

PRICEVILLE.

This week we have to report in a two-fold manner, the one leading in making life joyous and happy, and the other leading to sadness and sorrow, the subjects being a brother and sister, the former married and the latter's husband died 3 days afterwards.

We refer to Mr N McLean's marriage, which will be seen elsewhere, and the death of his sister's husband Mr Alex McPherson on Sunday morning the 6th inst, after an illness of nearly a year's duration with affection of the lungs, at the age of 35 years.

Mr McPherson came to Artermesia with his ather the late Hugh McPherson when a boy of six years of age. He was always an industrious young man, who was never found spending his time in idleness, but always persevering to accomplish the command given "that man must earn his bread with the sweat of his brow", so by careful attention in accumulating plenty for the support of himself and ever faithful partner they were both in comfortable circumstances, but death intervened and now his faithful companion who stood by him during those long months of sickness is left like a vessel without a sail, tossed in loneliness on the ocean of life, for she like many who are similarly afflicted must abandon her comfortable home and return to the home of her childhood again.

Mr McPherson leaves an aged mother, five sisters and one brother, besides his life partner. The funeral will take place on Tuesday the 8th to Priceville cemetery and will be held to rest beside his father and brother who preceded him some years ago. Mr McPherson in religion was a Presbyterian. He was not ignorant of the fact that his long sickness was leading him fast to the grave, consequently he was always looking forward with bright hopes for the future.

Rev Mr Matheson announced that after last Sunday meeting will go in sharp at fifteen minutes to eleven so as to afford him time to teach the Bible Class before going to Swinton Park.

Arch McCraig thrashed his grass seed on Saturday last with John Black's steamer.

Willie Conkey is home from the Soo. Miss Maggie McCannell accompanied her sister Mrs McLean to Stayner.

Francis McLeod, Dan McQueen and family, of Stayner, attended the marriage of Miss McCannell on the 2nd inst.

HYMENEAL.

McLEAN-MCCANNELL.—A happy and pleasing event took place at the residence of Neil McCannell Esq, Glenelg, on Wednesday the 2nd April when his sister Miss Flora McCannell was united in marriage to Mr. Neil McLean, of Highfield, Montana, by the Rev. J. A. Matheson, of Priceville.

The bride was given away by her brother Mr. Neil McCannell at 6 o'clock p.m. The bride's dress was of cream crepe dechene trimmed with tulle and embroidered chiffon and pearl trimming and she carried a shower bouquet of orange blossoms tied with orange ribbon. The bridesmaid Miss Maggie McCannell (the bride's sister) wore white muslin and carried a bouquet of cream roses. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Willie McLeod. The wedding party consisted only of immediate friends. Mrs. Matheson played the wedding march, after which Rev. Mr. Matheson proceeded to make the happy couple one, which he did in as short a time as possible, for these are always trying moments which we all hope they will never have to experience again.

Mr. and Mrs. McLean after bidding farewell to their many friends in this the place of their birth, took their departure via Toronto to visit friends at Stayner and other parts, carrying with them the good wishes of their numerous friends in this part. The presents to the young couple were numerous and costly. The young couple are fine specimens of the human race being both of more than ordinary stature. They left Toronto on Monday the 7th inst for their home in the prairies of Montana.

North Egremont.

The good people of Ebenezer, have at last got in their organ, and a beauty it is. The people of this neighborhood, together with the committee who had the matter in charge, are to be congratulated, and were last Sabbath, by the Rev. Mr. Varley, and others, on the very successful completion of their work gone about in a business like manner. It is satisfaction to know too, that the funds are entirely provided for, with very little of the kick obtaining.

The organ was purchased from the Thomas Manufacturing Co., in Woodstock, through its agent Mr J. Livingstone who gave every satisfaction to the committee.

The pastor expressed his pleasure and felt sure, that, with the good musical talent to be had here, it would give zest and increased interest in the services, not only to himself, but also, the people.

Arriving on the day preceding, and in time for Easter Sunday it was duly installed with appropriate music by the choir, Miss Minnie Hooper presiding at the organ.

Apropos of the occasion it may be said, as this church has risen to a higher level in temporal things, may it continue to rise in spiritual also.

Mr Albert Bell parted with his trotter some time ago, at a particularly good figure, so that now the miniature woodbine, or track, is Ichabod. Now fun for the "boy" (as he calls himself) must be derived from some other source. His successor, not being of that particular bent, evidently prefers "trotters to trotters."

John Jacques has engaged with Mr. John Lawrence sr., for the coming summer, and as both are talkative no word will be got in edgeways in the summer evenings yarns by the accomplished linguists.

The sale last Tuesday at Mr. Wm. Bells passed off very satisfactorily to the one most concerned and very good figures were realized on the articles, with a few exceptions. Had everything been put up, such as oats hay, and some things that were caught in as going altogether too cheap to suit the owner, a sum to the amount of $1000.00 would have been realized.

Mr Jas. Eccles the new lessee of one of the farms was the largest purchaser. With his strong help in his stalwart boys, he may be expected to make things hum round the corners or on the level. Mac thinks and said the blackguards are not all contained in Durham, as several pieces of harness has been swiped while the owner's back was turned. The boys tried good naturedly to take a rise out of the veteran at times in the day, but were met in each case, with one of Mac's choicest, a Roland for an Oliver generally. Contrasts in the sale were plentiful, three sheep at $1 each and one horse at $119.00, six more being required by the owner before passing over with some kind of a halter, a good binder at five, and an old plow for nearly the same. Young cattle are no drug on the market here.

While the prevailing color is about to or has already become green, one of our young men is said to be doing things up brown, and that we may expect a wedding soon. We have no objections to it and are ready to wish him every success whether or not, as he is looked upon as a pretty good boy.

HOPEVILLE

Intended for last week. We give you the news of the week just closed, in daily reports.

Monday the 24th a busy day here. As daylight was coming in D. K. McArthur was hurrying away to catch the train at Dundalk, as he was going to Toronto on business, and Archie McKechnie who has been moving some of his goods for days past made a very busy time, then moving from Castle Pinch to McDonald's block. Mr Archie Ferguson who has been working for Allan, blacksmith, moved to Cedarville where he has rented a shop. Archie was a jolly fellow and a good worker and will be missed here. Again John Ferguson from near Dundalk, moved into the house lately vacated by John McKechnie on the sidelong. A dance at Mr. John Brown's at night, which went off well.

Tuesday 25th, a young man named McGraw came to Ham Allan's to learn the blacksmith trade.

A bee at the McLeach church shingling the shed.

McArthur family here attended the funeral of their friend Peter McArthur in Glenelg near Priceville.

The Local Reform party here held a meeting in the hotel to prepare for the coming campaign. It was not large but representative.

Wednesday 26th, Mr. Kenning returned home from the States after an absence of nearly three months. She looks hale and hearty. The sunny south agrees with her.

Thursday 27th, ploughing was commenced on the Campbell farm north and seeding commenced by J. W. Christie.

Quite a number of our people here went to Toronto, as the fare was cheap, and have not returned home as yet.

A large bell on a high pole on the farm house adjoining the hotel, for years having done good service as a fire alarm bell, dinner bell, and a general call bell, must have had only a certain number of tinkles for it became worn and weary and fell to the ground this day.

Good Friday 28th, our little town was very quiet. On this day about all we saw was some furniture going to the McLeach church, such as table, bookcase for the library etc.

Elder McGregor of the Latter Day Saint's church, who has been staying here with his father-in-law for sometime was to preach his good bye sermon in their church on the 15th, con. that night. Samuel Hennis who has been away at Saint St. Marie for sometime has returned home for a month. He paid our town a visit.

Saturday 29th, our township council held their fourth meeting for the year 1902, here this day and got through in good time. There was a drainage question up for their consideration, and a road grader is talked of.

Lewis Fisher who had a gang of men mazing ship timber on the 8th con. got finished and moved north into Artermesia giving our place a call as they passed through.

Miss Watson of Bruce County is visiting at the Scarlett House.

HENRY'S CORNER. Mr and Mrs W French returned to their home at Elora after spending a week or so with the later's sister, Mrs D Hamilton.

Miss Sarah Mathews came home from the Queen city where she has spent the past 4 or 5 months.

Quite a number of the children around here have been suffering with the mumps but all are getting around again.

Our popular teacher, Mrs Hunter returned to her school duties after spending her Easter holidays at her home in Protton.

Mr Wm Brown and John Henry intend making the spring work lighter as each have purchased new seed drills.

Miss Mary Scott visited Mr and Mrs A Henry on Sunday last.

Mr P Reid has purchased a new buggy. R must intend to do some driving this summer. Look out girls.

Mr and Mrs P Lawrence visited at Mr T Brown's one evening last week. Mr and Mrs W Clark spent Sunday with friends on the 20th.

Rex. vs. McKinnon and the Chronicle.

Editor of Review Dear Sir.—

Permit me briefly to refer to the two column article in last week's Chronicle. The previous letter in the REVIEW must have caused Mr. Irwin considerable annoyance when he considered it necessary to devote so much of the valuable space in his paper to the reply. After referring to my letter of two weeks ago, he starts off by saying that for five years in newspaper work, he has not made the first retraction of a statement he has made in his paper.

Well Mr. Irwin who ever expected you would. I think every citizen and reader of the Chronicle believes that when you make a statement, or misrepresentation either for that matter, that there is conceit, "cheek" and "maliciousness" enough about you to retract whether it is right or wrong. Any one will agree that there is not a man living who does not make mistakes and that it is more manly to retract when the mistake is shown or pointed out than to refuse to do so. But Mr. Irwin and the Chronicle is infallible and above making mistakes. He goes on to say that there is bad blood between McKinnon and me, and that I requested Mr. Carson to lodge the complaint against McKinnon. Another misrepresentation. After the Council gave instructions to see that the By-Law was complied with by all parties the Town solicitor entered into negotiations with the different parties who had infringed the By-Law and the result was that all who were approached in this way either signed agreements or promised to put their buildings in proper shape to meet the requirements of the By-Law with the exception of McKinnon. Everything I believe was done by the Solicitor and different members of the Town Council to induce McKinnon to comply with the By-Law in a reasonable time, but he stubbornly refused, and the result was that the Council instructed the Solicitor to lay a complaint and it was the Solicitor who drew up the information and asked Mr. Carson who was the only Town official that could do so to sign it. Again Mr. Irwin says I refused to allow Mr. Queen to sit on the case. Another misrepresentation.

Mr. Queen appeared the morning of the trial and stated that McKinnon had come to his place and urged him to come up and sit on the case. I told him he might do so if he wished, but that it had a very colorful appearance when a defendant in a case had to urge and bring in a magistrate from a distance to sit in the case. Mr. Queen did then sit on the case but did not offer to take any further part in it and I finally disposed of it myself.

Mr. Irwin goes on to refer to the McKinnon and Staples cases in 1898 and makes several more misrepresentations. As a matter of fact a large number of informations were laid during that year against parties who had infringed the Liquor License Act, but on account of it being immediately after an election and possibly some little excuse could be made for the parties in taking part in the jubilation which followed the election the result was that the hotel keepers were fined the highest amount that could be inflicted, and the other parties were given the lowest possible fine and only 25 cts of costs added to the fine, and also to avoid publicity (because many of the parties were of the most respectable class of citizens) they were allowed to plead guilty and pay their fines without appearing in public court. Among others Staples and McKinnon had informations laid against them and in the one case one of the parties came to me and asked me to put in a plea of guilty, and paid his fine, and in the other case the Inspector was asked to put in a plea of guilty and pay his fine, which was done. The following day a full bench of magistrates consisting of James Edge, H. W. Mockler and myself disposed of a number of cases and among others the convictions signed by the three magistrates and yet Mr. Irwin will tell his readers that the then mayor Calder made the convictions.

After this the malignant spirit is shown in his article towards me when he complains that the law did not saddle me with all the costs in the McKinnon case. I can easily understand, that such a decision by the Higher Court in Toronto would have been very satisfactory to Mr. Irwin and some of his friends who do not hesitate to express a wish at any and all times that I might be put to all the expense and annoyance possible. Then he goes on to refer to the expense of the Town in the case amounting to possibly two hundred dollars and blames me for it. If there is blame anywhere it certainly lies with the defendant in the case as the matter should have been settled without ever coming to court, and I must certainly say that I regret the expenses had to be incurred by either McKinnon or the Town because the same amount of money spent in Town would have been more advantageous for all parties. I venture to say that had I been the defendant in the case Mr. Irwin would have spent whole pages of the Chronicle in showing the injustice of the matter by putting the Town to the expense of defending an appeal.

In concluding his long article he again advises me to give up magistrate business. Well Mr. Irwin perhaps it will be satisfactory to you to know that I am largely complying with that wish because it is not any enviable position to sit on cases and mete out justice without giving offence to one or both parties. It has always been considered the part of the mayor of the Town to dispose of cases which may arise and at present I am sending all the cases that way, although it is a weekly occurrence to be offered one or more cases.

In conclusion Mr. Editor I think all has been said that is necessary to say on my part and I do not intend to appear again unless an exceptional occasion should require it and perhaps very little has been gained by either side going into this matter. I take this view of it that the Town is large enough to hold both Mr. Irwin and myself and also all other parties who may not agree with either of our own legitimate business and spend any little spare time that we have at our disposal for the advancement of the general interests of the Town it will be better than bringing up matters which has passed, and I venture to say that if Mr. Irwin will remember that there is always two sides to every story and give a plain unvarnished statement to his readers rather than color the statement to the disadvantage of the party whom he may not agree with his paper will be considered by the general public as of more value to the Town and community. Again thanking you for space, I am, Yours truly

W. CALDER.
