathering in camps to protect and feed them the wives and children of their enemies, then while war is still continuing, involving an enormous variety of the gravest responsibilities and anxieties, this nation makes elaborate efforts to provide the children of its foes not merely with wholesome food for the body, but for the mind. The world's history shows no precedent nor parallel of such a course. And a blind crew of other nations, aided by profiteers at home, stand off and follow about the British manner of conducting the war. — Ottawa Journal.
