Yet there are all manner of modes in coats, and one of the prettiest models has two box plaits down the walk correctly is to pattern after back, one down either side of the centre, these attached to an invisible yoke, and lace insertion fuling in the space between. Again the plaits are made wider and trimmed down the centre with lace, which also finishes either side of the front.

The broad collars are usually of lace, lace and tucked batiste combined, or lace with applications of silk or velvet.

For coats, too, there is a silk which tion is taken from a shirt-waist suit resembles canvas in weave, a silk etamine maybe, while for travelling Each of the plaits which extend down and driving very stylish coats are the back also, is stretched three cigarettes has become so enormously made of wool canvas and lined with pongee. These are usually of full stitching being used to border the length and finished with deep collar; and cuffs of white linen embroidered by hand, or inset with embroidery and lace motifs so artistically that they have the appearance of being wrought by hand. Some of these linen collars have Oriental colors worked in with the white, or, possibly, a little black velvet ribbon threaded through the openings.

Beautiful coats are made in the pale fawn colors of cloth, canvas and silk, also of white in the same materials. A white cloth coat of threequarter length in very swell cut with the bias seam at the back and trimmed with wide fancy silk braid, also in white down the fronts and around the cuffs and collar.

Among the wraps you need not be surprised to find something which in shape resembles the old-time dolman forming a loose sort of hood effect, the edge gathered and turned under on the lining all around. This falls a little below the waist line, below which the garment flares, covering the entire gown. Walking Jackets.

The short walking jackets of black taffeta to wear with any skirt are extremely good style, and one little model has the broad Gibson plait in the back, shaping in narrow at the waist line, where it forms a coat-The top of this plait is in groups of tiny tucks, which meet at the belt.

Trade at Toronto has been rather quiet this week owing to the cool spell of weather experienced, the demand for light summer's goods being rather less than looked for on the opening of May. The conditions of trade are healthy and generally satisfactory, being, it is generally in a corner of the city continues felt, in good shape for an expansion in the demand when the retail season gets fairly under way. At Hamilton this week, as reported to Bradstreet's, there has been a good demand for summer goods to sort stocks. A marked improvement in the retail demand is expected with the first appearance of summer weather. Large shipments are being made to the West, where there is an increased demand owing to the large increase in the population reported from many sections If the country, and this market is getting its fair share of the expansion in the trade in that part of the Dominion. Values in wholesale trade continue to be fairly main-

Business at Quebec in general is fully up to the standard for the season. There has been more activity in trade at Winnipeg the past week. There is a good deal of grain moving now and money is being more freely circulated.

At London this week there has been fair movement in jobbing circles. The general prospects for trade are Spring Medicine That is a True Tonic.

Dr. Chase's Nerva Food Builds Blood, Creates Nerve Force, Increases Flesh and Weight, and Makes Weak, Sickly People Strong and Well.

The day of sarsaparillas, sulphur and cream of tartar, and saits as spring medicine has gone by. People are beginning to listen to the advice of their physicians and build up their systems by the use of such preparations as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The strong point in favor of this great food cure is the fact that it actually creates new, rich life-sustaining blood, and builds up the system gradually and naturally. For this reason it is the most satisfactory spring medicine that you can possibly obtain, and its results are permanently beneficial. The tired languid feelings that tell of low vitality and an exhausted condition of the system soon disappear before the vitalizing, upbuilding influence of this great restorative. It conquers disease by filling the system with health, energy and vigor. Mrs. S. Thompson, 240 Munro street, Toronto, Ont., states: I wasvery much run down in health, and whenever I exerted myself more than usual I had severe attacks of plitting headache, and was very nervous, so much so that I could not rest well at nights. After using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I found that my nerves were steadier, I could rest and sleep better than I have for a long time, and was entirely free from headaches. I can speak very highly of this preparation for nervous trouble.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has the endorsement of the best people in the land—physicians and laymen alike. It is bound to benefit any one who uses it, because it is composed of the most potent restoratives of nature. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
