TOWN TOPICS

The Review to January 1 1903, 10 cts. James Ireland is showing a full line of Ladies' Cloth Jackets and Capes. Pure, Fresh, Pleasant to take, Emulsion, 35c a bottle at MacFarlane's Drug Store.

The Ontario Provincial Winter Fair will be held at Guelph on December 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th next.

Ben Nevis Camp meets on Friday evening, Nov. 14. Organizer Nimmo is to be present and a full attendance is requested.

THE PRESENT SEASON.—MacFarlane and Co. take extra space this week to tell of their new stock of books suitable for presents.

The Quarterly Lovefeast and Sacrament Service will be held in the Methodist Church on Sunday morning. Service to commence at 10.15. Conducted by the pastor.

AT DROMORE.—In Russell Hall, Dromore, to-morrow, Friday evening, takes place the concert arranged in aid of the Public Library there. Good talent and popular pieces.

We want good, plump, live young chickens for which we will pay 5c per lb. in trade. Also highest prices paid for dressed poultry of all kinds.

J. H. BROWN, Holstein.

New worsted Suitings—good weights, newest colorings—price $15 and $16.00 a suit.—at James Ireland's MUSIC.—Miss King, of Mt. Forest, will be in Durham every week and is prepared to give private lessons in voice culture. Enquiries as to terms, hours, &c., may be made at Mr. Jas. Carson's.

FARM FOR SALE.—Containing 100 acres Lots 45&46, 1st Con., N. D. R. Gjeneig, one mile west of Pricville. The farm is well watered, 75 acres under cultivation, with good buildings. For particulars, apply to Peter McKechnie, Newville, N. Dakota, U. S.

An interesting part of the morning service in the Methodist church last Sunday was the public reception given to some sixty persons, worthy young men and young women, who as a result of the meetings conducted by the Monkman bros, decided to begin the Christian life.

DURHAM BOY A U. S. SENATOR.—We were pleased to hear that Mr. Alex. Moody, formerly of Durham and a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johnston of town, was elected to the Senate by a large majority at the elections held last week. He is a Republican and consequently is in with the ruling party. Our congratulations.

THE DOMINION PRESBYTERIAN.—Rev. J. J. Hastie, of Belgrave, acceptably occupied the pulpit of Seaforth Church, on the 19th inst. The Expositor says: "Mr. Hastie is an excellent practical preacher, and the Belgrave people are fortunate in having so able a man as their pastor." Mr. Hastie is a brother of Mr. Walter Hastie, Dromore.

PROHIBITION MEETINGS.—At Hutton Hill on Friday night a small company assembled to listen to Rev. Mr. Farquharson, who was the only speaker present. The same gentleman and Rev. Mr. Smith spoke to about 40 at the Grange Hall Monday night and to-night, Wednesday, are at Zion. Both speakers present the case in an eminently fair light we believe.

The O. Sound Times in an article on Sunday work in Cement Manufacture says: "There are eight cement works in Ontario, and all run on Sunday except two. One of the latter is the Grey and Bruce Cement Company of which the president is Mr. Jas. McLauchlan, who refused to take that position unless the works were closed down on Sunday. A despatch from the head quarters of the Lord's Day Alliance is authority for the statement that the Alliance is taking proceedings against the Sabbath breaking cement companies.

GAS AND OIL.—As an inducement to investors to subscribe now for stock in the Durham Natural Gas & Oil Company, Limited, the Company proposes that in case the venture proves successful that present subscribers shall have the first option of purchasing the balance of the stock pro rata, at par. From the numerous experts' opinions which have been obtained there seems to be no doubt of the existence of both Gas and Oil at Durham. Persons wishing to subscribe may do so at the office of the President Mr. John McKechnie, or at the Standard Bank, or at the office of the Secretary W. S. Davidson. Prospectuses of the Company may also be had from the same parties.

BEFORE POLICE MAGISTRATE RYAN. Sunday Labor Cases Tried.

Tuesday at 10 a. m. Police Magistrate W. H. Ryan, of Ayton, associated with Magistrate J. W. Crawford, Durham, formed a court to try certain offenders against the Lord's Day Act.

The information had been laid by the Secy of the Lord's Day Alliance and summonses issued in due form on 12 parties. The first called was Jas. A. Marrs who had received personal service. He did not appear, and a warrant was issued. Robert Noble had been served at residence, and no appearing similar steps were taken. Wm Fleming, Walter Middleton, Henry Warner, Robert Atcheson, Wm Hall, Wm W. Whitechurch had all been served personally but did not appear and warrants were issued for each of them.

At this stage Robert Noble appeared and explained that owing to misapprehension he thought the hour was two p. m. Wishing to appear by counsel his explanation was accepted and warrants cancelled. Their worship then announced that the case would go on at 2 p. m. and adjourned.

At 2 p. m. the lower Hall was crowded to uncomfortableness, with people from town and country and the trial began. Crown Attorney Armstrong, secutor, and Kingston, K. C., of Mt. Forest, with Mr. D'unn, of the new firm MacKay & Dunn were associated as defendant's counsel. On behalf of the defendants the plea of "not guilty" was entered, and agreement made that the evidence in one case should be taken in all. Barrister W. S. Davidson clicked off the evidence on the type writer all the weary afternoon.

Robert Noble was first called and sworn and was questioned by both sides. His evidence showed as did much of the subsequent evidence that a cabin, 28 feet square, was being built over the chief machinery of the dredge. He admitted, as did all, the work, admitted receiving pay, but not double pay, all pictured the lake as a secluded spot, but Noble admitted to Mr. Kingston that quite a number were present on Oct. 26, the Sunday in question, was told by Warner, the foreman, to come, who in turn had got orders from Farr, the superintendent of the works, was not told he was dismissed if he did not work, did not know if cornice was put on that day.

Foreman Warner admitted "ordering" the 6 men to work on Sunday. Supt. Farr ordered him to get all the men he could, gave instructions Saturday morning. Mr. Farr's words were "Mr. Warner, seeing our machinery is out there and had weather coming I would like it enclosed as soon as you can." Mr. Warner described several of the machines uncovered.

John Pollock was called and sworn. To Mr. Armstrong: was asked on Saturday to work Oct. 26, not go back Sunday, worked one hour but was told he was not wanted. Defendant's counsel raised objections to evidence of this witness, and after some cross firing

W. B. Bogardis, chief engineer, was called and sworn, he gave expert and elaborate evidence as to the size of the dredge, of the intricate machinery of the wooden friction parts especially, the warping of which by exposure had to be sent to Toronto to be "re-machined" and the hurry to have the cabin finished by their return. Mr. Farr controlled plant in operation, received general details from me, therefore has power to give orders, hence his orders are the company's orders.

The County Attorney here objected to evidence witness was not personally cognizant of. To Mr. Crawford witness admitted he did not know how long clutches were there before being sent to Toronto. To Mr. Ryan: It required for return of clutches on Tuesday as they expected [they did not reach the lake until Thursday] machinery lay on bank uncovered for some time. Men were requested not ordered to go back, no man was discharged because he did not work on Sunday. To Mr. Armstrong: did not think clutches were boxed when they arrived but was not sure. To Mr. Kingston: got reports from subordinates in regular way.

Mr. Dee, agent of the Polson Works, who installed the machinery, was next called and to Mr. Kingston testified to his familiarity with machinery, clutches etc., roof could not be put on before machinery was installed, were ready to operate Tuesday if clutches had been tried on till Saturday, then told Mr. Farr to send to Toronto, urged Mr. Farr to have machinery closed in as soon as possible, or he would not be answerable for consequences.

To Mr. Armstrong: was the business of his firm to make machinery works, frictions were boxed at works in special weather-proof boxes, yet were warned when tried. To Mr. Ryan: frictions and clutches were not covered on the 25th.

Mr. Farr, Superintendent of Works, next took the stand, had seen dredge machinery tested and saw defective elements, caused by "exposure to the elements," gave orders to Warner to get all the carpenters he could to work on Sunday, 26th, did this for two reasons, (1) To protect vital parts, (2) To protect pipes attached to boilers and engines from being frozen, thought it necessary to work on Sunday.

To Mr. Armstrong: Mr. Farr stoutly refused a "yes" or "no" as to whether the machinery was defective, it was simply due to "exposure to the elements," considered one day's delay was injurious and sufficient to make it a work of necessity. To Mr. Duan: If the clutches had been there Sunday they would have been injured by the rain of that evening. Mr. Fleming, engineer of the dredge testified: The pipes were injured the Thursday previous by frost, told Mr. Farr Saturday p. m. that housing was necessary, had charge of steam pipes and steam machinery on Sunday 26th. The foregoing is a fair epitome of the evidence, there was occasional disparity as to the extent of the roof and sides remaining uncovered on Saturday night.

After much learned discussion as to what constituted "necessity," the bench decided there was a case. Being a first offence police magistrate Ryan saw grounds for leniency, Mr. Crawford thought similarly and would treat all alike. Mr. Ryan, a superior magistrate opposed this, and foreman Warner was mulcted in a fine of $2 and costs, the others $1 and costs, or alternative of 1 month in goal, and so the case stands.

Some amusement was caused by defendant's counsel naming a fine of only $5 each, thinking Mr. Ryan had a much higher sum in view. But Mr. Ryan, dealing with workmen, on a first offence was satisfied as above stated.

The law has been vindicated and convictions for a second offence will likely carry a heavier penalty.

Address and Presentation.

Last Friday evening the members and friends of the Union S. School at Edge Hill, of which Mr. Thos. Banks has long been the moving spirit, met at the Grange Hall and presented Mr. Banks with the following address, a handsome writing desk, and other articles. Mr. Banks' labors and interest amongst the young have been most creditable, and we are pleased to see him appreciated:

Mr. Thos. Banks.—

It is with sorrow and regret that we learn of your intention of leaving our community, as your departure will deprive us of a kind friend, and obliging neighbor, as well as an efficient superintendent. We are fully aware of the effort and trouble that is necessary to be put forward in order to present the work as you have done. We recognize the zeal and devotion on your part that have prompted your course during the several years that you have been superintendent of our Sunday-school. If it to your great credit that you have filled the position with honor to yourself and efficiency to your pupils. Perhaps you may not notice any fruit of your labor at the present time, but it will be as "bread cast upon the water which will return after many days."

A slight mark of the respect and esteem in which you are held by your pupils, we would ask you to accept these tokens of our good will. In severing our relation of teacher and pupils, we trust that in whatever sphere of life your lot is cast, both Mrs. Banks and yourself will meet with good health, prosperity and happiness. Signed on behalf of the Edge Hill Sunday-school W. J. Ritchie, Amy I. Elge, Grace Greenwood, Tena Firth, Maggie I. Ector, Annie Greenwood, Maria Ritchie.
